JUNK MAIL: Predict Few Changes in Volume

By JON POWERS

With the volume of third class mail increasing by almost four per cent each year, local homeowners can look forward to a mailbox full of advertising circulars in the years to come.

Only a drastic change in the present third class mailing policies will reduce the flood of "junk mail," but a majority of postmasters and post office officials predict there will be no changes made. Many officials have, in addition, expressed satisfaction with the present system and feel that, "The federal office is doing the right thing."

Kingston Postmaster Oscar Newkirk is one of those who feel that the present policies are justified. He stated that the advertising circulars are a "means of disseminating news to postal patrons as to what a company has to sell." Newkirk echoed the beliefs of several other Postmasters who felt that "Circulars sent as third class mail are a legitimate means of advertising. They are essential if a company is to operate at a profit."

Some Disagreements

Other persons, however, disagree. Many homeowners feel that the "junk mail" is an unnecessary nuisance, and they advocate eliminating it altogether. But there seems to be little possibility of this ever occurring. Commenting on the total elimination of third class mail, Newkirk said, "If the services were discontinued completely, transportation employes, ad writers, printers, and mail handlers would lose their jobs. The solution is just not practical."

While a reduction in the volume of third class mail seems unlikely there can be little doubt that the volume will continue to increase. But there seems to be little concern on the part of many postmasters. In the Kingston Post Office, on a busy day, third class mail comprises close to 40 per cent of the mail handled, but the time required to cancel and distribute this mail is the same as for an equal amount of first class mail. The reason, according to Newkirk, is that, "The third class mail is shipped to the local offices in bundles. Instead of cancelling and distributing every piece, we merely cancel each bundle."

The belief that, if the volume of third class mail continues to increase the postal employes will be overworked, is also, according to the Kingston Postmaster, untrue. "If all the mail was doubled," stated Newkirk, "the number of employes would also have to be doubled. Each man works only an eight hour day. They wouldn't have to do more than they could handle." Prior to Thursday's Congressional decision to exempt the Post Office Department from the government manpower cutbacks, the problem would have been serious. Now, local and federal Post Office officials are not concerned.

Many Look Forward

There are, surprisingly, many persons who agree that there should be no changes made in the third class mailing policies. Many persons look forward to receiving news about upcoming sales and bargains and the opportunity to save by redeeming the coupons that accompany many of the circulars. Even though a majority of the homeowners regard the "junk mail" as an unnecessary nuisance, the Post Office must accomodate those persons who wish to receive this service. According to Postmaster Newkirk, "Certain people like the circulars and others don't. Either party can do what they please with them." He emphasized that, "Only two parties have control over the mail; the sender and the addressee. Our responsibility is to deliver the mail as directed."

Other solutions that have been proposed to remedy the problem also show little hope of being initiated. The proposal that patrons submit their names to the local Post Office if they want to receive the advertising circulars will, according to Newkirk, mean more work for the local Post Office. "Instead of sending the mail out in bundles, we would have to separate and distribute it according to individual patrons," said Newkirk.

Since 1962, the rates for both first and third class mail have been increased by 45 per cent. In 1969, the mailing rates for third class mail will increase from 3.6 cents to 4.0 cents per item, but the apparent objective is only to gain a minimum of profit to compensate for the increase in volume. And the rates are expected to remain lower than those for first class items because the work required is, by comparison, not as great.

What the future will bring, then, is simply more and more junk mail. Whether or not a change in the Post Office Department's third class mailing policies will be undertaken is, at this time, doubtful. But there can be no doubt that the unending barrage of "Bargain Basement Dailies" will continue to give many homeowners and letter carriers a king-sized headache. There appears to be no relief in sight.

See Nixon Short on 1st Ballot

STRAIGHT AND NARROW—Showing her true colors, pretty Chrissy Miller, 6, sports a Republican dress as she walks a straight and narrow path during a visit to the Miami Beach Convention Hall where the GOP National Convention will be held. The main convention hall area, looking much like a massive television studio, is a beehive of activity as workmen rush to complete the construction. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon's hopes for a first ballot victory at next week's Republican National Convention appear to depend on some 200 uncommitted delegates, three large "favorite son" states and his ability to hold Southern delegates.

These three factors appeared in an updated Associated Press tally of likely first ballot strength, based on primary results, pledges and firm statements in response to AP polls, which showed Nixon with 547 votes—120 below the 667 needed for the GOP presidential nomination.

Nixon remained well ahead of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, New York, who has 208 and Gov. Ronald Reagan, California, who has 157. Other favorite sons total 264 votes, while 207 are uncommitted. In the past five days, Nixon has gained five, Rockefeller six and Reagan three.

Caucuses are planned by many delegations Monday, including Michigan, Ohio and Maryland, where 125 votes are currently ticketed for Govs. George Romney, James A. Rhodes and Spiro T. Agnew.

The 102-member platform committee met in the early morning on domestic issues, achieving a large measure of agreement. But formal discussion of the sticky Southeast Asia war issue was still hours away and prospects of finishing the campaign document today dimmed.

The main sticking point apparently is a draft phrase that

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller is backed, 4-1, by area Republicans and the district's two delegates to the GOP National Convention, Ben Slutsky of Ellenville and Greene County Chairman Neal Brandow are prepared to stay solidly behind Rockefeller in his bid for the presidential nomination.

"any negotiated peace will be unacceptable unless it assures the Vietnamese a full opportunity for self-determination."

Critics want the GOP to endorse freer scope for peace negotiations—but without abandoning a commitment to self-determination in Vietnam.

Some also object to treatment of Vietnam exclusively in the military section of the platform. They think it should be handled under foreign relations, a position that would give more emphasis to negotiations and to political aspects of a solution.

However, Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York apparently was not picking up much support for his earlier statement that the party should commit itself to seeking peace at the earliest possible time and that the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong, must at some point be brought into the negotiations.

The marathon session that continued after midnight produced some wrangles and parliamentary skirmishes, especially toward the end. But it achieved considerable agreement on a number of domestic issues among Republicans of widely varying social outlook.

The spirit of accomodation contrasted sharply with the 1964 campaign procedings, when clashes over civil rights and extremism tore deep rents in the party.

The dispute on a crime plank was contained, sources said, by giving each side a say. The draft plank calls for vigilant enforcement and declares that individuals, not just society, are accountable for their actions. But it also demands a relentless attack on social and economic conditions that foster crime.

Ray Cuts City Hall Estimate

By HUGH REYNOLDS

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan today dropped his estimates of the cost of a new city hall to below a million dollars by eliminating a 2,543 square foot section originally planned for Civil Defense facilities.

The new estimate is now $925,290 as compared to $1,093,000. The square footage of the latest city hall plan is 34,270. Original plans by architect Albert E. Milliken called for 36,813 square feet of space.

Garraghan, who is currently vacationing in Cape Cod, Mass., said he was opposed to a public referendum on the city hall issue. The mayor wants to build the city hall in Broadway East, north of Meadow Street along Broadway.

Garraghan, stating that the city hall would be financed with a 30-year bond, said a goodly part of the people now voting on a public referendum would neither be affected cost-wise nor would they see the purpose of building a new city hall.

The mayor went on to point out that the city owes $524,000 as its part of urban renewal and the building of the city hall Downtown would reduce this by some $250,000.

Speaking of urban renewal he said he feels the beginning of the end of the problems Downtown is at hand and a city hall in Broadway East would give the whole project "a shot in the arm."

Garraghan added that the city should be in excellent financial shape in fiscal 1969 and expects to enact a sizeable tax rate reduction if the county's tax levy on the city is nominal.

The city hall issue will come before the Common Council at its monthly meeting Tuesday night in the form of two resolutions. One calls for the hiring of Milliken as the architect for the hall, the other for contracting with the urban renewal agency to purchase 3.25 acres of land for approximately $25,000.

The resolutions are jointly sponsored by the City Hall Committee, chaired by Joseph Epstein (D-Sixth Ward) and the Finance, Ways and Means Committee, chaired by Peter Mancuso (D-Eighth Ward).

Thousands Flee Manila, Quake Toll Rises to 133

MANILA (UPI)—A strong new tremor shook Manila today, sending thousands of persons fleeing into the streets. It was the 18th aftershock of the Philippines' deadly "Black Friday" earthquake.

The death toll throughout the Philippines from the Friday quake stood at 133 with most of the bodies taken from a collapsed apartment house in Manila's old Santa Cruz section.

Police Chief Enrique Morales said "close to 300 persons" were still trapped beneath tons of rubble of the five-story apartment house.

"Time is of the essence" in getting those trapped out, Morales said.

Most of the dead were in the Manila apartment house but the toll included six others of the Manila area and four in the provinces. All were Filipinos or Chinese.

Nearly 3,000 rescue workers used jack hammers, torches, cranes and bare hands to try to reach victims still trapped under the twisted steel and splintered wood.

Morales said interviews with survivors indicated about 650 persons were in the apartment building when it pitched forward and collapsed in the first of the series of quakes. He said perhaps 20 or 30 persons scrambled to safety immediately.

He said another 334 were accounted for "leaving close to 300 still trapped."

A cheer went up from the army of workers each time a victim was uncovered still alive. But later, the deaths began to outnumber the survivors and the rescuers grew morose, their chatter subsiding.

Brig. Gen. Gaudencio Tobias, the former Vietnam commander of Philippine troops, headed the rescue operations. He said he hoped to uncover all survivors within 72 hours.

"This is more tragic than anything in Vietnam because it is peacetime," he said.

Mayor Antonio Villegas ordered an investigation to determine whether the apartment building, only three years old, had been erected with faulty materials. Justice Secretary Claudio Teehankee said, "There are indications of

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Dr. James H. Teeter, surgeon in the Waynesboro Hospital, Waynesboro, Pa., has extended his dedication and unselfish service to people around the world through his yearly "vacation."

Each year at vacation time Dr. Teeter, his wife and three sons pack up and go to some remote and often primitive hospital to take over surgical duties there, so resident doctors can have a month's vacation.

This is his sixth year of such service at his own expense and without pay. The first two years they were at an Ivory coast jungle medical center. Next they were in West Pakistan, then Kenya and last year, Peru. This summer finds the Teeters in Taiwan for a month at a Mennonite Christian hospital.

The program of supplying substitute surgeons for mission hospitals in many parts of the world is under the supervision of the Christian Medical Society, headquartered in Chicago. There are about 100 American doctors participating.

For Dr. and Mrs. Teeter, a registered nurse who helps her husband, there are many rewards: getting to know and understand the many different peoples they meet; the joy of serving; and the fact that they, like many others, know that to serve God is to serve man.

Moslem Meal: 46 Are Dead

NEW DELHI (AP) — Forty-six persons—including 41 children—died Thursday night and 73 others were in critical condition following a community meal at a Moslem religious festival in eastern India.

Food poisoning was suspected. Samples of the food served were being analyzed, and police were questioning one of the cooks and several other persons.

Returns From Lutheran Meet

George Weis of Tillson, Lutheran Hour chairman of the Mid Atlantic District, Lutheran Laymen's League, was among 1,600 persons attending a three day league convention at Calgary, Alberta, Canada.

The Lutheran Laymen's League is the lay auxiliary organization of the Lutheran Church Missouri Synod. Its radio program, the Lutheran Hour is heard throughout the world in more than 26 languages.

MOTH CROSS — Little Colleen Cahill of Harrisburg, Pa., gets a real close view of controversial gypsy moth. After two days of public hearings and two more to come by a special Senate committee trying to find out whether to spray or not to spray to hold the line of defense against the moth, the Commonwealth is portrayed as a power-mad agency in league with chemical companies. Summer Pastor Named At Ponckhockie Church

The Ponckhockie Congregational Church, 93 Abruyn Street has invited the Rev. Donald B. Howard of Athens, Congregational clergyman of the Hudson Mohawk Association with which Union Church is also affiliated, to fill its pulpit on August vacation Sundays at 10 a. m.

Although his Aug. 4 sermon, "Listendom," will mark his initial preaching in Kingston, mid-Hudson people have heard him sing with Percy Gazlay III, John McCullough, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Souers, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Sparks, and Charles Talleur in Catskill Glee Club November concerts at Rondout Presbyterian Church and with WGHQ Choir of the Air.

Graduate of Harvard College and Boston University School of Theology, the Rev. Mr. Howard was ordained in 1934. He held pastorates in Michigan, Massachusetts, Vermont, and New Hampshire before two in New York State. He has supplied dozens of pulpits, including those of Greenville Presbyterian Church, 1963-67, Medway Christian Church in 1967, and the new Founders Congregational church of Harwinton, Conn., this winter and spring.

The Albany College of St. Rose conferred an MA in English and American literature on Rev. Mr. Howard in 1966.

He teaches high school English at the state Vocational Institution in West Coxsackie. As summer hometown beautification supervisor of the State Division for Youth in its Catskill, Taconic, New York City, and Long Island areas, in July he inspected Kingston, Ulster and Saugerties projects.

Ponckhockie Church will have a guest musician Sunday.

Many Entries In Dog Show

The second of a series of five Ken-L-Ration Kid's dog Shows, co-sponsored by the Kingston Recreational Department, was held on Thursday afternoon. Nineteen dogs were entered in the contest which attracted many children and 150 adults.

First place for best costumed dog in the show went to Betty Flynn's Beau, with first spot for best trick dog went to Chris Schline's Susan. Marilyn Colavechio's 3½ lb. Chihuaua took first as smallest dog in the show, while Terri Perry's 200-lb. great dane, Viking won highest honors as the largest dog in the contest. First prize for best groomed dog went to Donald Yonta's Spot. Deborah Perry's Viking won first place as best dog of the show.

Mormon Church Pageant Ends; 71,000 Attend

PALMYRA, N.Y. (AP) — More than 71,000 persons from around the world have attended "America's Witness for Christ" the 31st annual Hill Cumorah Pagaent of the Mormon Church being held here.

Mrs. Norman Harris of this Finger Lakes community, housing director for the pagaent, estimated that by the end of the week accommodations for more than 2,000 visitors would be made in private homes in the area.

She said guests from Europe, Asia and Hawaii, as well as every state in the union had seen one of the first five performances by a 450-member cast.

Friday night an audience of 20,000 gathered at the base of steep Hill Cumorah to watch the history of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints portrayed in drama and music.

The drama's action shifts from state to stage—30 large and small stages in all—along the hillside with colored lights and translucent curtains of water adding to the dramatic impact.

Watching from their automobiles or from chairs they brought, the audience saw in the warm night the story of an ancient people who fled Jerusalem and established a civilization in the New World, which flourished and declined as they obeyed or denied God.

The hisotry of those ancient people and the migration of a small band of their survivors to Hill Cumorah is contained in the "Book of Mormon," scripture for the members of the Latter-day Saints Church.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Dr. James H. Teeter, surgeon in the Waynesboro Hospital, Waynesboro, Pa., has extended his dedication and unselfish service to people around the world through his yearly "vacation."

Each year at vacation time Dr. Teeter, his wife and three sons pack up and go to some remote and often primitive hospital to take over surgical duties there, so resident doctors can have a month's vacation.

This is his sixth year of such service at his own expense and without pay. The first two years they were at an Ivory coast jungle medical center. Next they were in West Pakistan, then Kenya and last year, Peru. This summer finds the Teeters in Taiwan for a month at a Mennonite Christian hospital.

The program of supplying substitute surgeons for mission hospitals in many parts of the world is under the supervision of the Christian Medical Society, headquartered in Chicago. There are about 100 American doctors participating.

For Dr. and Mrs. Teeter, a registered nurse who helps her husband, there are many rewards: getting to know and understand the many different peoples they meet; the joy of serving; and the fact that they, like many others, know that to serve God is to serve man.

Summer Pastor Named At Ponckhockie Church

The Ponckhockie Congregational Church, 93 Abruyn Street has invited the Rev. Donald B. Howard of Athens, Congregational clergyman of the Hudson Mohawk Association with which Union Church is also affiliated, to fill its pulpit on August vacation Sundays at 10 a. m.

Although his Aug. 4 sermon, "Listendom," will mark his initial preaching in Kingston, mid-Hudson people have heard him sing with Percy Gazlay III, John McCullough, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Souers, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Sparks, and Charles Talleur in Catskill Glee Club November concerts at Rondout Presbyterian Church and with WGHQ Choir of the Air.

Graduate of Harvard College and Boston University School of Theology, the Rev. Mr. Howard was ordained in 1934. He held pastorates in Michigan, Massachusetts, Vermont, and New Hampshire before two in New York State. He has supplied dozens of pulpits, including those of Greenville Presbyterian Church, 1963-67, Medway Christian Church in 1967, and the new Founders Congregational church of Harwinton, Conn., this winter and spring.

The Albany College of St. Rose conferred an MA in English and American literature on Rev. Mr. Howard in 1966.

He teaches high school English at the state Vocational Institution in West Coxsackie. As summer hometown beautification supervisor of the State Division for Youth in its Catskill, Taconic, New York City, and Long Island areas, in July he inspected Kingston, Ulster and Saugerties projects.

Ponckhockie Church will have a guest musician Sunday.

Chihuaua took first as smallest dog in the show, while Terri Perry's 200-lb. great dane, Viking won highest honors as the largest dog in the contest. First prize for best groomed dog went to Donald Yonta's Spot. Deborah Perry's Viking won first place as best dog of the show.

Mormon Church Pageant Ends; 71,000 Attend

PALMYRA, N.Y. (AP) — More than 71,000 persons from around the world have attended "America's Witness for Christ" the 31st annual Hill Cumorah Pagaent of the Mormon Church being held here.

Mrs. Norman Harris of this Finger Lakes community, housing director for the pagaent, estimated that by the end of the week accommodations for more than 2,000 visitors would be made in private homes in the area.

She said guests from Europe, Asia and Hawaii, as well as every state in the union had seen one of the first five performances by a 450-member cast.

Friday night an audience of 20,000 gathered at the base of steep Hill Cumorah to watch the history of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints portrayed in drama and music.

The drama's action shifts from state to stage—30 large and small stages in all—along the hillside with colored lights and translucent curtains of water adding to the dramatic impact.

Watching from their automobiles or from chairs they brought, the audience saw in the warm night the story of an ancient people who fled Jerusalem and established a civilization in the New World, which flourished and declined as they obeyed or denied God.

The hisotry of those ancient people and the migration of a small band of their survivors to Hill Cumorah is contained in the "Book of Mormon," scripture for the members of the Latter-day Saints Church.

On June 15, 1968, Wes Montgomery died in his Indianapolis home of a heart attack. The jazz guitarist was 45 years old. As far as recognition goes, Wes was at the peak of his career, having topped jazz-recording sales last year, and having won the Downbeat Magazine Poll vote for best jazz guitarist for 1968. Musically, however, Wes felt he was "over the hill," and had reached his peak 20 years ago, before many of his fans were born.

To these young fans, Wes Montgomery's music is typified by last year's hit, "Windy." Soft, soothing, well produced, too slow to do the Funky Broadway to, but just about right for relaxing at the chessboard with a cup of scalding espresso. But this music was what accident, recording producers, and slowing reflexes had (to Wes, at least) reduced his music to. For the music he loved to play was the fast and frantic downbeat that he and his trio could rock the 440 Club in Indianapolis with, sending the chicks shrieking and jiving, in the days before fame—When he was young.

Unplanned

Wes never even planned to be a guitarist. But one day the music of the jazz guitarist Charlie Christian "burned his ear," and that night 19-year old Wes came home to his bride, Serene, with a $300 guitar he had spent every cent of their money for. Wes couldn't read music, and he never learned to, but he did learn to play Charlie Christian's guitar solos by ear. The investment he had made in that axe, and his bride's doubtful eyes were a powerful incentive!

Here, accident first altered his budding career. When the neighbors complained about his constant practising, Wes discarded his pick and began strumming with his thumb to soften the sound. While he later regretted forming the habit, he never broke it, and the unique style gave his music the soft, molasses tone so admired by his fans.

Toured With Hamp

In the late 1940's he toured with Lionel Hampton, but by 1950 Wes had a growing family, so he settled down in Indianapolis to be with them, and to do some local playing with his trio which included his two brothers—Monk on the piano, and Buddy on bass. Recordings he made on the Riverside label led to some fame in 1959, so he and his trio did some touring in the early 1960's. This led to a contract with Verve Records in 1963.

It was at Verve that Creed Taylor, who was producing his records, urged Wes to cut one backed by a "big band." Wes always felt "drowned" recording with a large backing, and because he was unable to read music, he would become tense and afraid of making mistakes. Ironically, this was the sound that won him his rep.

Wes Montgomery felt the days of his greatness were behind him. To him, greatness was the music pouring out between his thumb and the strings, not the money and the awards. Yet he was not bitter. Those who knew him said he was a happy man. He'd been on tour with a quintet, including his brothers. He was home, resting. And then his heart stopped. . . .

He leaves behind his brothers. His wife Serene. Two sons, five daughters, many in their teens. And a legacy of records that insures the immortality of Wes Montgomery, and his special sort of music.

Teens Little Theater Dream of KHS Junior

A summer experience in an arts workshop has inspired a Kingston High School junior to start a theater group of her own right here.

Rita Mary Senor of 616 Kiersted Avenue has just returned from 10 days at the World of Arts national workshop, Pleasantville, where she got to meet leading theatrical personalities, attended exciting performances and indulging in a little playwrighting of her own.

Specializing in the dramatic arts phase of the workshop, Miss Senor was chosen for participation by her interest in the theater and her desire to use it in community work.

She plans to start a theater group in which girl scouts and non scouts will present plays for the children's homes, adult groups in church school and other institutions. Rita Mary said in this way the community might learn "what teenagers can add to art culture."

Each of the 160 girls attending the World of Arts will use her experience to carry out a community action project at home. Other sessions were offered in music, visual arts and folk arts.

Field trips and discussion sessions were held for each facet of the program.

Rita Mary heard talks by Producer Joseph Papp, Critic Henry Hewes, Actress Geraldine Fitzgerald. She saw a performance by the Pickwick Puppet Theater, whose founder, Larry Berthelson was a consultant at the workshop.

Field trips included a performance by the unique Theater of the Deaf and a matinee of Shakespeare's Richard II at the Stratford, Conn., Festival Theater, plus a broadway performance of The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie. Informal discussions with the actors were held after the Stratford and Broadway visits.

Daily seminars in puppetry, acting, creative dramatics, dramatic writing and design each led by a professional consultant.

Rita Mary's seminar in dramatic writing was led by playwright Lawrence Osgood.

Among her personal triumphs at the World of Arts, the local miss wrote a one-act play, Gin Sitting, which was presented at seminar's summation. She was appointed patrol leader and Ferndust representative for The Panel to present back home project plans for her unit of Girl Scouts Senior Troop 131, Kingston.

As the "stardust" filters back to the home scene, we will be anxiously awaiting the premiere performance of the youthful theatrical group under Rita Mary's tutelage.

Kingston Youth Gives Views of Munich Year

John Philip Dreiser, a Marist College student, was in Munich participating in the intercollegiate Wayne State University "Junior Year in Munich" program.

In writing of his experiences on the continent, John said the greatest personal impact during his stay has been "meeting Americans from different sections of the county and from different backgrounds and realizing what huge differences exist within our own country." He finds these differences are at least as great as the differences between the so called average American and the "average" German.

The son of Philip A. Dreiser of 78 Henry Street, Kingston, John studied German grammer, literature and phonetics as well as art history, selected dramas of Shakespeare and Beginning of Modern Philosophy. At Marist he is majoring in English with an eye to a college teaching career.

Greater Freedom

He finds there is "greater academic freedom in Germany where core requirements do not exist. You can study what you want and it is relatively easy to transfer from one university to another." However he sees disadvantages to the more relaxed system of study and fewer exams.

JOHN P. DREISER

"Since there are very few tests in German universities, many students tend to let their studies go for long periods of time and then cram before the big test. In America with mid terms and end terms every semester or quarter, this is harder to do and you must study more regularly."

Observing that Germans dress "less casually than Americans," John also noted that the young people seem to emulate American "culture" very closely. "Only they are about five years behind the times in what is 'in'," he said.

Morals Relaxed

In general, he found "morals are more relaxed." He notes however that laws covering drunken driving are stricter (than in America) and concludes "therefore, only those who misuse alcohol are punished."

A 1965 graduate of Our Lady of Lourdes High School, Poughkeepsie, John was a member of the National Honor Society. He was the recipient of a New York State Regents Scholarship and Knights of Columbus Scholarship.

The Junior Year in Munich program, sponsored by the Wayne State University, Detroit, Mich., concluded its current term Wednesday. The local youth was one of 91 students from more than 50 American colleges and universities who participated in the session which began Oct. 1, 1967.

Classes are held at the Ludwig Maximilians Universitat (University of Munich). All courses are taught in German. Students live in campus dormitories and private homes. They study and travel on their own.

Off to Albany
Student Orientation Series

The 1968 Summer Planning Conference has been going on all summer for entering freshmen and transfer students on the Albany compus. Freshmen attend three day sessions while transferees undergo a two day orientation.

Freshmen attending the current session from this area are Linda Ward of RD 2, Box 64, Saugerties and Janice Savino of 18 Browning Terrace, Kingston.

The sessions started July 1 and will continue through Aug. 16. Initiated in 1965, the orientation program was found to be so successful in preparing the incoming student for campus life that this more than 1,700 freshmen and 450 transfer students are included in the 1968 program.

Faculty, administration and students have combined efforts in planning a variety of activities for the students and their parents.

The four area students will participate in academic advisement, group and individual counseling sessions, registration and recreational activites.

Parents and guests of the students have an opportunity to meet with principal university officials and are greeted formally by Dr. Clifton C. Thorne, vice president for student affairs. They also tour the campus and may meet informally with other parents and guests at a university reception.

Ridge Campus Abounds With Summer Students

Student enrollment in the summer session at Ulster County Community College totals 363, a new high, George B. Erbstein, president, announced today.

The student enrollment this summer represents a 28.5 per cent increase over the 281 students who signed up for courses at the college last summer.

The summer session director, Dr. John F. Park, said 35 summer courses are being offered, including 20 in the day and 15 in the evening.

There are 210 students taking only evening classes, 140 taking only day classes and 12 taking both day and evening classes.

There are 177 students, or 38.2 per cent of the total, taking humanities courses and 161, or 34.7 per cent taking social science courses. Sixty-three are taking science or mathematics courses and 62 are taking business courses.

Job Career Opportunities Detailed in New Handbook

Job hunters and those planning career oriented courses will be interested in a new booklet issued by the U.S. Department of Labor's bureau of labor statistics.

Information on a wide range of occupations and their prospects for the future is presented in the Occupational Outlook Handbook, 1968-69 edition just released. It is available from the Bureau of Labor Statistics, Middle Atlantic Regional office, 341 Ninth Avenue, Room 1009, New York, 10001.

Herbert Bienstock, regional director of the bureau, in announcing the book's availability for sale at his office, said the new job guidebook sifts and evaluates the outlook for more than 700 occupations in 30 key American industries. The assessment, he said, details for each occupation the nature of the work, education and training required, where a young person should go to find employment opportunities and where to get more information on the prospective job outlook through the 1970's.

Added to the updated career guide are analytical statements on medical laboratory assistants, state police officers, systems analysts, photographic laboratory occupations, shorthand reporters, and occupations in the aluminum industry, to cite a few of the additions to the telephone bookline 763-page guide.

The handbook emphasizes the preparation needed for jobs and underlines the fact that in the future the jobs will go to those who are best prepared for them. Jobs involving purely routine tasks are disappearing, many of them being taken over by machine. Analysis of the occupational pattern reveals little future promise for the school drop-out or the unskilled laborer.

Workers entering the labor force in the next decade wlil have more years of schooling than their predecessors. More of them will have completed high school, more will have gone to college, and a smaller proportion will be high school dropouts.

Interim Course Slated Monday At Middletown

Classes begin on Monday for 16 credit and non-credit classes in the three-week post summer session at Orange County Community College.

Students may earn a full semester's credit for the concentrated courses in 13 areas, including Freshman English I and II, American Literature II, Fundamentals of Speech I, History of Western Civilization I, General Psychology I, Basic Mathematics I and II, Introduction to Music, Elementary Spanish II, Business Mathematics, and Business Organization and Management. Classes will meet five mornings each week from Aug. 5-23.

Three non-credit courses will be offered. Reading Improvement will meet on the regular morning schedule. Two sections of Engineering Techniques will be given, one meeting on Monday and Wednesday nights and the second on Tuesday and Thursday nights. Electron microscope personnel can take Introduction to Electron Microtomy from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. six days a week from Aug. 5-17.

BLOCK DANCE BAND — The Contemporary Souls minus one, rev up for teen block dance to be held on Dedrick Street. Guitarists Joe Kluepfel, left, and Guy Walker run through practice session with drummer Ted Blankschan. Kevin Kerr is the other member of the popular group. The dance, jointly sponsored by the YMCA, YWCA and the Kingston Recreation Department, will be from 7 to 9 p. m. There will be no admission charge and all area teenagers may attend. If it should rain, heaven forbid, alternate date will be Aug. 13. (Freeman photo by Haines).

The Teen Scene

On June 15, 1968, Wes Montgomery died in his Indianapolis home of a heart attack. The jazz guitarist was 45 years old. As far as recognition goes, Wes was at the peak of his career, having topped jazz-recording sales last year, and having won the Downbeat Magazine Poll vote for best jazz guitarist for 1968. Musically, however, Wes felt he was "over the hill," and had reached his peak 20 years ago, before many of his fans were born.

To these young fans, Wes Montgomery's music is typified by last year's hit, "Windy." Soft, soothing, well produced, too slow to do the Funky Broadway to, but just about right for relaxing at the chessboard with a cup of scalding espresso. But this music was what accident, recording producers, and slowing reflexes had (to Wes, at least) reduced his music to. For the music he loved to play was the fast and frantic downbeat that he and his trio could rock the 440 Club in Indianapolis with, sending the chicks shrieking and jiving, in the days before fame—When he was young.

Unplanned

Wes never even planned to be a guitarist. But one day the music of the jazz guitarist Charlie Christian "burned his ear," and that night 19-year old Wes came home to his bride, Serene, with a $300 guitar he had spent every cent of their money for. Wes couldn't read music, and he never learned to, but he did learn to play Charlie Christian's guitar solos by ear. The investment he had made in that axe, and his bride's doubtful eyes were a powerful incentive!

Here, accident first altered his budding career. When the neighbors complained about his constant practising, Wes discarded his pick and began strumming with his thumb to soften the sound. While he later regretted forming the habit, he never broke it, and the unique style gave his music the soft, molasses tone so admired by his fans.

Toured With Hamp

In the late 1940's he toured with Lionel Hampton, but by 1950 Wes had a growing family, so he settled down in Indianapolis to be with them, and to do some local playing with his trio which included his two brothers—Monk on the piano, and Buddy on bass. Recordings he made on the Riverside label led to some fame in 1959, so he and his trio did some touring in the early 1960's. This led to a contract with Verve Records in 1963.

It was at Verve that Creed Taylor, who was producing his records, urged Wes to cut one backed by a "big band." Wes always felt "drowned" recording with a large backing, and because he was unable to read music, he would become tense and afraid of making mistakes. Ironically, this was the sound that won him his rep.

Wes Montgomery felt the days of his greatness were behind him. To him, greatness was the music pouring out between his thumb and the strings, not the money and the awards. Yet he was not bitter. Those who knew him said he was a happy man. He'd been on tour with a quintet, including his brothers. He was home, resting. And then his heart stopped. . . .

He leaves behind his brothers. His wife Serene. Two sons, five daughters, many in their teens. And a legacy of records that insures the immortality of Wes Montgomery, and his special sort of music.

Teens Little Theater Dream of KHS Junior

A summer experience in an arts workshop has inspired a Kingston High School junior to start a theater group of her own right here.

Rita Mary Senor of 616 Kiersted Avenue has just returned from 10 days at the World of Arts national workshop, Pleasantville, where she got to meet leading theatrical personalities, attended exciting performances and indulging in a little playwrighting of her own.

Specializing in the dramatic arts phase of the workshop, Miss Senor was chosen for participation by her interest in the theater and her desire to use it in community work.

She plans to start a theater group in which girl scouts and non scouts will present plays for the children's homes, adult groups in church school and other institutions. Rita Mary said in this way the community might learn "what teenagers can add to art culture."

Each of the 160 girls attending the World of Arts will use her experience to carry out a community action project at home. Other sessions were offered in music, visual arts and folk arts.

Field trips and discussion sessions were held for each facet of the program.

Rita Mary heard talks by Producer Joseph Papp, Critic Henry Hewes, Actress Geraldine Fitzgerald. She saw a performance by the Pickwick Puppet Theater, whose founder, Larry Berthelson was a consultant at the workshop.

Field trips included a performance by the unique Theater of the Deaf and a matinee of Shakespeare's Richard II at the Stratford, Conn., Festival Theater, plus a broadway performance of The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie. Informal discussions with the actors were held after the Stratford and Broadway visits.

Daily seminars in puppetry, acting, creative dramatics, dramatic writing and design each led by a professional consultant.

Rita Mary's seminar in dramatic writing was led by playwright Lawrence Osgood.

Among her personal triumphs at the World of Arts, the local miss wrote a one-act play, Gin Sitting, which was presented at seminar's summation. She was appointed patrol leader and Ferndust representative for The Panel to present back home project plans for her unit of Girl Scouts Senior Troop 131, Kingston.

As the "stardust" filters back to the home scene, we will be anxiously awaiting the premiere performance of the youthful theatrical group under Rita Mary's tutelage.

Kingston Youth Gives Views of Munich Year

John Philip Dreiser, a Marist College student, was in Munich participating in the intercollegiate Wayne State University "Junior Year in Munich" program.

In writing of his experiences on the continent, John said the greatest personal impact during his stay has been "meeting Americans from different sections of the county and from different backgrounds and realizing what huge differences exist within our own country." He finds these differences are at least as great as the differences between the so called average American and the "average" German.

The son of Philip A. Dreiser of 78 Henry Street, Kingston, John studied German grammer, literature and phonetics as well as art history, selected dramas of Shakespeare and Beginning of Modern Philosophy. At Marist he is majoring in English with an eye to a college teaching career.

Greater Freedom

He finds there is "greater academic freedom in Germany where core requirements do not exist. You can study what you want and it is relatively easy to transfer from one university to another." However he sees disadvantages to the more relaxed system of study and fewer exams.

JOHN P. DREISER

"Since there are very few tests in German universities, many students tend to let their studies go for long periods of time and then cram before the big test. In America with mid terms and end terms every semester or quarter, this is harder to do and you must study more regularly."

Observing that Germans dress "less casually than Americans," John also noted that the young people seem to emulate American "culture" very closely. "Only they are about five years behind the times in what is 'in'," he said.

Morals Relaxed

In general, he found "morals are more relaxed." He notes however that laws covering drunken driving are stricter (than in America) and concludes "therefore, only those who misuse alcohol are punished."

A 1965 graduate of Our Lady of Lourdes High School, Poughkeepsie, John was a member of the National Honor Society. He was the recipient of a New York State Regents Scholarship and Knights of Columbus Scholarship.

The Junior Year in Munich program, sponsored by the Wayne State University, Detroit, Mich., concluded its current term Wednesday. The local youth was one of 91 students from more than 50 American colleges and universities who participated in the session which began Oct. 1, 1967.

Classes are held at the Ludwig Maximilians Universitat (University of Munich). All courses are taught in German. Students live in campus dormitories and private homes. They study and travel on their own.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUGUST 3, 1968

City Hall Downtown

Tuesday evening when members of the Kingston Common Council meet in regular session they will have another chance to demonstrate to the taxpayers they are concerned with the future of the city. By voting for the construction of a new city hall building in the Downtown Broadway East Urban Renewal area, they will be acting with imagination, clear thinking and resolution with the entire city as benefactor.

If the City of Kingston is to maintain adequate community services and progress as a municipality, it must have a broader tax base from the building of additional dwelling properties and business establishments within the corporate limits of the city. How else can Kingston property owners keep their homes with the total cost of government continuing to rise? Of course, an alternative to real property taxes is more regressive sales taxes to slap down the lowly consumer and to put the city businessman at a further disadvantage. Is this what the aldermen are planning?

If the best interests of the community are to be served, the aldermen will stop dilly dallying with this vital proposal and take positive action immediately.

Announcement by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency that it is going to start up the bulldozer again and knock down 94 more structures in the downtown area is additional evidence of the imperative need for immediate action. We are certain that all the aldermen realize that this new demolition program will remove more downtown properties from the city tax rolls.

It is with all these facts in mind that we urge passage now of the two resolutions calling for a new city hall downtown and the hiring of an architect.

Construction in the downtown area of a new modern city hall building, which will house governmental departments and community agencies with ample parking for the convenience of residents, will attract new industry and businesses and developers of private dwellings to an area with tremendous potential for real estate tax revenue.

Once a start is made on construction, there will be speedy action by business interests. Private developers, who are essential to an urban renewal project, cannot be expected to show an interest in the location until there are signs of revitalization. The importance of securing private developers to buy and develop urban renewal cleared sites should be plain to everyone.

By building the city hall downtown, the city also will receive an additional credit of some $250,000 which would just about wipe out the entire Urban Renewal debt for the Broadway East project of $900,000. Plans for the new structure call for a two-story building designed with space requirements for a population of 40,000. Total cost including architect's fees, land and paving will be approximately $1,200,000.

The City of Kingston has a great stake in the viability of the downtown area.

Kingston needs this sound, long-range plan.

Elected to represent the entire city and not just a respective ward designation, aldermen should be responsive to the needs of the people and pass this proposition without further delay.

Vets' Early Outs

The economy wave is freeing servicemen months ahead of the time their enlistment or draft terms end, once they have served the required time in such perlious fields as Vietnam and Korea.

Starting August 1, the Army, the Navy, the Marines and the Air Force all will institute regulations allowing servicemen early outs from uniformed duty. The time saved will run from five or six months, with each branch of the service having its own regulation.

Preference will be given men who are about to return to school to complete their education. The same priority will also be extended to men who are ready and willing to enter training for police recruitment, in the city of their choice, because they are so badly needed.

It has been the practice in all the services to release men after they have served a year or more in Vietnam or Korea. But they were usually returned to the mainland to serve out their enlistment or draft term. That meant they were idle, though in training for emergency.

With the mandated economy wave, the Defense Department has found a way to economize by letting these men go after they have served their time at the front and before they serve time in home barracks. It may reduce the number available for emergencies, but otherwise it should not handicap the armed forces, as these men did not intend to re-enlist, and their duty time was limited anyway.

It is too bad that it took an economy wave to put into effect this humane order. It means young men will be able to resume their school sooner, or train for the police force, if that is their bent.

Time for a Rude Awakening!

Slender 'Polls' Bolster Optimism in Rocky's Camp

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

MIAMI BEACH (NEA) — Though Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's forces have gained heart from a Harris Poll contradicting an earlier Gallup Poll which showed Richard Nixon outdoing him against the Democrats, there is an amazing lack of sharpness and drive in Rocky's final push for the GOP nomination here.

Canvass of Rockefeller aides and some key supporters on the convention scene discloses a curious kind of floating optimism. The new Harris Poll and the governor's own polls showing him stronger than Nixon against Democrats in nine key states are fueling this mood. Yet to a large degree it is unsupported by hard evidence.

When they talk of delegate counts, the governor's people seldom overestimate their own indicated strength — in the range of 350 of the 667 votes required for nomination. Nor do they usually overstate California Gov. Ronald Reagan's presently calculated total of roughly 180.

Nevertheless, some Rockefeller backers dreamily insist that Nixon's hard count falls somewhere between 500 and 550 votes, though even the most bearish of the published delegate surveys which mix fact and reasonable projection has not brought the former vice president below 570. Most such surveys place him near or somewhat above the needed 667, with possibly more to come from breaking favorite sons.

Neither publicly nor privately will Rockefeller backers spell out where the governor himself has gained delegates. They wave off all efforts to obtain precise details of place and number. This reporter's own final delegate survey indicated that Rockefeller has actually lost rather than gained votes.

Moreover, though the Rockefeller camp has not pumped up Reagan's total to artificial levels, some sources are speaking too glibly of further Reagan gains in the Nixon-held South which could draw Nixon down and, by their account, benefit Rocky on later ballots, if not at first.

A larger Southern breakout for Reagan in the South is indeed possible, but it has not happened yet and is considered an unlikely event unless key Southern leaders tied to Nixon either lose all of their potent influence or themselves go to Reagan.

This reporter's fresh checks with several such leaders turned up no evidence that they are switching or losing their grip.

Fuzzy Element

Another fuzzy element in the dreamy optimism heard from Rockefeller people in the hotel corridors here is the notion that Nixon is panicking because his aides are hitting the telephone hard and applying some pressure on delegates either to stay put or come aboard.

One ardent professional on Rocky's side was incensed over alleged false Nixon claims to three extra delegates in an eastern state.

"If he's winning big," the comment went, "why does he need to lie about those three lousy delegates?"

Another veteran, a western moderate, said Nixon's agents were "putting the arm" on Mountain State delegates, but he declined to be specific.

Endlessly, Rocky's political friends warmed themselves with new evidences of an old circumstance: the fact that many Nixon delegate backers are lukewarm in their enthusiasm for him.

But as this is an old story, so is it not new for a front-runner to worry or indulge in "delegate overkill." The Nixon camp's worries are natural, especially in light of some inroads from the intensified Reagan drive. No able manager ever takes his votes for granted until they are recorded on the ballot.

Despite this obvious real concern, Nixon's managers remain fundamentally calm and confident. They have outdone Rocky's forces in work and in publishable talk. Their chief delegate-rustlers meet twice daily. They are more outgoing and establish a more visible presence than either of their rivals. Said one Nixon aide:

"If independent counts showing us with enough to win are not correct, then we ourselves are badly mistaken. We don't think we are."

Mamie had nothing going for her. Nothing at all. She never got out of Hell's Kitchen. Her old man worked on the docks. So did Bandy, her husband. All her life, Mamie lived in a walk up flat. The day she got married, she moved from one hot tenement to another. She went from the fourth floor to the fifth.

She wasn't fat, but she looked like forty dollars worth of jello in a cotton print. When she breathed hard, her chest tapped her chin. The hair was straight and colorless. It was snipped in a circle at the level of the ear lobes. Mamie thought that Bandy was the greatest man that ever lived, next to Jim Donegan, her old man. I saw Jim lift a barrel of sugar with a hook and a pad on his back and the sugar weighed 400 pounds.

All of them were hearty peasants — Irish and Scotch and Italian — and when they were charged on cheap gin they roared defiance at the world. The christenings, the weddings, even the funerals featured a fight. Any pedestrian walking west of Tenth Avenue who didn't have a broken nose was a suspicious character.

When times were tough — which was always — Mamie kept a big pot of macaroni going on the kitchen stove and a smaller one full of stewed tomatoes. It was this, and a couple of loaves of Italian bread, Bandy had a pair of legs that looked like pantalooned parentheses. A Great Dane could get through him.

He earned good money on the docks when the old Berengaria and the Olympic and the Europa and Rex used to pull in with the cranes working two full days. Bandy blew a lot of it at Finnerty's on Twelfth Avenue before he reported for work, and he had four or five balls before he headed for Mamie.

She drank too, but only because it was the one movie she could afford. Mamie and Brandy had a great love affair going, and it could survive the world's largest distillery. They ate in the kitchen with the children and, after dinner, Bandy would ask his love for a little song and she would sing the Rose of Tralee. Well, she didn't exactly sing it. She flogged the song. If any of the neighbors in the darkness yelled "Ah, shaddop!" Bandy the gallant would stand up and punch his fist through the kitchen screen.

The kids went to school and to church. Mamie spent the hot summer hours ironing dresses and spitting some polish on shoes. When she wasn't doing that, she was leaning on a pillow out the front window. The girl, Theresa Catherine, grew up skinny and freckled. She was sweet and sensitive and she met a Jewish boy named Chuck something-or-other and Bandy punched the other screen out and roared that he was not anti-Semitic but what the hell was wrong with her own kind?

Mamie was on Theresa Catherine's side and they had a lot of good cries together before the girl converted to Judaism and married Chuck. The one big thing it did was get the kid out of Hell's Kitchen and over into Bensonhurst. Bandy looked elegant in a tux at the wedding. He wanted to fight anybody who didn't have a kind word for Jews. "They're all Christians," he told the neighborhood, "except they had it first."

After that, he and Mamie settled a little. They cut down on the parties to send the boy to college. He was Jim; after his grandfather. He wouldn't know a baling hook from a bolt of tweeds hidden under a longshoreman's pea jacket. Young Jim had his face in a book all the time. He grew slowly and silently. "Deep, that one," said Bandy. Mamie stirred the pot. "Deep," she said.

There were grandchildren — three — in all — and I missed that part of the story because I no longer covered the West Side. It was Theresa Catherine's wish that they be brought up in the Jewish faith, and so it was done. One night Bandy was drinking at the kitchen table and he said, half to himself: "She was always a little light-headed, that one."

Jim surprised everybody. He transferred to Dunwoodie and studied to become a priest. Bandy fell into a rage and was drunk for a week. "He couldda been a lawyer," he moaned. "Them shysters make a hatful."

Jim was ordained last year. His mother swung a loan and bought him a gold chalice. Chuck and Theresa and their growing brood attended the ceremonies. When it was over, the priest blessed the children and the oldest grandchild said: "You know, Uncle Jim, your services are a little like ours, except you make a bigger deal out of the whole thing."

I walked the hot streets of Hell's Kitchen this week. I looked up at the proper flat. Mamie was leaning out the window. She didn't wave. She's getting near-sighted . .

Miami Convention Will Be Grim; Nixon Is Supremely Confident

Miami Beach — Richard Nixon is so confident of emerging the winner from this, the biggest political contest, that he's told aides he won't come to Miami until Tuesday. His aides, with equal confindence, or perhaps Braggadocio, are predicting that Nixon will win by the time the roll call of states reaches Tennessee.

Meanwhile, Nixon is on the telephone personally directing every move made by his henchmen. They don't book an extra suite of rooms at the Hilton Plaza Hotel; where Nixon's headquarters are, without calling the boss in New York. They are cool, calculating, confident, and so is their boss in his law offices high above downtown Manhattan.

You would never guess from their conversation that the biggest handicap Nixon has had to overcome is the sickening fear among rank-and-file Republicans that "Nixon Can't win." It results from the memory of that disastrous 1962 defeat when he ran for governor of California, and that terrible display of temper at the press conference which followed in which he castigated California newspapers.

The whispered reminder that Nixon is a two-time loser and won the Vice Presidency only when he traveled piggyback on Eisenhower's broad shoulders is the most serious obstacle Nixon has to erase. His cohorts in Miami are doing a pretty good job of making people forget about it.

It's illustrated when you land at the airport. Gov. Rockefeller has pretty girls covered with "Rocky" buttons out to meet the delegates. But they don't know who the delegates are and look prettily at every arrival.

In contrast, Nixon has two of his men meet every plane. There are no girls to kiss new arrivals, no bands playing. But the two henchmen do have a list of delegates, pick the right men and announce "we have a car waiting for you."

En route to the hotel the delegates are romanced for Nixon.

Both Rockefeller and Nixon cherish as their most guarded possessions a file of every delegate and such pertinent information as who their bankers are, how much money they owe, the size of mortgage on their home. This intelligence can be highly useful when the chips are down.

Rockefeller's statistics are kept in a black book with a lock on it. Nixon's are kept in carefully guarded files.

Nixon's operation gives the impression of professional smoothness. Rockefeller has stirred up the visitors in the living room, but Nixon has the delegates pledged in the back room. And it's in the back rooms the final decisions are going to be made.

Rockefeller's cohorts are trying to do another Wendell Willkie, recalling the so-called "Barefoot Boy of Wall Street" who took the 1940 Republican convention by storm.

However, what most people don't know is that the Willkie strategy was planned well in advance. The Rockefellers know it, however, for their economic empire helped to plan it. Weeks before the convention, the Chase Bank, controlled by the Rockefeller family, was giving the word to GOP delegates to go for Willkie.

In the current race, significantly, Rockefeller has not permitted the power of his family fortune to be used. He used it for Eisenhower against Taft in the 1952 convention. The big Eastern money of Republican party made some remarkable converts for Ike at the last minute, as witness the conversion of the Pennsylvania delegation. They arrived in Chicago pledged to Taft. But after Gov. John Fine received a call from Ben Fairless of U.S. Steel, they switched to Ike.

However, Nelson has given orders that this is not to be done for him. The use of the Rockefeller family fortune could mean the difference in the voting next week, but the Chase Manhattan Bank and Standard Oil of N.J. are being kept carefully on the sidelines.

You hear lots of rumors about tight security at Miami Beach. They are understatements. Never has a political convention been so tightly guarded, never have tickets and badges been so carefully given out. Tickets are coded and the numbers on the tickets are being changed every day. Fluorescent ink has been used to prevent counterfeiting.

An extra contingent of Secret Service agents and FBI men has been imported and they are living aboard a ship. Together with the Miami police, they have opened all manholes, checked on Cuban exiles in Miami, and imported enough arms to start an insurrection. The arsenal includes combat vests, Mace, signal equipment and ammunition.

The Secret Service has discovered that some American students of the new left have gone to Cuba, via Mexico, to study at Pinar Rio, the Fidel Castro school of indoctrination. A careful check is being made to see if any of them are back in Miami.

There are speciial restrictions inside the three hotels occupied by the candidates — the Hilton Plaza, Americana, where Rocky's headquarters are located, and the Deauville, which houses Ronald Reagan's headquarters.

Each candidate, however, will sleep at a private home, the idenity of which is kept strictly secret. Sen. Charles Percy is also staying in a private home, partly because of the murder of his daughter two years ago. When someone mentioned the address of his home in a telephone conversation with him, he became very much alarmed.

Each candidate also is given 25 parking places outside the convention hall, including Harold Stassen; though his entourage is almost nil. This caused such irritation on the part of top-running candidates that Stassen is surrendering most of his parking slots.

All in all it willl be a grim convention. No real hoopla is expected. The ghost of Bobby Kennedy, the Democrat murdered in Los Angeles, stands starkly over this meeting of Republicans.

Czech News Has U.S. Angles

The Czechoslovakia news has important American angles. More Czechs live in Chicago, for example, than in any Czech city except Prague.

The anti-Soviet tension also confirms again an important rule: You are lost in understanding the Communists unless you realize that they can be cunning and stupid at the same time.

At the Nesnaze Bar in Prague five chorines come out dressed as nuns. The center girl sings a prayer into the microphone. Then they all break into the cancan and finish off with a strip tease, one by one.

It's a popular place for the Red government bigwigs. The party zealots tear the rafters down for this pitch against the Catholic Church. For Lenin's famous blasphemy that "religion is the opium of the masses" is as embedded in Kremlin operations as it is in the Kremlin wall.

But, traditionally, about 70 per cent of the Czechs are Catholics. In place of religious faith the atheist Communist doctrine has tried to substitute pagan rallies and the pride in party glory. And, as foreseeable, you find a deep, smoldering, grass-roots resentment everywhere in Czechoslovakia.

The Reds use many church buildings as Czechoslovakia Union for Youth (CSM) centers instead of places of worship. Beer kegs are defiantly placed on church altars. Hilarious Communist slogans sneering at God are splashed in red paint on the chapel walls. Pictures of Karl Marx, Lenin and the local leaders are rakishly hung on the crucifix.

The Nazis contrived the substitution of Nazism for religious feeling and family ties. They also promised a powerful nation with a faithful (to them) youth as the mainspring of it. Unfortunately, this made sense to many young Germans. But even Red officials will tell you that most Czech youths scoff at this same Red project and at the idea of a powerful Czechoslovakia. "This little country? In an atom age? Nonsense," an office worker said to me in Prague.

As the Moscow machinery has worked to kill off religious faith and individual self-confidence, especially among the youth, it has bled away a faith in nearly everything. Representing a trangent to this you see for the first time wandering, night-owl groups of what the Czechs call "Teddy Boys" with their long hair and skin-tight pants who annoy the public now nearly as much as they do their parents.

Nor have the commissars been able to steam up the people about world leadership by the U.S.S.R. Russia's glory is everywhere on display. The Red Star is incorporated into the Czech national flag and emblem. Moscow gives no other European satellite this privilege. The Czech oath of allegiance includes: "Love the Soviet Union — protector of our fatherland's freedom and independence."

But these diligent, intelligent, attractive people are Bohemians, Slovaks, Moravians, etc., not Russians. Less than 10 per cent are Communists, and they don't see how the world glory that goes to Russia comes to them.

Moreover, many Czechs realize that much of the glory the party leaders spray on the U.S.S.R. is self-serving for the leaders themselves.

They see a case in point occurring right now. Czechoslovakia's national interest is not involved in Vietnam. Yet the Red government reaction against the United States could hardly be more noisy if our Marines had marched into Prague.

Our Embassy has encountered window-smashing riots directly under the eyes of a Czech sentry box that observes everything from across the street. The government radio is in a new crescendo on the "Yanks, go home from Vietnam" theme. This is a convenient offset, at our expense, to the friction with the U.S.S.R. about which we are reading. It is a cheap way for the Prague government leaders to "show solidarity" with the Soviet and polish the Kremlin apples in one way at least at absolutely no cost to themselves.

Moreover, that is the basic trouble. We are dealing with the Czechoslavakian government, not the Czech people.

But, there again, the offset is poured out on a population extraordinarily friendly to the United States and immensely proud to have so many relatives in the United States. "Monkey see, monkey do" is a dubious formula at best, and we are entitled to take heart in the fact that it is backfiring in Czechoslovakia.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUGUST 3, 1968

City Hall Downtown

Tuesday evening when members of the Kingston Common Council meet in regular session they will have another chance to demonstrate to the taxpayers they are concerned with the future of the city. By voting for the construction of a new city hall building in the Downtown Broadway East Urban Renewal area, they will be acting with imagination, clear thinking and resolution with the entire city as benefactor.

If the City of Kingston is to maintain adequate community services and progress as a municipality, it must have a broader tax base from the building of additional dwelling properties and business establishments within the corporate limits of the city. How else can Kingston property owners keep their homes with the total cost of government continuing to rise? Of course, an alternative to real property taxes is more regressive sales taxes to slap down the lowly consumer and to put the city businessman at a further disadvantage. Is this what the aldermen are planning?

If the best interests of the community are to be served, the aldermen will stop dilly dallying with this vital proposal and take positive action immediately.

Announcement by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency that it is going to start up the bulldozer again and knock down 94 more structures in the downtown area is additional evidence of the imperative need for immediate action. We are certain that all the aldermen realize that this new demolition program will remove more downtown properties from the city tax rolls.

It is with all these facts in mind that we urge passage now of the two resolutions calling for a new city hall downtown and the hiring of an architect.

Construction in the downtown area of a new modern city hall building, which will house governmental departments and community agencies with ample parking for the convenience of residents, will attract new industry and businesses and developers of private dwellings to an area with tremendous potential for real estate tax revenue.

Once a start is made on construction, there will be speedy action by business interests. Private developers, who are essential to an urban renewal project, cannot be expected to show an interest in the location until there are signs of revitalization. The importance of securing private developers to buy and develop urban renewal cleared sites should be plain to everyone.

By building the city hall downtown, the city also will receive an additional credit of some $250,000 which would just about wipe out the entire Urban Renewal debt for the Broadway East project of $900,000. Plans for the new structure call for a two-story building designed with space requirements for a population of 40,000. Total cost including architect's fees, land and paving will be approximately $1,200,000.

The City of Kingston has a great stake in the viability of the downtown area.

Kingston needs this sound, long-range plan.

Elected to represent the entire city and not just a respective ward designation, aldermen should be responsive to the needs of the people and pass this proposition without further delay.

Vets' Early Outs

The economy wave is freeing servicemen months ahead of the time their enlistment or draft terms end, once they have served the required time in such perlious fields as Vietnam and Korea.

Starting August 1, the Army, the Navy, the Marines and the Air Force all will institute regulations allowing servicemen early outs from uniformed duty. The time saved will run from five or six months, with each branch of the service having its own regulation.

Preference will be given men who are about to return to school to complete their education. The same priority will also be extended to men who are ready and willing to enter training for police recruitment, in the city of their choice, because they are so badly needed.

It has been the practice in all the services to release men after they have served a year or more in Vietnam or Korea. But they were usually returned to the mainland to serve out their enlistment or draft term. That meant they were idle, though in training for emergency.

With the mandated economy wave, the Defense Department has found a way to economize by letting these men go after they have served their time at the front and before they serve time in home barracks. It may reduce the number available for emergencies, but otherwise it should not handicap the armed forces, as these men did not intend to re-enlist, and their duty time was limited anyway.

It is too bad that it took an economy wave to put into effect this humane order. It means young men will be able to resume their school sooner, or train for the police force, if that is their bent.

Time for a Rude Awakening!

Slender 'Polls' Bolster Optimism in Rocky's Camp

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

MIAMI BEACH (NEA) — Though Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's forces have gained heart from a Harris Poll contradicting an earlier Gallup Poll which showed Richard Nixon outdoing him against the Democrats, there is an amazing lack of sharpness and drive in Rocky's final push for the GOP nomination here.

Canvass of Rockefeller aides and some key supporters on the convention scene discloses a curious kind of floating optimism. The new Harris Poll and the governor's own polls showing him stronger than Nixon against Democrats in nine key states are fueling this mood. Yet to a large degree it is unsupported by hard evidence.

When they talk of delegate counts, the governor's people seldom overestimate their own indicated strength — in the range of 350 of the 667 votes required for nomination. Nor do they usually overstate California Gov. Ronald Reagan's presently calculated total of roughly 180.

Nevertheless, some Rockefeller backers dreamily insist that Nixon's hard count falls somewhere between 500 and 550 votes, though even the most bearish of the published delegate surveys which mix fact and reasonable projection has not brought the former vice president below 570. Most such surveys place him near or somewhat above the needed 667, with possibly more to come from breaking favorite sons.

Neither publicly nor privately will Rockefeller backers spell out where the governor himself has gained delegates. They wave off all efforts to obtain precise details of place and number. This reporter's own final delegate survey indicated that Rockefeller has actually lost rather than gained votes.

Moreover, though the Rockefeller camp has not pumped up Reagan's total to artificial levels, some sources are speaking too glibly of further Reagan gains in the Nixon-held South which could draw Nixon down and, by their account, benefit Rocky on later ballots, if not at first.

A larger Southern breakout for Reagan in the South is indeed possible, but it has not happened yet and is considered an unlikely event unless key Southern leaders tied to Nixon either lose all of their potent influence or themselves go to Reagan.

This reporter's fresh checks with several such leaders turned up no evidence that they are switching or losing their grip.

Fuzzy Element

Another fuzzy element in the dreamy optimism heard from Rockefeller people in the hotel corridors here is the notion that Nixon is panicking because his aides are hitting the telephone hard and applying some pressure on delegates either to stay put or come aboard.

One ardent professional on Rocky's side was incensed over alleged false Nixon claims to three extra delegates in an eastern state.

"If he's winning big," the comment went, "why does he needed to lie about those three lousy delegates?"

Another veteran, a western moderate, said Nixon's agents were "putting the arm" on Mountain State delegates, but he declined to be specific.

Endlessly, Rocky's political friends warmed themselves with new evidences of an old circumstance: the fact that many Nixon delegate backers are lukewarm in their enthusiasm for him.

But as this is an old story, so is it not new for a front-runner to worry or indulge in "delegate overkill." Characteristically, a candidate with 50 more votes than he needs thinks he would be safer with a bulge of 75 or 100. Hence the late-hour pressure to get new votes and reconfirm the old. The leader never knows when attrition will set in, or how far it might go.

The Nixon camp's worries are natural, especially in light of some inroads from the intensified Reagan drive. No able manager ever takes his votes for granted until they are recorded on the ballot.

Despite this obvious real concern, Nixon's managers remain fundamentally calm and confident. They have outdone Rocky's forces in work and in publishable talk. Fluorescent ink has been used to prevent counterfeiting.

An extra contingent of Secret Service agents and FBI men has been imported and they are living aboard a ship. Together with the Miami police, they have opened all manholes, checked on Cuban exiles in Miami, and imported enough arms to start an insurrection. The arsenal includes combat vests, Mace, signal equipment and ammunition.

The Secret Service has discovered that some American students of the new left have gone to Cuba, via Mexico, to study at Pinar Rio, the Fidel Castro school of indoctrination. A careful check is being made to see if any of them are back in Miami.

There are special restrictions inside the three hotels occupied by the candidates — the Hilton Plaza, Americana, where Rocky's headquarters are located, and the Deauville, which houses Ronald Reagan's headquarters.

Each candidate, however, will sleep at a private home, the idenity of which is kept strictly secret. Sen. Charles Percy is also staying in a private home, partly because of the murder of his daughter two years ago. When someone mentioned the address of his home in a telephone conversation with him, he became very much alarmed.

Each candidate also is given 25 parking places outside the convention hall, including Harold Stassen; though his entourage is almost nil. This caused such irritation on the part of top-running candidates that Stassen is surrendering most of his parking slots.

All in all it willl be a grim convention. No real hoopla is expected. The ghost of Bobby Kennedy, the Democrat murdered in Los Angeles, stands starkly over this meeting of Republicans.

Henry J. Taylor Says

Czech News Has U.S. Angles

The Czechoslovakia news has important American angles. More Czechs live in Chicago, for example, than in any Czech city except Prague.

The anti-Soviet tension also confirms again an important rule: You are lost in understanding the Communists unless you realize that they can be cunning and stupid at the same time.

At the Nesnaze Bar in Prague five chorines come out dressed as nuns. The center girl sings a prayer into the microphone. Then they all break into the cancan and finish off with a strip tease, one by one.

It's a popular place for the Red government bigwigs. The party zealots tear the rafters down for this pitch against the Catholic Church. For Lenin's famous blasphemy that "religion is the opium of the masses" is as embedded in Kremlin operations as it is in the Kremlin wall.

But, traditionally, about 70 per cent of the Czechs are Catholics. In place of religious faith the atheist Communist doctrine has tried to substitute pagan rallies and the pride in party glory. And, as foreseeable, you find a deep, smoldering, grass-roots resentment everywhere in Czechoslovakia.

The Reds use many church buildings as Czechoslovakia Union for Youth (CSM) centers instead of places of worship. Beer kegs are defiantly placed on church altars. Hilarious Communist slogans sneering at God are splashed in red paint on the chapel walls. Pictures of Karl Marx, Lenin and the local leaders are rakishly hung on the crucifix.

The Nazis contrived the substitution of Nazism for religious feeling and family ties. They also promised a powerful nation with a faithful (to them) youth as the mainspring of it. Unfortunately, this made sense to many young Germans. But even Red officials will tell you that most Czech youths scoff at this same Red project and at the idea of a powerful Czechoslovakia. "This little country? In an atom age? Nonsense," an office worker said to me in Prague.

As the Moscow machinery has worked to kill off religious faith and individual self-confidence, especially among the youth, it has bled away a faith in nearly everything. Representing a trangent to this you see for the first time wandering, night-owl groups of what the Czechs call "Teddy Boys" with their long hair and skin-tight pants who annoy the public now nearly as much as they do their parents.

Nor have the commissars been able to steam up the people about world leadership by the U.S.S.R. Russia's glory is everywhere on display. The Red Star is incorporated into the Czech national flag and emblem. Moscow gives no other European satellite this privilege. The Czech oath of allegiance includes: "Love the Soviet Union — protector of our fatherland's freedom and independence."

But these diligent, intelligent, attractive people are Bohemians, Slovaks, Moravians, etc., not Russians. Less than 10 per cent are Communists, and they don't see how the world glory that goes to Russia comes to them.

Moreover, many Czechs realize that much of the glory the party leaders spray on the U.S.S.R. is self-serving for the leaders themselves.

They see a case in point occurring right now. Czechoslovakia's national interest is not involved in Vietnam. Yet the Red government reaction against the United States could hardly be more noisy if our Marines had marched into Prague.

Our Embassy has encountered window-smashing riots directly under the eyes of a Czech sentry box that observes everything from across the street. The government radio is in a new crescendo on the "Yanks, go home from Vietnam" theme. This is a convenient offset, at our expense, to the friction with the U.S.S.R. about which we are reading. It is a cheap way for the Prague government leaders to "show solidarity" with the Soviet and polish the Kremlin apples in one way at least at absolutely no cost to themselves.

Moreover, that is the basic trouble. We are dealing with the Czechoslavakian government, not the Czech people.

But, there again, the offset is poured out on a population extraordinarily friendly to the United States and immensely proud to have so many relatives in the United States. "Monkey see, monkey do" is a dubious formula at best, and we are entitled to take heart in the fact that it is backfiring in Czechoslovakia.

Innocent Is Plea By Sirhan in Court

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The man accused of assassinating Sen. Robert F. Kennedy before two dozen witnesses has followed a time tested rule of criminal defense—never plead guilty.

Cool and occasionally smiling during a 22-minute court appearance Friday, Sirhan B. Sirhan said "not guilty" in a clear firm voice to answer the charge of fatally shooting the brother of the late president.

Superior Court Judge Richard B. Schauer set the 24-year-old Jordanian's trial for Nov. 1. Sirhan was ordered to return to his heavily fortified "private courtroom" in the hall of Justice Oct. 4, when Schauer appoints a judge for the trial.

Sirhan's attorney, Russell B. Parsons, did not have his client enter a plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity" as many observers had expected. However, the attorney kept open his option to offer such a plea at a later time.

In a news conference following the hearing, Parsons indicated he will try to show the former race track exercise boy was not guilty of premeditation or malice in shooting the New York senator the night of Kennedy's victory in the California presidential primary.

"This defense will permit us to show the what and why of the case," the attorney said. "Those are the real issues. If this is the man, did he do it? What prompted him? Why did he do it? Is he responsible?"

California law defines first degree murder—which carries the death penalty—as murder committed "with malice aforethought." If Parsons can show the crime was not premeditated, a jury might find Sirhan guilty of second degree murder, carrying a sentence of five years to life. If the attorney could prove lack of malice, it would open the door to a manslaughter conviction. The sentence for that is 1 to 5 years.

Parsons hinted he may bring up Sirhan's early life in his war-torn native Jordan at the trial. "It may be necessary to take depositions in the old country," the attorney said.

Sirhan's mother, Mrs. Mary Sirhan, and his three brothers, Adel, Sharif and Saidallah were present in the courtroom. Sirhan gave no sign he was aware of their presence.

At times during the session he reached out and grasped Parsons' hand. The attorney said Sirhan did this "because he relies on me, looks on me as an adviser."

Parsons had Sirhan examined by two court-appointed defense psychiatrists. The lawyer said his failure to enter an insanity plea Friday had nothing to do with the reports they had given him. Electric tests of Sirhan's brain waves requested by Parsons still have not been carried out.

Asked whether Sirhan would have objected to an insanity plea Parsons replied: "He listens to me and accepts my advice."

Parsons said he is considering the possibility of aruging that Sirhan suffered from diminished mental facilities, without actually being insame.

Two Kingstonians Hurt in T-Way Crash

Two Kingston residents were injured when their auto struck the rear of a tractor-trailer truck on the Thruway near Newburgh last night.

Newburgh State Police report that Ralph Door, 27, and Judy A. Peterson, 18, both of Millers Lane Extension, were traveling north on the Thruway when their auto ran underneath the rear end of a flat-bed tractor-trailer operated by Fred Farda, 58, of Utica. Police estimate that the car was dragged for more than two-tenths of a mile before the operator of the truck was able to stop.

Both Kingston residents were taken to St. Lukes Hospital in Newburgh with cerebral concussions. In addition, Door suffered from multiple contussions of the face. They were reported in satisfactory condition at the hospital this morning. Farda was not injured.

Authorities reported three other accidents on highways in Ulster and Dutchess Counties yesterday and today.

State Police from the Lake Katrine sub-station report that at approximately 5 a. m. Friday morning Walter W. Koozer, 16, of 627 Burns Avenue, Indiana, Pa. was traveling south on Route 375, one mile north of Route 28 in the Town of Hurley when he fell asleep at the wheel of his auto. The car left the west shoulder of the road while rounding a sharp curve and came to rest in a ditch. Koozer, who was not injured, was issued a summons by State Police for operating with a junior license after dark.

At 10:20 p. m. last night Ellenville State Police investigated a two car crash on Country Club Road in the Village of Ellenville. Umberto Gonzales of Oak Ridge Road, Ellenville was traveling north on Country Club Road when he attempted to pass an auto operated by Steven Telbie of 1211 East 54th Street, Brooklyn on a sharp curve. Gonzalez swerved back into the right lane to avoid a car traveling in the southbound lane and was struck in the right side and rear by the Telbie vehicle. No injuries were reported. Telbie was issued a summons for driving with unsafe tires.

A minor accident in Dutchess County early this morning resulted in hand and leg injuries to Lawrence Walter, 20, of Rhinebeck. According to police, Walter was traveling east on Montgomery Street in the Town of Rhinebeck when he swerved to avoid an animal crossing the road. The auto left the highway and struck a utility pole. Walter was treated at Northern Dutchess Hospital and later released.

Companies Defy President, Others Increase Steel Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The steel price war of nerves has become a major test of government power and industry willgrams to "the men guiding the with further escalation likely. destiny" of the steel situation

President Johnson said Friday that he was sure there "will be additional action" in the steel situation.

He didn't elaborate on the comment to newsmen. But in view of the vast array of government means to bring pressure—ranging from a change in sure—ranging from a change in government purchasing practices already in effect to a federal probe of steel pricing—the message to industry titans was clear.

Within hours of the President's comments, however, four more companies announced selective increases.

There was little doubt they knew of the President's current mood. He said he had sent telegrams to "the men guiding the destiny" of the steel situation asking them to consider the national interest.

The latest companies to hike prices were National Steel, Jones & Laughlin, Armco and Crucible, the last a maker of specialty products and not ranked among the nation's big 10 producers. Only Kaiser and McLouth of the top 10 have not announced increases.

The current steel price hassle began Wednesday when Bethlehem, the No. 2 steelmaker, announced across the board increases of slightly under 5 per cent.

The announcement came within hours of industry agreement with the United Steelworkers Union on a new three-year contract that will raise wages and fringe benefits at least 6 per cent a year for some 400,000 workers.

It was the first time since 1962 that any major producer had tried an across-the-board increase.

That was the year that U.S. Steel led the way in a round of hikes that unleashed unprecedented presidential wrath. The industry finally rolled back the increases after President John F. Kennedy issued a scathing public denunciation and curbed government purchases of steel.

Only once since he became President has Johnson lost a price tussle with a major industry. That was steel's 1967 selective round which stuck despite repeated White House denunciation.

Big increases in copper and aluminum were rolled back in 1965 when the government started to dump its stockpiles of those metals on the open market. There are no such stock piles of steel.

Wallkill Escapee Caught in New York

A 29-year-old convict who had escaped from Wallkill Prison six days ago, surrendered to authorities in New York City last night.

Antonio Diaz, who would have been eligible for parole in February prior to his escape last Sunday, walked into the Division of Parole Office at 11 Gold Street in Manhattan at about 9 p. m.

The escapee, who had been ordered to the Wallkill prison last March after being convicted of car theft, had contacted the law enforcement authorities prior to last night's surrender.

Through telephone calls, Diaz informed authorities that he intended to give himself up and last night's surrender was the culmination of those contacts.

Warden McKendrick told The Freeman that Diaz had escaped primarily to see his wife and child.

He was returned to the prison and is currently under "close custody," according to the prison's top administrator.

Diaz ran away from a farm detail on the morning of July 28. The area, on prison property, is characterized by farm lands surrounded by woods and thick shrubbery.

After it was learned that Diaz had escaped, an all-points alarm was sent out to law enforcement agencies in the vicinity and the manhunt was on.

Road blocks were set up throughout Ulster County and surrounding counties.

According to the warden, earlier reports that Diaz was picked up by someone in a white car were probably false.

"We now have doubts," about the pickup, McKendrick said.

The warden also declared that, at present, law enforcement authorities, "are not absolutely certain" how Diaz got to New York City.

Diaz was not considered dangerous and Warden McKendrick said the prisoner's conduct, while at Wallkill, was "average."

The convict did not have any vocational skill, although he was learning dairy farming while at prison, McKendrick stated.

The state prison's executive officer said that Diaz "will lose some good time," as far as parole is concerned, and although "we don't know what the court will do," the warden was "sure" some time would be added to Diaz's sentence.

CAC Provides Busing for 'Senior' Trips

The Advisory Board of the Health and Aging Committee of the Ulster County Community Action Committee Inc. has announced that the various senior citizens groups are being provided with buses so that they may have trips for their annual picnics. The Mid-Hudson Valley Senior Citizens Group went to Norrie State Park on July 15. Approximately 15 members attended.

The Saugerties Senior Citizens Group will be going to North Lake on August 22. They will leave the Reformed Church at 10 a.m.

The Martin Luther King Senior Citizens Group of Rondout will go to the Catskill Game Farm Aug. 15. They will leave from the Rondout Neighborhood Center at 10 a.m.

The Ellenville Senior Citizens Group will go to Lake Minnewaska Aug. 6. They will leave from in front of the Ellenville Reformed Church at 10:30 a.m.

The Wallkill Senior Citizens will go to Paramus, N. J., Aug. 8. They will leave from the Southern Ulster Family Service Center, the Reformed Church, at 10 a.m.

These trips were planned by the various community organizers and Senior Citizens leaders under the direction of John DeBernado, summer recreation director of the Ulster Community Action Committee Inc.

Credit Youth With Averting Major Fire

Paul Brice reportedly noticed smoke pouring from the bedroom window of a rented home on Country Club Drive in the Town of Ulster development at approximately 7 p. m. last night. The lad broke through the window with his hands and partially doused the blaze with a garden hose.

Firemen from the Mt. Marion-Ruby Fire Company responded to an alarm sent in by a neighbor at 7:18 p. m. They broke into the unoccupied home and extinguished the blaze completely. One unit from the Ulster Hose Co. was called in to assist in the operations.

The blaze was restricted to the bedroom, with minor smoke damage reported. The fire apparently started in a mattress. Fire officials speculated that, had the youth not acted as quickly, the fire could have spread to other areas of the home.

DIED

CLODIUS — Lucy, of Wall Street, West Hurley, N. Y., on August 2, 1968. Wife of H. Ted; stepmother of Mrs. George Lutzel of Greenwich, Conn., and Mr. Richard Clodius of Anaheim, Calif.; aunt of Mrs. Paul Bicnell and Mrs. William Jenner of Massena, N. Y. Also survived by seven grandchildren.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our father, Henry Grube, who passed away August 3, 1967.
Gone, dear father, gone forever;
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place.
A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still,
But death has left a loneliness

Tokyo Bank Branch Rocked by Explosion

NEW YORK (UPI)—A bomb exploded at a branch of the Bank of Tokyo housed in the Waldorf Astoria Hotel on Park Avenue early today, jarring hotel guests from their sleep.

The blast was believed to be the 17th in a series of bombings across the nation directed at diplomatic, tourist or business facilities of nations that trade with Cuba. In addition, another blast damaged the offices of a magazine that published Cuban guerrilla Ernesto "Che" Guevara's diary. All the bombings were attributed to anti-Castro terrorists.

No one was injured in the 3 a.m., blast which exploded with such force that it blew out two plate glass windows in the offices of Trans World Airlines across 49th Street. The Waldorf is located on Park Avenue between 49th and 50th streets.

Guests at the Waldorf flooded the hotel switchboard with calls after the blast. They were assured by hotel officials they were in no danger.

Ten of the previous bombings were in New York, six were in Los Angeles and two in Chicago.

The blast in the ground floor of the 42-story hotel building blew out three windows and a doorway of the bank but damage inside was insignificant.

Hotel security officer Donald Lipscomb said the building shook when the bomb went off. The guard, who was in Vietnam, said, "It was like artillery going off in the mountains."

Another hotel guard, James C. Brewton, said he checked the bank office only minutes before the explosion but saw nothing unusual.

As in the previous explosions in New York and the other cities, the bomber escaped before the device detonated. Police had no suspects and would not comment on the type of bomb pending a full investigation.

Two Arrested For Burglary

Two Hyde Park teenagers were arrested by State Troopers early this morning for the attempted burglary of the Dutchess County township's Grand Union Supermarket.

Joseph Albano, 18, and Emmett Griffin, 19, were picked up at the supermarket at 1:30 a. m.

Rhinebeck State Police claimed the pair were in possession of $47 in groceries.

Albano and Griffin were brought before Hyde Park Justice Harold Mangold and remanded to the Dutchess County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bail each.

Troopers NcNab and Riechelt were on routine patrol when they allegedly spotted the youth in the supermarket.

Charge Four Teenagers With Wiltwyck Break-In

Four Kingston teenagers were arrested Thursday afternoon and arraigned before Town of Ulster Justice Sherwood Davis in connection with the July 15 break-in and vandalism at Wiltwyck Country Club on Lucas Avenue Extension.

The County Sheriff's Department, in charge of the investigation listed those arrested:

Francis J. Humphrey, 16, of RD 1, Box 458, Kingston; William R. Loughran, 16, of 36 Liberty Street; Gary Lukaszewski, 17, of 39 Taylor Street, and James B. Ward, 16, of 454 Washington Avenue, all this city.

The four were charged with criminal mischief, third degree, at arraignment 3:50 p. m. Thursday and Judge Davis adjourned the case until Tuesday, Aug. 6, at 7:30 p. m. at Lake Katrine Grange Hall. The four were released in their own recognizance.

Early July 15 sheriff's deputies broke up what appeared to be a wild party by intruders at the country club. Deputies Tuey and Miller, dispatched to the scene, found some of the golf carts on the green as though a race had been in progress. The golf cart shed had been forcibly entered.

Full and empty beer cans were found all over the premises, even at the bottom of the nine-foot deep pool. Deputy Miller at the time said other parts of the country club complex were forcibly entered and items inside disturbed.

Entry was gained into the upstairs bar by breaking the glass door. Cabinets were forced and a grey cash box opened.

Poughkeepsie GI Killed in Viet; 24 for Dutchess

Dutchess County recorded its 24th Vietnam fatality with the death of 19-year old PFC Richard H. McKinney. The soldier died of gunshot wounds in Vietnam last Tuesday.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie K. McKinney of 117 Smith St., Poughkeepsie. PFC McKinney attended Poughkeepsie High School and enlisted in the Airborne Infantry last September. He was sent to Vietnam this April.

Three Deny Supporting Humphrey

The names of three New Paltz Democratic committeemen were inadvertently added to a list of 11 who, during the last week of July, came out in support of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the presidency.

Harold King, Mildred Hague and Sylvester Bruno reportedly did not sign a statement of support for the slate of delegates committed to Humphrey.

The 11 names which did appear on the statement were: Eric Winkky, Lillian Schreiber, Harriet Allen Kerr, Frederick L. Brough, W. R. Jansen, John Shand, James E. McLaughlin, Edna L. Branigan, Jedd S. Reisner, John M. Logan and Frank J. Donahue.

In defining their position, the committeemen, with the exception of King, Bruno and Hague, said they support Joseph Y. Resnick, Roy Guarino and Thomas Quinn as delegates to the national convention.

King, speaking only for himself, told The Freeman that he is a former supporter of the late Robert F. Kennedy and that he now supports Sen. Eugene McCarthy.

He said that even if Humphrey were nominated, he could not support him unless he revised his policy on Vietnam.

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

The County Legislature's Tax Base Study Committee in a report to be filed at Thursday's Legislature meeting will recommend that a tax map program for the county is urgently needed and should not be delayed.

Committee Chairman Clarence Raichle, R-Kingston said that although a resolution will be offered to the Legislature to authorize the establishment of an official county tax map by the end of the year, the map will actually take 24 months to three years to complete.

The committee has been interviewing three tax mapping firms who are interested in doing the work. There is one more to be interviewed by the committee on Wednesday.

The report is the result of several months of intensive study and Chairman Raichle highly commended the committee for its diligence in moving the project forward.

The Tax Base Study Committee, the County Planning Board director and the county attorney have been conducting the interviews with the tax mapping firms. It is expected that soon after Wednesday a general meeting will be held with several county department officials to review various details of the project.

Behind Other Counties

Raichle said Ulster County is far behind many of the neighboring counties and other rural counties in the state who have completed their equalization program and now tax on a uniform basis.

The Kingston legislator said the program is urgently needed because the cost of education is rising every year along with costs of other county services. He said county growth is hampered by the present method of taxing.

The committee received strong support from Kingston Common Council, Ulster County School Board Association, county realtors, Kingston Consolidated School District, Saugerties Central School District, Onteora School District, Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, County Assessors Association and many others.

The tax mapping project was first discussed in 1962 and proposed by John Quimby, minority leader at that time. The project was under study by Raichle from 1964 to 1966 and now the Tax Base Study Committee is following the suggestion of Resolution 117 introduced this year by Legislators Paul Brasier and Richard Thornton of Saugerties; William F. Edelmuth and Orrie R. Riehl of Kingston and Minority Leader Roger W. Mabie of the 7th District, all Democrats.

Other Members

The current Tax Base Study Committee in addition to Raichle includes Melvin Mones, R-Kingston; Richard D. Nace, R-2nd District; C. Freeman Lasher, R-Saugerties; Philip H. Davis, R-11th District, Riehl, and Ernest J. Gardner, R-11th District.

Riehl, Nace, and Davis went to Putnam County recently to learn how the program was working in that neighboring county. Other neighboring counties that are operating under a tax map program include Orange, Dutchess and Sullivan Counties.

When the matter was first brought to the attention of the County Board of Supervisors last year the cost of tax mapping and reappraisal of all properties in the county was estimated at nearly $1 million.

Name Rylance To GOP Post In 12th Ward

Innocent Is Plea By Sirhan in Court

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The man accused of assassinating Sen. Robert F. Kennedy before two dozen witnesses has followed a time tested rule of criminal defense—never plead guilty.

Cool and occasionally smiling during a 22-minute court appearance Friday, Sirhan B. Sirhan said "not guilty" in a clear firm voice to answer the charge of fatally shooting the brother of the late president.

Superior Court Judge Richard B. Schauer set the 24-year-old Jordanian's trial for Nov. 1. Sirhan was ordered to return to his heavily fortified "private courtroom" in the hall of Justice Oct. 4, when Schauer appoints a judge for the trial.

Sirhan's attorney, Russell B. Parsons, did not have his client enter a plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity" as many observers had expected. However, the attorney kept open his option to offer such a plea at a later time.

In a news conference following the hearing, Parsons indicated he will try to show the former race track exercise boy was not guilty of premeditation or malice in shooting the New York senator the night of Kennedy's victory in the California presidential primary.

"This defense will permit us to show the what and why of the case," the attorney said. "Those are the real issues. If this is the man, did he do it? What prompted him? Why did he do it? Is he responsible?"

California law defines first degree murder—which carries the death penalty—as murder committed "with malice aforethought." If Parsons can show the crime was not premeditated, a jury might find Sirhan guilty of second degree murder, carrying a sentence of five years to life. If the attorney could prove lack of malice, it would open the door to a manslaughter conviction. The sentence for that is 1 to 5 years.

Parsons hinted he may bring up Sirhan's early life in his war-torn native Jordan at the trial. "It may be necessary to take depositions in the old country," the attorney said.

Sirhan's mother, Mrs. Mary Sirhan, and his three brothers, Adel, Sharif and Saidallah were present in the courtroom. Sirhan gave no sign he was aware of their presence.

At times during the session he reached out and grasped Parsons' hand. The attorney said Sirhan did this "because he relies on me, looks on me as an adviser."

Parsons had Sirhan examined by two court-appointed defense psychiatrists. The lawyer said his failure to enter an insanity plea Friday had nothing to do with the reports they had given him. Electric tests of Sirhan's brain waves requested by Parsons still have not been carried out.

Asked whether Sirhan would have objected to an insanity plea Parsons replied: "He listens to me and accepts my advice."

Parsons said he is considering the possibility of aruging that Sirhan suffered from diminished mental facilities, without actually being insame.

It was the first time since 1962 that any major producer had tried an across-the-board increase.

That was the year that U.S. Steel led the way in a round of hikes that unleashed unprecedented presidential wrath. The industry finally rolled back the increases after President John F. Kennedy issued a scathing public denunciation and curbed government purchases of steel.

Only once since he became President has Johnson lost a price tussle with a major industry. That was steel's 1967 selective round which stuck despite repeated White House denunciation.

Big increases in copper and aluminum were rolled back in 1965 when the government started to dump its stockpiles of those metals on the open market. There are no such stock piles of steel.

Wallkill Escapee Caught in New York

A 29-year-old convict who had escaped from Wallkill Prison six days ago, surrendered to authorities in New York City last night.

Antonio Diaz, who would have been eligible for parole in February prior to his escape last Sunday, walked into the Division of Parole Office at 11 Gold Street in Manhattan at about 9 p. m.

The escapee, who had been ordered to the Wallkill prison last March after being convicted of car theft, had contacted the law enforcement authorities prior to last night's surrender.

Through telephone calls, Diaz informed authorities that he intended to give himself up and last night's surrender was the culmination of those contacts.

Warden McKendrick told The Freeman that Diaz had escaped primarily to see his wife and child.

He was returned to the prison and is currently under "close custody," according to the prison's top administrator.

Diaz ran away from a farm detail on the morning of July 28. The area, on prison property, is characterized by farm lands surrounded by woods and thick shrubbery.

After it was learned that Diaz had escaped, an all-points alarm was sent out to law enforcement agencies in the vicinity and the manhunt was on.

Road blocks were set up throughout Ulster County and surrounding counties.

According to the warden, earlier reports that Diaz was picked up by someone in a white car were probably false.

"We now have doubts," about the pickup, McKendrick said.

The warden also declared that, at present, law enforcement authorities, "are not absolutely certain" how Diaz got to New York City.

Diaz was not considered dangerous and Warden McKendrick said the prisoner's conduct, while at Wallkill, was "average."

The convict did not have any vocational skill, although he was learning dairy farming while at prison, McKendrick stated.

The state prison's executive officer said that Diaz "will lose some good time," as far as parole is concerned, and although "we don't know what the court will do," the warden was "sure" some time would be added to Diaz's sentence.

CAC Provides Busing for 'Senior' Trips

The Advisory Board of the Health and Aging Committee of the Ulster County Community Action Committee Inc. has announced that the various senior citizens groups are being provided with buses so that they may have trips for their annual picnics. The Mid-Hudson Valley Senior Citizens Group went to Norrie State Park on July 15. Approximately 15 members attended.

The Saugerties Senior Citizens Group will be going to North Lake on August 22. They will leave the Reformed Church at 10 a.m.

The Martin Luther King Senior Citizens Group of Rondout will go to the Catskill Game Farm Aug. 15. They will leave from the Rondout Neighborhood Center at 10 a.m.

The Ellenville Senior Citizens Group will go to Lake Minnewaska Aug. 6. They will leave from in front of the Ellenville Reformed Church at 10:30 a.m.

The Wallkill Senior Citizens will go to Paramus, N. J., Aug. 8. They will leave from the Southern Ulster Family Service Center, the Reformed Church, at 10 a.m.

These trips were planned by the various community organizers and Senior Citizens leaders under the direction of John DeBernado, summer recreation director of the Ulster Community Action Committee Inc.

Two Kingstonians Hurt in T-Way Crash

Two Kingston residents were injured when their auto struck the rear of a tractor-trailer truck on the Thruway near Newburgh last night.

Newburgh State Police report that Ralph Door, 27, and Judy A. Peterson, 18, both of Millers Lane Extension, were traveling north on the Thruway when their auto ran underneath the rear end of a flat-bed tractor-trailer operated by Fred Farda, 58, of Utica. Police estimate that the car was dragged for more than two-tenths of a mile before the operator of the truck was able to stop.

Both Kingston residents were taken to St. Lukes Hospital in Newburgh with cerebral concussions. In addition, Door suffered from multiple contussions of the face. They were reported in satisfactory condition at the hospital this morning. Farda was not injured.

Authorities reported three other accidents on highways in Ulster and Dutchess Counties yesterday and today.

State Police from the Lake Katrine sub-station report that at approximately 5 a. m. Friday morning Walter W. Koozer, 16, of 627 Burns Avenue, Indiana, Pa. was traveling south on Route 375, one mile north of Route 28 in the Town of Hurley when he fell asleep at the wheel of his auto. The car left the west shoulder of the road while rounding a sharp curve and came to rest in a ditch. Koozer, who was not injured, was issued a summons by State Police for operating with a junior license after dark.

At 10:20 p. m. last night Ellenville State Police investigated a two car crash on Country Club Road in the Village of Ellenville. Umberto Gonzales of Oak Ridge Road, Ellenville was traveling north on Country Club Road when he attempted to pass an auto operated by Steven Telbie of 1211 East 54th Street, Brooklyn on a sharp curve. Gonzalez swerved back into the right lane to avoid a car traveling in the southbound lane and was struck in the right side and rear by the Telbie vehicle. No injuries were reported. Telbie was issued a summons for driving with unsafe tires.

A minor accident in Dutchess County early this morning resulted in hand and leg injuries to Lawrence Walter, 20, of Rhinebeck. According to police, Walter was traveling east on Montgomery Street in the Town of Rhinebeck when he swerved to avoid an animal crossing the road. The auto left the highway and struck a utility pole. Walter was treated at Northern Dutchess Hospital and later released.

Credit Youth With Averting Major Fire

Quick thinking on the part of a Mt. Marion youth yesterday averted what could have been a major house fire in Mt. Marion Park.

Paul Brice reportedly noticed smoke pouring from the bedroom window of a rented home on Country Club Drive in the Town of Ulster development at approximately 7 p. m. last night. The lad broke through the window with his hands and partially doused the blaze with a garden hose.

Firemen from the Mt. Marion-Ruby Fire Company responded to an alarm sent in by a neighbor at 7:18 p. m. They broke into the unoccupied home and extinguished the blaze completely. One unit from the Ulster Hose Co. was called in to assist in the operations.

The blaze was restricted to the bedroom, with minor smoke damage reported. The fire apparently started in a mattress. Fire officials speculated that, had the youth not acted as quickly, the fire could have spread to other areas of the home.

DIED

CLODIUS — Lucy, of Wall Street, West Hurley, N. Y., on August 2, 1968. Wife of H. Ted; stepmother of Mrs. George Lutzel of Greenwich, Conn., and Mr. Richard Clodius of Anaheim, Calif.; aunt of Mrs. Paul Bicnell and Mrs. William Jenner of Massena, N. Y. Also survived by seven grandchildren.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our father, Henry Grube, who passed away August 3, 1967.

Gone, dear father, gone forever;
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place.

A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still,
But death has left a loneliness

Tokyo Bank Branch Rocked by Explosion

NEW YORK (UPI)—A bomb exploded at a branch of the Bank of Tokyo housed in the Waldorf Astoria Hotel on Park Avenue early today, jarring hotel guests from their sleep.

The blast was believed to be the 17th in a series of bombings across the nation directed at diplomatic, tourist or business facilities of nations that trade with Cuba. In addition, another blast damaged the offices of a magazine that published Cuban guerrilla Ernesto "Che" Guevara's diary. All the bombings were attributed to anti-Castro terrorists.

No one was injured in the 3 a.m., blast which exploded with such force that it blew out two plate glass windows in the offices of Trans World Airlines across 49th Street. The Waldorf is located on Park Avenue between 49th and 50th streets.

Guests at the Waldorf flooded the hotel switchboard with calls after the blast. They were assured by hotel officials they were in no danger.

Ten of the previous bombings were in New York, six were in Los Angeles and two in Chicago.

The blast in the ground floor of the 42-story hotel building blew out three windows and a doorway of the bank but damage inside was insignificant.

Hotel security officer Donald Lipscomb said the building shook when the bomb went off. The guard, who was in Vietnam, said, "It was like artillery going off in the mountains."

Another hotel guard, James C. Brewton, said he checked the bank office only minutes before the explosion but saw nothing unusual.

As in the previous explosions in New York and the other cities, the bomber escaped before the device detonated. Police had no suspects and would not comment on the type of bomb pending a full investigation.

Two Arrested For Burglary

Two Hyde Park teenagers were arrested by State Troopers early this morning for the attempted burglary of the Dutchess County township's Grand Union Supermarket.

Joseph Albano, 18, and Emmett Griffin, 19, were picked up at the supermarket at 1:30 a. m.

Rhinebeck State Police claimed the pair were in possession of $47 in groceries.

Albano and Griffin were brought before Hyde Park Justice Harold Mangold and remanded to the Dutchess County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bail each.

Troopers NcNab and Riechelt were on routine patrol when they allegedly spotted the youth in the supermarket.

Charge Four Teenagers With Wiltwyck Break-In

Four Kingston teenagers were arrested Thursday afternoon and arraigned before Town of Ulster Justice Sherwood Davis in connection with the July 15 break-in and vandalism at Wiltwyck Country Club on Lucas Avenue Extension.

The County Sheriff's Department, in charge of the investigation listed those arrested:

The four were charged with criminal mischief, third degree, at arraignment 3:50 p. m. Thursday and Judge Davis adjourned the case until Tuesday, Aug. 6, at 7:30 p. m. at Lake Katrine Grange Hall. The four were released in their own recognizance.

Early July 15 sheriff's deputies broke up what appeared to be a wild party by intruders at the country club. Deputies Tuey and Miller, dispatched to the scene, found some of the golf carts on the green as though a race had been in progress. The golf cart shed had been forcibly entered.

Full and empty beer cans were found all over the premises, even at the bottom of the nine-foot deep pool. Deputy Miller at the time said other parts of the country club complex were forcibly entered and items inside disturbed.

Entry was gained into the upstairs bar by breaking the glass door. Cabinets were forced and a grey cash box opened.

Dutchess County recorded its 24th Vietnam fatality with the death of 19-year old PFC Richard H. McKinney. The soldier died of gunshot wounds in Vietnam last Tuesday.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie K. McKinney of 117 Smith St., Poughkeepsie. PFC McKinney attended Poughkeepsie High School and enlisted in the Airborne Infantry last September. He was sent to Vietnam this April.

Three Deny Supporting Humphrey

The names of three New Paltz Democratic committeemen were inadvertently added to a list of 11 who, during the last week of July, came out in support of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the presidency.

Harold King, Mildred Hague and Sylvester Bruno reportedly did not sign a statement of support for the slate of delegates committed to Humphrey.

The 11 names which did appear on the statement were: Eric Winkky, Lillian Schreiber, Harriet Allen Kerr, Frederick L. Brough, W. R. Jansen, John Shand, James E. McLaughlin, Edna L. Branigan, Jedd S. Reisner, John M. Logan and Frank J. Donahue.

In defining their position, the committeemen, with the exception of King, Bruno and Hague, said they support Joseph Y. Resnick, Roy Guarino and Thomas Quinn as delegates to the national convention.

King, speaking only for himself, told The Freeman that he is a former supporter of the late Robert F. Kennedy and that he now supports Sen. Eugene McCarthy.

He said that even if Humphrey were nominated, he could not support him unless he revised his policy on Vietnam.

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

The County Legislature's Tax Base Study Committee in a report to be filed at Thursday's Legislature meeting will recommend that a tax map program for the county is urgently needed and should not be delayed.

Committee Chairman Clarence Raichle, R-Kingston said that although a resolution will be offered to the Legislature to authorize the establishment of an official county tax map by the end of the year, the map will actually take 24 months to three years to complete.

The committee has been interviewing three tax mapping firms who are interested in doing the work. There is one more to be interviewed by the committee on Wednesday.

The report is the result of several months of intensive study and Chairman Raichle highly commended the committee for its diligence in moving the project forward.

The Tax Base Study Committee, the County Planning Board director and the county attorney have been conducting the interviews with the tax mapping firms. It is expected that soon after Wednesday a general meeting will be held with several county department officials to review various details of the project.

Behind Other Counties

Raichle said Ulster County is far behind many of the neighboring counties and other rural counties in the state who have completed their equalization program and now tax on a uniform basis.

The Kingston legislator said the program is urgently needed because the cost of education is rising every year along with costs of other county services. He said county growth is hampered by the present method of taxing.

The committee received strong support from Kingston Common Council, Ulster County School Board Association, county realtors, Kingston Consolidated School District, Saugerties Central School District, Onteora School District, Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, County Assessors Association and many others.

The tax mapping project was first discussed in 1962 and proposed by John Quimby, minority leader at that time. The project was under study by Raichle from 1964 to 1966 and now the Tax Base Study Committee is following the suggestion of Resolution 117 introduced this year by Legislators Paul Brasier and Richard Thornton of Saugerties; William F. Edelmuth and Orrie R. Riehl of Kingston and Minority Leader Roger W. Mabie of the 7th District, all Democrats.

Other Members

The current Tax Base Study Committee in addition to Raichle includes Melvin Mones, R-Kingston; Richard D. Nace, R-2nd District; C. Freeman Lasher, R-Saugerties; Philip H. Davis, R-11th District, Riehl, and Ernest J. Gardner, R-11th District.

Riehl, Nace, and Davis went to Putnam County recently to learn how the program was working in that neighboring county. Other neighboring counties that are operating under a tax map program include Orange, Dutchess and Sullivan Counties.

When the matter was first brought to the attention of the County Board of Supervisors last year the cost of tax mapping and reappraisal of all properties in the county was estimated at nearly $1 million.

Rems-Gornall Wedding Told

MRS. WILLIAM M. GORNALL

Miss Diane Evangeline Rems of Hartford, Conn., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Rems of Blue Mountain, Saugerties, became the bride of William Milton Gornall of Meridan, Conn., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gornall of Taunton, Mass., on Saturday, July 27, at First Congregational Church, Meridan ,Conn.
Meridan, Conn.
officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Craw provided traditional wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line gown of organza and lace, featuring a floor length train. An illusion fingertip veil was held by a crown of seeded pearls and crystals. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis with cymbidium orchids.

Miss Ellen Gornall of Taunton, Mass., sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. Her pink organza and lace gown was styled in the A-line fashion and she carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds and snapdragons.

The bride is a graduate of John Adams High School, South Ozone Park, L. I., and was employed as secretary at Kamam Aircraft Corp., Bloomfield, Conn. Her husband is associated in his own tool and die engraving business in Hartford, Conn.

The couple will reside at Meridan, Conn.

Perfect Gift Ideas For Hostess Who Entertains Often

Not only can she brew an almost inexhaustible supply of delicious coffee for an adult crowd, but it comes in handy for dispensing iced drinks or cocoa for the kids.

Both are cored of heavy guage steel for durability and superior heat transference and sheathed in tough, satin-smooth ceramic for ease of cleaning.

The engagement of Sandra S. Myers to Mark N. Sanborn of Kingston, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clark W. Myers of 408 Foxhall Avenue, Kingston.

The bride-elect is a 1966 graduate of Kingston High School and a 1968 graduate of Ulster County Community College. He is a member of the U. S. Army Reserve and is employed by Family Cleaners and Tailors, Town of Ulster.

Wedding Announced

The New Hackensack Reformed Church, Wappingers Falls, was the scene of the marriage of Miss Deborah Jean Trinkle to Stanley Paul Hirsch on Saturday, July 20. The Rev. Dr. E. Clay Frye officated at the double ring ceremony. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William P. Trinkle, Vandewater Drive, Wappingers Falls, formerly of Port Ewen, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hirsch, 100 Del Balso Boulevard, Wappingers Falls.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Mrs. J. Kim Johnson as matron of honor. The other bridal attendants were Mrs. Frederick Becker Jr. and Miss Anne Windheim, both of Wappingers Falls, and Miss Rita Horvers of Port Ewen.

Michael Hirsch, Wappingers Falls, was best man for his brother. The ushers included Frederick Becker Jr., and Larry Summers, both of Wappingers Falls, and Terry Trinkle, brother of the bride.

A reception was held at Emil's Restaurant, Fishkill. After a wedding trip to the Poconos, the couple will reside in Hudson View Apartments.

The bride, a graduate of Roy C. Ketcham High School, is employed as a senior typist at the Dutchess County Department of Social Services.

The bridegroom also a graduate of Roy C. Ketcham High School, served two years in the U. S. Navy. He received his degree and FCC license from the Career Academy of Broadcasting, Milwaukee, Wis., and is employed by Beneficial Finance System.

Watch the Frost Line, Ladies

The Department of the Interior's Bureau of Commercial Fisheries has offered the following rules to keep in mind when shopping for frozen fishery products:

Take only those packages which are solidly frozen.

Check for "drip," or ice on the package, which may indicate that the contents have thawed and been re-frozen.

In the case of cello-wrap, packages, check for discoloration or other signs of freezer burn.

Buying Tips

When buying cookware consider two things—the heat conductivity of the utensil's base material and smoothness of its inner surface for ease of cleaning. Your best bet is heavy gauge steel with satin-smooth ceramic interiors.

CHARLES C. FOX of 39 Downs Street, this city, was guest of honor recently at a party celebrating his 90th birthday on Monday, July 29. Mr. Fox is married to the former Florence Hinkley and has a stepson, Kenneth Kennedy and four grandchildren. He has been retired for 10 years from the Kingston Water Department. Many relatives and friends attended the event. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

St. Coleman's Group Plan August Dance

The regular monthly meeting of St. Coleman's Altar-Rosary Society was held Tuesday evening, July 30, at which time final plans were made for the annual fund raising event scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 17, at East Kingston firehouse. There will be no admission and refreshments will be available.

At the meeting the Rev. John E. Ward, chaplain and moderator, expressed his gratitude for the Society's assistance during the past years. Father Ward will leave soon to assume duties as pastor of a church in Stapleton, S. I.

FASHION'S BAG

The small bag is still the big bag of fashion, but it's roomier, chunkier, squattier to accommodate all the essentials. The new trend to softness is apparent in mellow, glowing antique leathers with two-tone shadings; in ouchy shapes; in strap handles that are often narrowed or tapered for a daintier look. Tortoise appears in handles, locks and shell ornamentation.

Judith Whitaker Is Bride-Elect

JUDITH ANNE WHITAKER

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Whitaker of 7 Myer Lane, Saugerties, announce the engagement of their daughter, Judith Ann, to Richard G. Mletzko, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mletzko of Flatbush Road, Saugerties.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Saugerties High School. Her fiance was graduated from New York Military Academy, Cornwall-on-the-Hudson.

Former Resident Weds Californian

Announcement was made today of the summer wedding of Miss Jeannette Stein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stein of 291 Washington Avenue, Kingston, to Richard Carleton Meeker, son of Mrs. Perry Gill of Lido Isle, Newport Beach, Calif. The wedding took place at the Highland Inn Wedding Chapel at Carmel, Calif. The Rev. James Spaid officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length Empire gown of re-embroidered lace with chapel train. It was styled with long pointed sleeves and a jewel neckline, enhanced by a single strand of pearls, her wedding gift from the bridegroom. Satin blossoms and seed pearls formed the headpiece which held her butterfly veil of French silk illusion. With her bouquet of butterfly orchids and English ivy, the bride carried an heirloom lace handkerchief.

Miss Paula K. Vaught of New York was maid of honor. Her full length turquoise frock featured short sleeves and an Empire waist. A bow and streamers of turquoise velvet served as her headpiece and she carried white carnations and English ivy.

The couple went to Canada on their wedding trip.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and State University of New York at Oneonta. She received her Master's degree at the University of Michigan and had been a member of the faculty at Onteora Central School. She is employed now as a consumer services representative at Schilling Division McCormick and Company Inc., Salinas, Calif.

Her husband was graduated from Los Angeles State College and is employed as sales manager at KSBW-TV in Salinas, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Meeker will reside at 1035 University Avenue, Salinas.

GERMS ARE KEPT AT HOME

Dear Mrs. Post: Don't you think it the height of ignorance for people who have colds to pay visits, spreading their germs all over the house? I have often had neighbors come and visit me with heavy colds, saying they were feeling so miserable they had to get out and get their minds off themselves.

—Disgusted

Dear Disgusted: I thoroughly agree with you. Cold sufferers should keep their misery to themselves. If they must be among people, they should keep the germs well muffled behind a handkerchief. To spread their cold just because they can't stand "waiting it out" alone, is the height of selfishness.

Family Pictures in Office

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it in good taste for a man to display pictures of his wife and children on his desk, in a business office?

—Winnie

Dear Winnie: If a man has a private office, there is no reason why he should not have photographs of his wife and children on it. But if it is one of numerous other desks in a general office, it is better to keep it bare of photographs, or any other non-utilitarian articles.

Tipping Doormen and Bellboys

Dear Mrs. Post: When I arrive at a hotel and the doorman takes my suitcase from the taxi to the desk, do I tip him or just the bellboy who carries my bags to the room?

—Janice

Dear Janice: Very definitely you tip the bellboy and possibly the doorman too if he carries your bags any distance. You don't need to give him anything if he just puts your bags on the sidewalk beside the entrance.

Whom do you tip? When and how much? You will find the answers to these questions in my booklet, "The Etiquette of Tipping." To get a copy, send twenty-five cents in coin to cover booklet and mailing expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this newspaper.

MATCH MAKE-UP TO FACE

If yours is a round face, avoid highly arched eyebrows and the round eyed look. Instead, concentrate mascara on your outer lashes and pluck beneath your brows for a short, straight brow line. For a square face, keep eyebrows and lipline rounded. For an oblong face, avoid peeked or droopy brows and a pointed bow mouth. Chin long? Draw lower lip to look as full as possible. The right hairdo can also balance face shapes and compensate for imperfect features.

Rems-Gornall Wedding Told

MRS. WILLIAM M. GORNALL

Miss Diane Evangeline Rems of Hartford, Conn., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Rems of Blue Mountain, Saugerties, became the bride of William Milton Gornall of Meridan, Conn., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gornall of Taunton, Mass., on Saturday, July 27, at First Congregational Church, Meridan ,Conn.
Meridan, Conn.
officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Craw provided traditional wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line gown of organza and lace, featuring a floor length train. An illusion fingertip veil was held by a crown of seeded pearls and crystals. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis with cymbidium orchids.

Miss Ellen Gornall of Taunton, Mass., sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. Her pink organza and lace gown was styled in the A-line fashion and she carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds and snapdragons.

The bride is a graduate of John Adams High School, South Ozone Park, L. I., and was employed as secretary at Kamam Aircraft Corp., Bloomfield, Conn. Her husband is associated in his own tool and die engraving business in Hartford, Conn.

The couple will reside at Meridan, Conn.

Perfect Gift Ideas For Hostess Who Entertains Often

Not only can she brew an almost inexhaustible supply of delicious coffee for an adult crowd, but it comes in handy for dispensing iced drinks or cocoa for the kids.

Both are cored of heavy guage steel for durability and superior heat transference and sheathed in tough, satin-smooth ceramic for ease of cleaning.

Fashion Shows, Fun at State Fair

For those who like to "sing-along," each evening at 7 and 8 o'clock Carleton James will provide music on the Wurlitzer organ for a song-fest. This will be followed by a silent movie comedy also accompanied by Mr. James.

For the fashion conscious Fairgoer there are three opportunities to see what is new on the clothing scene. On Thursday, Aug. 29 at 3 and 4 p. m., a Wool Fashion Show is scheduled. The ensembles being shown are those of Junior and Senior district winners in the statewide "Make It Yourself With Wool Contest." The Annual State 4-H Dress Revue is set for Saturday, August 31, with showings at 12 noon, 1:30, 3 and 4:30 p. m. Finally there is the McCall's Patterns Fashion Show on Sunday and Monday, September 1 and 2. Many of the models for this show come straight from the pages of leading fashion magazines and will be showing at 2 and 4 p. m. All fashion shows will be accompanied by Luella Wickham at the organ.

A series of short films selected by Peter Bradley of the New York State Council on the Arts will be screened daily for the avid movie viewer and a historical exhibit of antique musical instruments will be on display in the Music Museum of the Art and Home Center.

For seven days and nights starting on August 27 and continuing through Labor Day, the Art and Home Center's auditorium program will offer entertainment designed to interest a varied audience of New York State Fairgoers.

"Recreation" — theme of the 1968 New York State Fair reflects the State's "wealth of parks, waterways, wildlife, historical sights, and cultural opportunities," as stated by Bernard W. Potter, State Fair Director.

The Art and Home Center of the State Fair under the direction of Mrs. Helen Vandervort has incorporated this theme into most of its 11 departments.

Recreation refreshments will be featured in the Creative Cooking Department this year. Each day a different type of party such as a touchdown party, swim party, skating and ski parties, will be judged.

For visitors to the Food Demonstration Kitchen a ski lodge decor will border the kitchen areas. The ski lodge area comes complete with fireplace, gas logs, and weathered barn sliding interior.

Sports outfit modeling will highlight the Home Arts Department. The outfits will be chosen from the sewing and knitting competitions offered by the department.

Recreation comes to the fore in its most active sense with the free round and square dances sponsored by the Senior Citizens Center. They will take place Saturday evening, August 31.

Recreation can also mean cultural opportunities and handiwork. This is shown in great bounty through the arts and crafts displays and competitions of the Senior Citizens Center and the Crafts Department.

SHAMPOO SUGGESTIONS

This sand-in-the-hair season brings to mind these special shampoo suggestions: Give the hair a brisk brushing with stiff bristles. Massage the scalp with olive or baby oil. Leave this on for 20-30 minutes. Shampoo with plenty of lather, rinse and then set.

Home-Fashions-Features

'Soul Food' Is Big Factor in Her Success

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Soul food and family devotion have kept Valerie Dickerson, age 21, of Riverside, Calif., on the upward track. Daughter of a retired Air Force lieutenant-colonel, she is a graduate of San Jose State College with honors in journalism, and now winner of the 14th National College Queen Pageant. Furthermore, the New York Times has awarded her a scholarship of $4,000 for study at the Columbia School of Journalism.

She is graceful, poised, well-dressed, alert and beautifully spoken. She is definitely going places. She is also black. Not Negro, not colored, but black, she insists.

"Discrimination? Oh, yes — lots of it during my life. Don't think that a military uniform shields a family from it," she says. "Maybe not outspoken hostility. But the unspoken kind still goes on. And at San Jose State the same thing. We organized a protest and the authorities tried to make things better for us."

She is the first Negro, the first "black girl," ever to win a major national competition for women. One college girl from each of the 50 states competed. She has lived with her military family in England, France, Hawaii and Tokyo. On the dean's list at San Jose, she broadcasts daily over the campus radio and was a feature writer for the college newspaper. Yet she admits to periods of bitterness, frustration and spiritual pain during her climb toward the top.

"The only solid things I had to hold on to were my family and my love of soul food," she admits. "My love for my mother and father and little brother—well, I never doubted them. Never."

As to soul food, Valerie says only a black person really knows what it means. "It's so much a part of our culture — we grew up on it — sweet potato pie, little pieces of fried chicken, chicken and dumplings, collard greens with ham hock—all highly spiritual food for us—all tied in with our lives and struggles and hours of happiness," she explains.

Her mother and grandmother taught her how to make sweet potato pie and how to bake bread when she was only 10. "At college I lived in an apartment with other girls. I baked bread once a week. They loved it and that was all the cooking I had to do. They did the rest."

Valerie served as congressional intern in the Washington office of Rep. J. V. Tunney of California. She also lived for a month in Bedford Stuyvesant ghetto of Brooklyn, N. Y., to learn first-hand the problems of her underprivileged sister and brothers.

"But their problems are so vast, so terrifying," reports this 21-year-old National College Queen who is also deeply involved in all Negro efforts to escape the ghetto. "Soul food and family love, they all need lots of that. But they need so much more," she pleads to all Americans.

FROZEN VEGETABLES GRILL EASILY

Frozen vegetables can be taken right from the wrappings without being thawed, put in foil with butter added, and cooked immediately on the charcoal grill.

Take a length of foil about the size of a breadboard. Put a good dab of butter on the center and then add your unwrapped block of frozen vegetables. Crumple up foil toward the top so it looks like a paper bag. The bag should be slightly open to let steam escape. Enough steam stays in to keep vegetables moist and juicy. Cook over low charcoal briquet heat or at the side of the fire to avoid scorching.

Fashion Shows, Fun at State Fair

For those who like to "sing-along," each evening at 7 and 8 o'clock Carleton James will provide music on the Wurlitzer organ for a song-fest. This will be followed by a silent movie comedy also accompanied by Mr. James.

For the fashion conscious Fairgoer there are three opportunities to see what is new on the clothing scene. On Thursday, Aug. 29 at 3 and 4 p. m., a Wool Fashion Show is scheduled. The ensembles being shown are those of Junior and Senior district winners in the statewide "Make It Yourself With Wool Contest." The Annual State 4-H Dress Revue is set for Saturday, August 31, with showings at 12 noon, 1:30, 3 and 4:30 p. m. Finally there is the McCall's Patterns Fashion Show on Sunday and Monday, September 1 and 2. Many of the models for this show come straight from the pages of leading fashion magazines and will be showing at 2 and 4 p. m. All fashion shows will be accompanied by Luella Wickham at the organ.

A series of short films selected by Peter Bradley of the New York State Council on the Arts will be screened daily for the avid movie viewer and a historical exhibit of antique musical instruments will be on display in the Music Museum of the Art and Home Center.

For seven days and nights starting on August 27 and continuing through Labor Day, the Art and Home Center's auditorium program will offer entertainment designed to interest a varied audience of New York State Fairgoers.

"Recreation" — theme of the 1968 New York State Fair reflects the State's "wealth of parks, waterways, wildlife, historical sights, and cultural opportunities," as stated by Bernard W. Potter, State Fair Director.

The Art and Home Center of the State Fair under the direction of Mrs. Helen Vandervort has incorporated this theme into most of its 11 departments.

Recreation refreshments will be featured in the Creative Cooking Department this year. Each day a different type of party such as a touchdown party, swim party, skating and ski parties, will be judged.

For visitors to the Food Demonstration Kitchen a ski lodge decor will border the kitchen areas. The ski lodge area comes complete with fireplace, gas logs, and weathered barn sliding interior.

Sports outfit modeling will highlight the Home Arts Department. The outfits will be chosen from the sewing and knitting competitions offered by the department.

Recreation comes to the fore in its most active sense with the free round and square dances sponsored by the Senior Citizens Center. They will take place Saturday evening, August 31.

Recreation can also mean cultural opportunities and handiwork. This is shown in great bounty through the arts and crafts displays and competitions of the Senior Citizens Center and the Crafts Department.

SHAMPOO SUGGESTIONS

This sand-in-the-hair season brings to mind these special shampoo suggestions: Give the hair a brisk brushing with stiff bristles. Massage the scalp with olive or baby oil. Leave this on for 20-30 minutes. Shampoo with plenty of lather, rinse and then set.

'Soul Food' Is Big Factor in Her Success

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Soul food and family devotion have kept Valerie Dickerson, age 21, of Riverside, Calif., on the upward track. Daughter of a retired Air Force lieutenant-colonel, she is a graduate of San Jose State College with honors in journalism, and now winner of the 14th National College Queen Pageant. Furthermore, the New York Times has awarded her a scholarship of $4,000 for study at the Columbia School of Journalism.

She is graceful, poised, well-dressed, alert and beautifully spoken. She is definitely going places. She is also black. Not Negro, not colored, but black, she insists.

"Discrimination? Oh, yes — lots of it during my life. Don't think that a military uniform shields a family from it," she says. "Maybe not outspoken hostility. But the unspoken kind still goes on. And at San Jose State the same thing. We organized a protest and the authorities tried to make things better for us."

She is the first Negro, the first "black girl," ever to win a major national competition for women. One college girl from each of the 50 states competed. She has lived with her military family in England, France, Hawaii and Tokyo. On the dean's list at San Jose, she broadcasts daily over the campus radio and was a feature writer for the college newspaper. Yet she admits to periods of bitterness, frustration and spiritual pain during her climb toward the top.

"The only solid things I had to hold on to were my family and my love of soul food," she admits. "My love for my mother and father and little brother—well, I never doubted them. Never."

As to soul food, Valerie says only a black person really knows what it means. "It's so much a part of our culture — we grew up on it — sweet potato pie, little pieces of fried chicken, chicken and dumplings, collard greens with ham hock—all highly spiritual food for us—all tied in with our lives and struggles and hours of happiness," she explains.

Her mother and grandmother taught her how to make sweet potato pie and how to bake bread when she was only 10. "At college I lived in an apartment with other girls, I baked bread once a week. They loved it and that was all the cooking I had to do. They did the rest."

Valerie served as congressional intern in the Washington office of Rep. J. V. Tunney of California. She also lived for a month in Bedford Stuyvesant ghetto of Brooklyn, N. Y., to learn first-hand the problems of her underprivileged sister and brothers.

"But their problems are so vast, so terrifying," reports this 21-year-old National College Queen who is also deeply involved in all Negro efforts to escape the ghetto. "Soul food and family love, they all need lots of that. But they need so much more," she pleads to all Americans.

Ron Thomas Fans 17 for Second Time

Braves Blank Comets, 4-0; All-Star Game Tonight

The former Wagner College and Kingston High ace turned in one of his superlative efforts last night as he blanked the Florida Comets, 1967 league champions, 4-0, at Dietz Stadium.

Thomas fanned 17 of a possible 21 batters last night for the second time this season. He had pin-point control, didn't issue a walk and rarely had more than two balls on a batter.

Fans 12 in Streak

During one streak of his gilt-edged victory over Florida's ace, Gary Dross, the Braves right-hander fanned 12 of 14 batters. A single and an error were interspersed in the streak.

Dross, who has two Rookie League no-hitters to his credit, allowed five hits, two by Mike Patrick, struck out eight and walked only one in the season's best pitching duel at Dietz Stadium.

Tonight, of course, is the All Star game starting at 8 p. m.

The victory was the 14th in 16 games for Manager Paul Giannuzzi's charges who now lead both divisions of the Hudson Valley Rookie League standings.

While he walked only one batter, Dross uncorked four wild pitches that figured in the Braves' scoring.

In the third inning, Jack Watzka walked, advanced on Dross's first wild pitch and scored on Ron Valle's single. Kingston went ahead 2-0 in the next frame when Glen Davis tripled to bank in left field and came home on a Dross wild heave.

The Braves closed out their scoring with a pair of runs in the sixth inning. A mixture of singles by Mike Patrick, his second of the game, and Chick Boice, an error, two more wild pitches by Dross, a passed ball and sacrifice fly by Jerry Hawkins accounted for the two runs.

Six Locals on Team

Six members of the Kingston Braves will be on the North Squad for the Hudson Valley Rookie League's annual All-Star game tonight at 8 o'clock at Dietz Stadium.

In addition to the game between all-star teams from the North and South divisions of the league, there will be cash prizes totalling $1,000 awarded during the contest.

Players on the North squad are selected from the Kingston Braves, Newburgh Atoms, Beacon Astros, Wappingers Falls Iona. The South teams are: Cornwall Missiles, Florida Comets, Middletown Explorers and New Windsor Rockets.

Bart Proves He's Perpetual Starr

By PETE ALFANO
UPI Sports Writer

Norm Van Brocklin's glittering array of College All-Stars had some bright moments Friday night, but they just couldn't outshine Green Bay's perpetual Starr.

The All-Stars scored for the first time in three years against the world champion Packers, but Bart Starr threw three touchdown passes to lead Green Bay to a 34-17 victory in the 35th annual charity game played at Chicago's Soldier Field, before a crowd of 69,917.

Van Brocklin, coaching the Stars for the first time, was disappointed in his team's inability to contain Starr—a feeling he experienced often as the former coach of the Minnesota Vikings.

"Our secondary let us down," the "Dutchman" said; "I don't understand it, we practiced well, but we didn't play well."

Dale Snags Three

Carroll Dale was Starr's favorite receiver as he caught all three touchdown tosses of 20, 36 and 13 yards.

Jerry Kramer of the Packers shattered an All-Star game record when he booted a 47-yard field goal midway through the fourth quarter, breaking the previous mark of 46 yards set in 1941 by Lee Artoe of the Chicago Bears.

Starr completed 10 of his first 12 passes and finished with 17 of 23 for 288 yards before leaving early in the fourth quarter.

The Chicago Bears meets the Dallas Cowboys at Canton, Ohio, the Baltimore Colts visit the Oakland Raiders in an interleague clash, the new Cincinnati Bengals play their first game when they host the Kansas City Chiefs and the San Francisco Forty Niners tangle with the San Diego Chargers at San Diego in another inter-league contest.

Bills Coach Joel Collier said Friday he is planning to trade veteran end Art Powell, holder of the American Football League career record for touchdown receptions with 81. A plentiful supply of good receivers, including rookies Haven Moses of San Diego State and Dick Trapp of Florida, was the reason Collier gave for placing the 31-year-old Powell on waivers and for sending him home.

An undetermined illness, affecting two dozen players and coaches forced the Denver Broncos to cancel Friday's workouts; Joe Namath and veteran Babe Parilli will share the quarterbacking duties tonight when the Jets hold an intrasquad game; St. Louis Coach Charlie Winner reported that Cardinals quarterback Charlie Johnson and linebacker Larry Stallings, both in the Army, "are looking good" and are expected to be available for weekend games this season, and Boston Patriots rookie John Breiten, a 6-foot-6, 240-pound defensive end, announced his retirement.

"Home" at Milwaukee Happiness for Chisox

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Happiness for the Chicago White Sox is a home game in Milwaukee. They still lose, but at least they make money doing it.

The Sox took their road show to Wisconsin for the seventh time this season Friday night, drew well again, and lost again.

This time the Washington Senators did the hatchet job, chopping up the Sox 11-6 before a crowd of 20,662 in County Stadium—once the home of the National League Braves.

Elsewhere in the American League Friday night, Detroit nipped Minnesota 6-5, Oakland dropped Cleveland 5-1, Baltimore beat New York 4-1 and California split a twi-night doubleheader with Boston, winning 3-2 before losing 6-1.

Howard Slams 31st

Frank Howard drove in three runs for the Senators with a double and his 31st homer of the year while Camilo Pascual coasted to his 10th victory behind the 15-hit Washington attack.

Three of the Senators hits were singles by Tim Cullen, traded to Washington by Chicago for Ron Hansen earlier Friday. Cullen drove in one run and scored another.

Hansen, who made an unassisted triple play and whacked a grand slam homer the week before the Senators unloaded him, had a single and a double, drove in a run and scored one for the White Sox.

Morris allowed just three hits in 6 1-3 innings of relief, the last two with two out in the ninth as he closed in on the victory. Eddie Watt came out of the bullpen to nail it down.

Powell Drills 19th

Powell's 19th homer gave the Orioles a three-run edge in the first inning.

Oakland captured its fourth straight and tagged Cleveland with its third straight loss and eighth in the last 11 games.

Anything Possible With Leo's Hot Hand

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

When a guy named Leo Durocher has a hot team, the impossible doesn't seem so difficult.

Durocher, no stranger to stretch runs, has the Chicago Cubs putting on quite a run that could wind up with the Cubs jumping from ninth place on July 13th to second place any day now.

First place? That's another story. The St. Louis Cardinals have a 14½-game lead and a 15-game lead over the Cubs.

The Cubs, who've won 21 of their last 28 games, stopped the Cards 3-0 Friday night on a two-hitter by Ken Holtzman to momentarily slow the cards' runaway.

Cubs Now Third

The Cubs were ninth on July 13th with a 41-47 mark and have played 15-5 ball since then for their current 56-52 record. But even though they've moved up the standings, they've only gained one-half game on the Cards.

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh topped San Francisco 3-1, New York nipped Los Angeles 3-2, Houston topped Philadelphia 4-3 and the Cincinnati-Atlanta game was rained out.

Holtzman Gets RBI

Holtzman, a native of St. Louis, helped his own cause when he singled in one of the three fifth-inning runs that beat Larry Jaster. Holtzman, who ran his scoreless string to 27 innings with his third consecutive shutout, followed singles by Randy Hundley, Jim Hickman and Adolo Phillips with a base hit that drove in the second run of the inning.

Houston rallied for two runs in the eighth to top the Phils. Jim Wynn singled and advanced on a sacrifice to start the rally. Doug Rader, who drove in an earlier run with a single, lofted a pop fly, ground-rule double and John Bateman then singled in the tie-breaking run.

Win 4-2 in 10 Innings

Legion Tops Athens, As Janes Whiffs 17

Kingston Post American Legion tossers had victory snatched from their grasp on a dramatic 2-run seventh inning homer, but battled until the 10th inning to score a brilliant 4-2 victory over Athens Post 187, in the opening round of the District Legion tournament Friday at Bleecker Stadium in Albany.

The locals led 2-0 from the first inning behind the sensational pitching of Charlie Janes, who twirled a 4-hitter and struck out 17 batters in the extra inning contest.

In the bottom of the seventh, Janes walked first baseman Warren Gritman and catcher Henry Betke followed with his home run to tie the score at 2-2 and send the game into extra innings.

Pitchers' Duel

Janes and John Wilhelm, the Athens pitcher who gave up six hits and fanned nine, battled scorelessly in the eighth and ninth before Kingston broke through.

Gary Short led off with a single and went to second on a passed ball. Short scored when the Athens shortstop threw past first base on Gary Schatzel's hard grounder. Vince Gorman was safe on a fielder's choice as Schatzel was knocked off.

Paul Watzka walked with two outs and Mike Weishaupt then delivered Gorman with a single for the insurance tally. Janes turned back Athens in order in the bottom of the 10th.

Score In First

Kingston struck early with two runs in the first inning before Janes and Wilhelm settled down to their scoreless duel.

Gart Schatzel led off with a single and both runners were safe on Mike Gorman's bunt on which Athens committed an error. Charlie Moore walked to load the bases. Wilhelm retired the next two batters but Rick Sorenson drilled a clean single to score Schatzel and Gorman. That's the way it stayed until the bottom of the seventh.

Kingston goes against Coeymans of Albany County tonight at 7:30.

Archer, Nichols Tie

CHICAGO (UPI)—Big George Archer, a two-time winner on the pro golf tour this year, eagled the final hole Friday to tie Bobby Nichols for the halfway lead in the $130,000 Western Open.

Archer shot a five under par 66, the same as Nichols, on the heavily wooded Olympia Fields course which stretched 6,749 yards with a par of 71. Nichols had finished his round more than three hours before Archer came in for the 136 total after 36 holes.

With Nicklaus at 137 were Miller Barber, Homero Blancas, Billy Maxwell, and Bob Stanton. Barber had a 70, Blancas and Maxwell 68's and Stanton a 67.

Ron Thomas Fans 17 for Second Time

Braves Blank Comets, 4-0; All-Star Game Tonight

The former Wagner College and Kingston High ace turned in one of his superlative efforts last night as he blanked the Florida Comets, 1967 league champions, 4-0, at Dietz Stadium.

Thomas fanned 17 of a possible 21 batters last night for the second time this season. He had pin-point control, didn't issue a walk and rarely had more than two balls on a batter.

Fans 12 in Streak

During one streak of his gilt-edged victory over Florida's ace, Gary Dross, the Braves right-hander fanned 12 of 14 batters. A single and an error were interspersed in the streak.

Dross, who has two Rookie League no-hitters to his credit, allowed five hits, two by Mike Patrick, struck out eight and walked only one in the season's best pitching duel at Dietz Stadium.

Tonight, of course, is the All Star game starting at 8 p. m.

The victory was the 14th in 16 games for Manager Paul Giannuzzi's charges who now lead both divisions of the Hudson Valley Rookie League standings.

While he walked only one batter, Dross uncorked four wild pitches that figured in the Braves' scoring.

In the third inning, Jack Watzka walked, advanced on Dross's first wild pitch and scored on Ron Valle's single. Kingston went ahead 2-0 in the next frame when Glen Davis tripled to bank in left field and came home on a Dross wild heave.

The Braves closed out their scoring with a pair of runs in the sixth inning. A mixture of singles by Mike Patrick, his second of the game, and Chick Boice, an error, two more wild pitches by Dross, a passed ball and sacrifice fly by Jerry Hawkins accounted for the two runs.

Six Locals on Team

Six members of the Kingston Braves will be on the North Squad for the Hudson Valley Rookie League's annual All-Star game tonight at 8 o'clock at Dietz Stadium.

In addition to the game between all-star teams from the North and South divisions of the league, there will be cash prizes totalling $1,000 awarded during the contest.

Players on the North squad are selected from the Kingston Braves, Newburgh Atoms, Beacon Astros, Wappingers Falls Iona. The South teams are: Cornwall Missiles, Florida Comets, Middletown Explorers and New Windsor Rockets.

By PETE ALFANO
UPI Sports Writer

Norm Van Brocklin's glittering array of College All-Stars had some bright moments Friday night, but they just couldn't outshine Green Bay's perpetual Starr.

The All-Stars scored for the first time in three years against the world champion Packers, but Bart Starr threw three touchdown passes to lead Green Bay to a 34-17 victory in the 35th annual charity game played at Chicago's Soldier Field, before a crowd of 69,917.

Van Brocklin, coaching the Stars for the first time, was disappointed in his team's inability to contain Starr—a feeling he experienced often as the former coach of the Minnesota Vikings.

"Our secondary let us down," the "Dutchman" said; "I don't understand it, we practiced well, but we didn't play well."

Dale Snags Three

Carroll Dale was Starr's favorite receiver as he caught all three touchdown tosses of 20, 36 and 13 yards.

Jerry Kramer of the Packers shattered an All-Star game record when he booted a 47-yard field goal midway through the fourth quarter, breaking the previous mark of 46 yards set in 1941 by Lee Artoe of the Chicago Bears.

Starr completed 10 of his first 12 passes and finished with 17 of 23 for 288-yards before leaving early in the fourth quarter.

The Chicago Bears meets the Dallas Cowboys at Canton, Ohio, the Baltimore Colts visit the Oakland Raiders in an inter-league clash, the new Cincinnati Bengals play their first game when they host the Kansas City Chiefs and the San Francisco Forty Niners tangle with the San Diego Chargers at San Diego in another inter-league contest.

Bills Coach Joel Collier said Friday he is planning to trade veteran end Art Powell, holder of the American Football League career record for touchdown receptions with 81. A plentiful supply of good re ceivers, including rookies Haven Moses of San Diego State and Dick Trapp of Florida, was the reason Collier gave for placing he 31-year-old Powell on aivers and for sending him ome.

An undetermined illness, affecting two dozen players and coaches forced the Denver Broncos to cancel Friday's workouts; Joe Namath and veteran Babe Parilli will share the quarterbacking duties tonight when the Jets hold an intrasquad game; St. Louis Coach Charlie Winner reported that Cardinals quarterback Charlie Johnson and linebacker Larry Stallings, both in the Army, "are looking good" and are expected to be available for weekend games this season, and Boston Patriots rookie John Breiten, a 6-foot-6, 240-pound defensive end, announced his retirement.

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Happiness for the Chicago White Sox is a home game in Milwaukee. They still lose, but at least they make money doing it.

The Sox took their road show to Wisconsin for the seventh time this season Friday night, drew well again, and lost again.

This time the Washington Senators did the hatchet job, chopping up the Sox 11-6 before a crowd of 20,662 in County Stadium—once the home of the National League Braves.

Elsewhere in the American League Friday night, Detroit nipped Minnesota 6-5, Oakland dropped Cleveland 5-1, Baltimore beat New York 4-1 and California split a twi-night doubleheader with Boston, winning 3-2 before losing 6-1.

Howard Slams 31st

Frank Howard drove in three runs for the Senators with a double and his 31st homer of the year while Camilo Pascual coasted to his 10th victory behind the 15-hit Washington attack.

Three of the Senators hits were singles by Tim Cullen, traded to Washington by Chicago for Ron Hansen earlier Friday. Cullen drove in one run and scored another.

Hansen, who made an unassisted triple play and whacked a grand slam homer the week before the Senators unloaded him, had a single and a double, drove in a run and scored one for the White Sox.

Morris allowed just three hits in 6 1-3 innings of relief, the last two with two out in the ninth as he closed in on the victory. Eddie Watt came out of the bullpen to nail it down.

Powell Drills 19th

Powell's 19th homer gave the Orioles a three-run edge in the first inning.

Oakland captured its fourth straight and tagged Cleveland with its third straight loss and eighth in the last 11 games.

Archer, Nichols Tie

CHICAGO (UPI)—Big George Archer, a two-time winner on the pro golf tour this year, eagled the final hole Friday to tie Bobby Nichols for the halfway lead in the $130,000 Western Open.

Archer shot a five under par 66, the same as Nichols, on the heavily wooded Olympia Fields course which stretched 6,749 yards with a par of 71. Nichols had finished his round more than three hours before Archer came in for the 136 total after 36 holes.

With Nicklaus at 137 were Miller Barber, Homero Blancas, Billy Maxwell, and Bob Stanton. Barber had a 70, Blancas and Maxwell 68's and Stanton a 67.

Tied for 3rd Place

Anything Possible With Leo's Hot Hand

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

When a guy named Leo Durocher has a hot team, the impossible doesn't seem so difficult.

Durocher, no stranger to stretch runs, has the Chicago Cubs putting on quite a run that could wind up with the Cubs jumping from ninth place on July 13th to second place any day now.

First place? That's another story. The St. Louis Cardinals have a 14½-game lead and a 15-game lead over the Cubs.

The Cubs, who've won 21 of their last 28 games, stopped the Cards 3-0 Friday night on a two-hitter by Ken Holtzman to momentarily slow the cards' runaway.

Cubs Now Third

The Cubs were ninth on July 13th with a 41-47 mark and have played 15-5 ball since then for their current 56-52 record. But even though they've moved up the standings, they've only gained one-half game on the Cards.

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh topped San Francisco 3-1, New York nipped Los Angeles 3-2, Houston topped Philadelphia 4-3 and the Cincinnati-Atlanta game was rained out.

Holtzman Gets RBI

Holtzman, a native of St. Louis, helped his own cause when he singled in one of the three fifth-inning runs that beat Larry Jaster. Holtzman, who ran his scoreless string to 27 innings with his third consecutive shutout, followed singles by Randy Hundley, Jim Hickman and Adolo Phillips with a base hit that drove in the second run of the inning.

Houston rallied for two runs in the eighth to top the Phils. Jim Wynn singled and advanced on a sacrifice to start the rally. Doug Rader, who drove in an earlier run with a single, lofted a pop fly, ground-rule double and John Bateman then singled in the tie-breaking run.

Clint Hodgins Sweeps Both Egan Divisions

Hodgins rated odds-on favorite Jostle perfectly to a length triumph in the first division, then came back with another favorite, 5-1 Daring Speed, to complete the sweep.

Jostle was clocked in 2:06.3 and Daring Speed, winner by two lengths, was timed in 2:05.1.

The victory worth $2,885 to Jostle, pushed her over the $50,000 mark in earnings, giving her a two-year total of $52,097. This year alone her bankroll is $41 shy of $28,000. She shows a second and a third with a trio of wins.

As the prohibitive favorite, Jostle, returned slim payoffs of $3.40, 3.20 and 2.40. Burbon Candy was worth $6.20 and 3.40 for place, while Brazen Yankee had a $3.20 show ticket.

Daring Speed, owned by Mildred and Louis Resnick of Ellenville, let Pompanette and Endearing battle it out for most of the race than Hodgins made his move to make it on top one stride before the three-quarter pole, opened up a two-marker lead coming home in :30.2.

LEGAL NOTICE

STATE OF NEW YORK
DEPARTMENT OF STATE
Albany, July 26, 1968.

PURSUANT to the provisions of section one of article nineteen of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section seventy-one of the Election Law, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendments numbers one to seven inclusive to the Constitution of the State of New York is referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of Members of Assembly in this State to be held on the fifth day of November, nineteen hundred sixty-eight.

JOHN P. LOMENZO,
Secretary-of-State

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER ONE
OF THE
SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to section twenty-two of article three of the constitution, in relation to incorporation by reference of the laws of the United States in local laws adopted by local governments with respect to taxes on income

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section twenty-two of the article three of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 22. Every law which imposes, continues or revives a tax shall distinctly state the tax and the object to which it is to be applied, and it shall not be sufficient to refer to any other law to fix such tax or object.

Notwithstanding the foregoing or any other provision of this constitution, the legislature, in any law imposing a tax or taxes on, in respect to or measured by income and any local government having authority or to which authority to impose such a tax or taxes has been granted, may define the income on, in respect to or by which such tax or taxes are imposed or measured, by reference to any provision of the laws of the United States as the same may be or become effective at any time or from time to time, and may prescribe exceptions or modifications to any such provision.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the Assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER TWO
OF THE
SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing the enactment of a new section five-a of article three of the constitution in relation to including aliens in the definition of inhabitants for the purpose of apportioning senators and assemblymen

Secton 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That article three of the constitution be amended by inserting therein a new section, to be section five-a, to read as follows:

§ 5-a. For the purpose of apportioning senate and assembly districts pursuant to the foregoing provisions of this article, the term "inhabitants, excluding aliens" shall mean the whole number of persons.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER THREE
OF THE
SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to article fourteen of the constitution, in relation to the conservation and protection of natural resources and scenic beauty and the development and improvement of agricultural lands

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section four of article fourteen of the constitution be renumbered to be section five and a new section four inserted therein to read as follows:

§ 4. The policy of the state shall be to conserve and protect its natural resources and scenic beauty and encourage the development and improvement of its agricultural lands for the production of food and other agricultural products. The legislature, in implementing this policy, shall include adequate provision for the abatement of air and water pollution and of excessive and unnecessary noise, the protection of agricultural lands, wetlands and shorelines, and the development and regulation of water resources. The legislature shall further provide for the acquisition of lands and waters, including improvements thereon and any interest therein, outside the forest preserve counties, and the dedication of properties so acquired or now owned, which because of their natural beauty, wilderness character, or geological, ecological or historical significance, shall be preserved and administered for the use and enjoyment of the people. Properties so dedicated shall constitute the state nature and historical preserve and they shall not be taken or otherwise disposed of except by law enacted by two successive regular sessions of the legislature.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the Assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER FOUR
OF THE
SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing amendments to sections two, four, five, eight, nine and ten of article eighteen of the constitution, in relation to inclusion of county as governmental unit to be authorized by legislature to establish low rent housing for slum clearance or for both such purposes and for recreational and other facilities incidental or appurtenant thereto

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That sections two, four, five, eight, nine and ten of article eighteen of the constitution be amended to read, respectively, as follows:

§ 2. For and in aid of such purposes, notwithstanding any provision in any other article of this constitution, but subject to the limitations contained in this article, the legislature may: make or contract to make or authorize to be made or contracted capital or periodic subsidies by the state to any county, city, town, village, or public corporation, payable only with moneys appropriated therefor from the general fund of the state; authorize any county, city, town or village to make or contract to make such subsidies to any public corporation, payable only with moneys locally appropriated therefor from the general or other fund available for current expenses of such municipality; authorize the contracting of indebtedness for the purpose of providing moneys out of which it may make or contract to make or authorize to be made or contracted loans by the state to any county, city, town, village or public corporation; authorize any county, city, town or village to make or contract to make loans to any public corporation; authorize any county, city, town or village to guarantee the principal of [an] and interest on, or only the interest on, indebtedness contracted by a public corporation; authorize and provide for loans by the state and authorize loans by any county, city, town or village to or in aid of corporations regulated by law as to rents, profits, dividends and disposition of their property or franchises and engaged in providing housing facilities or nursing home accommodations; authorize any county, city, town or village to make loans to the owners of existing multiple dwellings for the rehabilitation and improvement thereof for occupancy by persons of low income as defined by law; grant or authorize tax exemptions in whole or in part, except that no such exemption may be granted or authorized for a period of more than sixty years; authorize cooperation with and the acceptance of aid from the United States; grant the power of eminent domain to any county, city, town or village, to any public corporation and to any corporation regulated by law as to rents, profits, dividends and disposition of its property or franchises and engaged in providing housing facilities.

As used in this article, the term "public corporation" shall mean any corporate governmental agency (except a county or municipal corporation) organized pursuant to law to accomplish any or all of the purposes specified in this article.

§ 4. To effectuate any of the purposes of this article, the legislature may authorize any county, city, town or village to contract indebtedness to an amount which shall not exceed two per centum of the average assessed valuation of the real estate of such county, city, town or village subject to taxation, as determined by the last completed assessment roll and the four preceding assessment rolls of such county, city, town or village, for county, city, town or village taxes prior to the contracting of such indebtedness. In ascertaining the power of a county, city, or village having a population of five thousand or more as determined by the last federal census, to contract indebtedness pursuant to this article there may be excluded any such indebtedness if the project or projects aided by guarantees representing such indebtedness or by loans for which such indebtedness was contracted shall have yielded during the preceeding year net revenue to be determined annually by deducting from the gross revenues, including periodic subsidies therefor, received from such project or projects, all costs of operation, maintneance, repairs and replacements, and the interest on such indebtedness and the amounts required in such year for the payment of such indebtedness; provided that in the case of guarantees such interest and such amounts shall have been paid, and in the case of loans an amount equal to such interest and such amounts shall have been paid to such county, city or village. The legislature shall prescribe the method by which the amount of any such indebtedness to be excluded shall be determined, and no such indebtedness shall be excluded except in accordance with such determination. The legislature may confer appropriate jurisdiction on the appellate division of the supreme court in the judicial departments in which such counties, cities or villages are located for the purpose of determining the amount of any such indebtedness to be so excluded.

The liability of a county, city, town or village on account of any contract for capital or periodic subsidies to be paid subsequent to the then current year shall, for the purpose of ascertaining the power of such county, city, town or village to contract indebtedness, be deemed indebtedness in the amount of the commuted value of the total of such capital or periodic subsidies remaining unpaid, calculated on the basis of an annual interest rate of four per centum. Such periodic subsidies shall not be contracted for a period longer than the life of the projects assisted thereby, and in no event for more than sixty years. Indebtedness contracted pursuant to this article shall be excluded in ascertaining the power of a county, city or such village otherwise to create indebtedness under any other section of this constitution. Notwithstanding the foregoing the legislature shall not authorize any county, city or village having a population of five thousand or more to contract indebtedness hereunder in excess of the limitations prescribed by any other article of this constitution unless at the same time it shall by law require such county, city or village to levy annually a tax or taxes other than an ad valorem tax on real estate to an extent sufficient to provide for the payment of the principal of and interest on any such indebtedness. Nothing herein contained, however, shall be construed to prevent such county, city or village from pledging its faith and credit for the payment of such principal and interest nor shall any such law prevent recourse to an ad valorem tax on real estate to the extent that revenue derived from such other tax or taxes in any year, together with revenues from the project or projects aided by the proceeds of such indebtedness, shall become insufficient to provide fully for payment of such principal and interest in that year.

§ 5. Any county, city, town or village shall be liable for the repayment of any loans and interest thereon made by the state to any public corporation, acting as an instrumentality of such county, city, town or village. Such liability of a county, city, town or village shall be excluded in ascertaining the power of such county, city, town or village to become indebted pursuant to the provisions of this article, except that in the event of a default in payment under the terms of any such loan, the unpaid balance thereof shall be included in ascertaining the power of such county, city, town or village to become so indebted. No subsidy, in addition to any capital or periodic subsidy originally contracted for in aid of any project or projects authorized under this article, shall be paid by the state to a county, city, town, village or public corporation, acting as an instrumentality thereof, for the purpose of enabling such county, city, town, village or corporation to remedy an actual default or avoid an impending default in the payment of principal or interest on a loan which has been heretofore made by the state to such county, city, town, village or corporation pursuant to this article.

§ 8. Any agency of the state, or any county, city, town, village or public corporation, which is empowered by law to take private property by eminent domain for any of the public purposes specified in section one of this article, may be empowered by the legislature to take property necessary for any such purpose but in excess of that required for public use after such purpose shall have been accomplished; and to improve and utilize such excess, wholly or partly for any other public purpose, or to lease or sell such excess with restrictions to preserve and protect such improvement or improvements.

§ 9. Subject to any limitation imposed by the legislature, the state, or any county, city, town, village or public corporation, may acquire by purchase, gift, eminent domain or otherwise, such property as it may deem ultimately necessary or proper to effectuate the purposes of this article, or any of them, although temporarily not required for such purposes.

§ 10. The legislature is empowered to make all laws which it shall deem necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers. This article shall be construed as extending powers which otherwise might by limited by other articles of this constitution and shall not be construed as imposing additional limitations; but nothing in this article contained shall be deemed to authorize or empower the state, or any county, city, town, village or public corporation, to engage in any private business or enterprise other than the building and operation of low rent dwelling houses for persons of low income as defined by law, or the loaning of money to owners of existing multiple dwellings as herein provided.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendments be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER FIVE
OF THE
SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to article seventeen of the constitution, in relation to the authorization of loans for hospital construction

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article seventeen of the constitution be amended by adding thereto a new section, to be section seven, to read as follows:

§ 7. Notwithstanding any other provision of this constitution, the legislature may authorize the state, a municipality or a public corporation acting as an instrumentality of the state or municipality to lend its money or credit to or in aid of any corporation or association, regulated by law as to its charges, profits, dividends, and disposition of its property or franchises, for the purpose of providing such hospital or other facilities for the prevention, diagnosis or treatment of human disease, pain, injury, disability, deformity or physical condition, and for facilities incidental or appurtenant thereto as may be prescribed by law.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly, and in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER SIX
OF THE
SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing the enactment of a new article fourteen of the constitution, in relation to natural resources and conservation, and repealing existing article fourteen of the constitution relating thereto

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That existing article fourteen of the constitution be repealed, and that the constitution be amended by inserting therein, in lieu thereof, a new article, to be article fourteen, to read as follows:

ARTICLE XIV
NATURAL RESOURCES AND CONSERVATION

Section 1. The lands of the state, now owned or hereafter acquired, constituting the forest preserve as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as wild forest lands. They shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed.

LEGAL NOTICE

(1) The use of not more than three per cent of such lands specifically designated by the legislature, for the construction, operation and maintenance by the state, of reservoirs for municipal water supply and for the canals of the state, after the boundaries and high flow lines thereof shall have been accurately surveyed and fixed, and after public notice, hearing and determination that such lands are required for such public use, the expense thereof to be apportioned to the public and private properties and municipalities thereby benefited to the extent of the benefits received;

(2) Lands within the forest preserve counties, but outside the Adirondack and Catskill parks as now fixed by law, heretofore or hereafter acquired and dedicated by the state for forest or wildlife conservation, except that such lands shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private.

(3) The use for any state purpose, or the sale, exchange or other disposition of any lands within the forest preserve but outside the Adirondack and Catskill parks as now fixed by law, which lands consist in any case of no more than ten contiguous acres entirely separated from any other portion of the forest preserve, except that no sale, exchange or other disposition shall be made unless it has been determined by the state that such lands are not necessary or useful for conservation, parks or recreation purposes;

(4) Any other use or disposition of forest preserve lands heretofore authorized by constitutional provisions, and the use of such lands for public campsites of the kind presently constructed and maintained, and in areas similar to those in which they are presently located; and

(5) Any other use or disposition of lands hereafter authorized by concurrent resolution of the legislature adopted at two regular sessions of succeeding terms of the legislature and thereafter approved by the people.

§ 3. The policy of the state shall be to conserve and protect its natural resources and scenic beauty and encourage the development and improvement of its agricultural lands for the production of food and other agricultural products. The legislature, in implementing this policy, shall include adequate provision for the abatement of air and water pollution and of excessive and unnecessary noise, the protection of agricultural lands, wetlands and shorelines, and the development and regulation of water resources. The legislature shall further provide for the acquisition of lands and waters, including improvements thereon and any interest therein, outside the forest preserve counties, and the dedication of properties so acquired or now owned, which because of their natural beauty, wilderness character, or geological, ecological or historical significance, shall be preserved and administered for the use and enjoyment of the people. Properties so dedicated shall constitute the state nature and historical preserve and they shall not be taken or otherwise disposed of except by law enacted by two successive regular sessions of the legislature.

§ 4. A violation of any of the provisions of this article may be restrained at the suit of the people or, with the consent of the supreme court in appellate division, on notice to the attorney-general at the suit of any citizen.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendments be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER SEVEN
OF THE
SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to and renumbering of section seven of article ten of the constitution, in relation to authorizing the legislature to make the state liable for the payment of the principal of and interest on bonds of a public corporation created to make secured loans to non-profit corporations to finance the construction of new industrial or manufacturing plants in this state or for the acquisition, rehabilitation or improvement of former industrial or manufacturing plants in this state

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section seven of article ten of the constitution be renumbered and amended to read as follows:

[§ 7.] § 8. Notwithstanding any provision of this or any other article of this constitution, the legislature may by law, which shall take effect without submission to the people, make or authorize making the state liable for the payment of the principal of and interest on bonds of a public corporation to be created pursuant to and for the purposes specified in the last paragraph of section eight of article seven of this constitution, [in a principal amount not to exceed fifty million dollars,] maturing in not to exceed thirty years after their respective dates, and for the principal of and interest on notes of such corporation issued in anticipation of such bonds, which notes and any renewals thereof shall mature within [five] seven years after the respective dates of such notes, provided that the aggregate principal amount of such bonds with respect to which the state shall be so liable shall not at any one time exceed one hundred fifty million dollars, excluding bonds issued to refund outstanding bonds.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

Clint Hodgins Sweeps Both Egan Divisions

Hodgins rated odds-on favorite Jostle perfectly to a length triumph in the first division, then came back with another favorite, 5-1 Daring Speed, to complete the sweep.

Jostle was clocked in 2:06.3 and Daring Speed, winner by two lengths, was timed in 2:05.1.

The victory worth $2,885 to Jostle, pushed her over the $50,000 mark in earnings, giving her a two-year total of $52,097. This year alone her bankroll is $41 shy of $28,000. She shows a second and a third with a trio of wins.

As the prohibitive favorite, Jostle, returned slim payoffs of $3.40, 3.20 and 2.40. Burbon Candy was worth $6.20 and 3.40 for place, while Brazen Yankee had a $3.20 show ticket.

Daring Speed, owned by Mildred and Louis Resnick of Ellenville, let Pompanette and Endearing battle it out for most of the race than Hodgins made his move to make it on top one stride before the three-quarter pole, opened up a two-marker lead coming home in :30.2.

LEGAL NOTICE

STATE OF NEW YORK
Albany, July 26, 1968.

PURSUANT to the provisions of section one of article nineteen of the Constitution of the State of New York, and section seventy-one of the Election Law, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendments numbers one to seven inclusive to the Constitution of the State of New York is referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of Members of Assembly in this State to be held on the fifth day of November, nineteen hundred sixty-eight.

JOHN P. LOMENZO,

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER ONE
OF THE
SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to section twenty-two of article three of the constitution, in relation to incorporation by reference of the laws of the United States in local laws adopted by local governments with respect to taxes on income

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section twenty-two of the article three of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 22. Every law which imposes, continues or revives a tax shall distinctly state the tax and the object to which it is to be applied, and it shall not be sufficient to refer to any other law to fix such tax or object.

Notwithstanding the foregoing or any other provision of this constitution, the legislature, in any law imposing a tax or taxes on, in respect to or measured by income and any local government having authority or to which authority to impose such a tax or taxes has been granted, may define the income on, in respect to or by which such tax or taxes are imposed or measured, by reference to any provision of the laws of the United States as the same may be or become effective at any time or from time to time, and may prescribe exceptions or modifications to any such provision.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the Assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER TWO
OF THE
SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to section five-a of article three of the constitution in relation to including aliens in the definition of inhabitants for the purpose of apportioning senators and assemblymen

Secton 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That article three of the constitution be amended by inserting therein a new section, to be section five-a, to read as follows:

§ 5-a. For the purpose of apportioning senate and assembly districts pursuant to the foregoing provisions of this article, the term "inhabitants, excluding aliens" shall mean the whole number of persons.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER THREE
OF THE
SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to article fourteen of the constitution, in relation to the conservation and protection of natural resources and scenic beauty and the development and improvement of agricultural lands

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section four of article fourteen of the constitution be renumbered to be section five and a new section four inserted therein to read as follows:

§ 4. The policy of the state shall be to conserve and protect its natural resources and scenic beauty and encourage the development and improvement of its agricultural lands for the production of food and other agricultural products. The legislature, in implementing this policy, shall include adequate provision for the abatement of air and water pollution and of excessive and unnecessary noise, the protection of agricultural lands, wetlands and shorelines, and the development and regulation of water resources. The legislature shall further provide for the acquisition of lands and waters, including improvements thereon and any interest therein, outside the forest preserve counties, and the dedication of properties so acquired or now owned, which because of their natural beauty, wilderness character, or geological, ecological or historical significance, shall be preserved and administered for the use and enjoyment of the people. Properties so dedicated shall constitute the state nature and historical preserve and they shall not be taken or otherwise disposed of except by law enacted by two successive regular sessions of the legislature.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the Assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER FOUR
OF THE
SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing amendments to sections two, four, five, eight, nine and ten of article eighteen of the constitution, in relation to inclusion of county as governmental unit to be authorized by legislature to establish low rent housing for slum clearance or for both such purposes and for recreational and other facilities incidental or appurtenant thereto

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That sections two, four, five, eight, nine and ten of article eighteen of the constitution be amended to read, respectively, as follows:

§ 2. For and in aid of such purposes, notwithstanding any provision in any other article of this constitution, but subject to the limitations contained in this article, the legislature may: make or contract to make or authorize to be made or contracted capital or periodic subsidies by the state to any county, city, town, village, or public corporation, payable only with moneys appropriated therefor from the general fund of the state; authorize any county, city, town or village to make or contract to make such subsidies to any public corporation, payable only with moneys locally appropriated therefor from the general or other fund available for current expenses of such municipality; authorize the contracting of indebtedness for the purpose of providing moneys out of which it may make or contract to make or authorize to be made or contracted loans by the state to any county, city, town, village or public corporation; authorize any county, city, town or village to make or contract to make loans to any public corporation; authorize any county, city, town or village to guarantee the principal of [an] and interest on, or only the interest on, indebtedness contracted by a public corporation; authorize and provide for loans by the state and authorize loans by any county, city, town or village to or in aid of corporations regulated by law as to rents, profits, dividends and disposition of their property or franchises and engaged in providing housing facilities or nursing home accommodations; authorize any county, city, town or village to make loans to the owners of existing multiple dwellings for the rehabilitation and improvement thereof for occupancy by persons of low income as defined by law; grant or authorize tax exemptions in whole or in part, except that no such exemption may be granted or authorized for a period of more than sixty years; authorize cooperation with and the acceptance of aid from the United States; grant the power of eminent domain to any county, city, town or village, to any public corporation and to any corporation regulated by law as to rents, profits, dividends and disposition of its property or franchises and engaged in providing housing facilities.

As used in this article, the term "public corporation" shall mean any corporate governmental agency (except a county or municipal corporation) organized pursuant to law to accomplish any or all of the purposes specified in this article.

§ 4. To effectuate any of the purposes of this article, the legislature may authorize any county, city, town or village to contract indebtedness to an amount which shall not exceed two per centum of the average assessed valuation of the real estate of such county, city, town or village subject to taxation, as determined by the last completed assessment roll and the four preceding assessment rolls of such county, city, town or village, for county, city, town or village taxes prior to the contracting of such indebtedness. In ascertaining the power of a county, city, or village having a population of five thousand or more as determined by the last federal census, to contract indebtedness pursuant to this article there may be excluded any such indebtedness if the project or projects aided by guarantees representing such indebtedness or by loans for which such indebtedness was contracted shall have yielded during the preceeding year net revenue to be determined annually by deducting from the gross revenues, including periodic subsidies therefor, received from such project or projects, all costs of operation, maintneance, repairs and replacements, and the interest on such indebtedness and the amounts required in such year for the payment of such indebtedness; provided that in the case of guarantees such interest and such amounts shall have been paid, and in the case of loans an amount equal to such interest and such amounts shall have been paid to such county, city or village. The legislature shall prescribe the method by which the amount of any such indebtedness to be excluded shall be determined, and no such indebtedness shall be excluded except in accordance with such determination. The legislature may confer appropriate jurisdiction on the appellate division of the supreme court in the judicial departments in which such counties, cities or villages are located for the purpose of determining the amount of any such indebtedness to be so excluded.

The liability of a county, city, town or village on account of any contract for capital or periodic subsidies to be paid subsequent to the then current year shall, for the purpose of ascertaining the power of such county, city, town or village to contract indebtedness, be deemed indebtedness in the amount of the commuted value of the total of such capital or periodic subsidies remaining unpaid, calculated on the basis of an annual interest rate of four per centum. Such periodic subsidies shall not be contracted for a period longer than the life of the projects assisted thereby, and in no event for more than sixty years. Indebtedness contracted pursuant to this article shall be excluded in ascertaining the power of a county, city or such village otherwise to create indebtedness under any other section of this constitution. Notwithstanding the foregoing the legislature shall not authorize any county, city or village having a population of five thousand or more to contract indebtedness hereunder in excess of the limitations prescribed by any other article of this constitution unless at the same time it shall by law require such county, city or village to levy annually a tax or taxes other than an ad valorem tax on real estate to an extent sufficient to provide for the payment of the principal of and interest on any such indebtedness. Nothing herein contained, however, shall be construed to prevent such county, city or village from pledging its faith and credit for the payment of such principal and interest nor shall any such law prevent recourse to an ad valorem tax on real estate to the extent that revenue derived from such other tax or taxes in any year, together with revenues from the project or projects aided by the proceeds of such indebtedness, shall become insufficient to provide fully for payment of such principal and interest in that year.

§ 5. Any county, city, town or village shall be liable for the repayment of any loans and interest thereon made by the state to any public corporation, acting as an instrumentality of such county, city, town or village. Such liability of a county, city, town or village shall be excluded in ascertaining the power of such county, city, town or village to become indebted pursuant to the provisions of this article, except that in the event of a default in payment under the terms of any such loan, the unpaid balance thereof shall be included in ascertaining the power of such county, city, town or village to become so indebted. No subsidy, in addition to any capital or periodic subsidy originally contracted for in aid of any project or projects authorized under this article, shall be paid by the state to a county, city, town, village or public corporation, acting as an instrumentality thereof, for the purpose of enabling such county, city, town, village or corporation to remedy an actual default or avoid an impending default in the payment of principal or interest on a loan which has been theretofore made by the state to such county, city, town, village or corporation pursuant to this article.

§ 8. Any agency of the state, or any county, city, town, village or public corporation, which is empowered by law to take private property by eminent domain for any of the public purposes specified in section one of this article, may be empowered by the legislature to take property necessary for any such purpose but in excess of that required for public use after such purpose shall have been accomplished; and to improve and utilize such excess, wholly or partly for any other public purpose, or to lease or sell such excess with restrictions to preserve and protect such improvement or improvements.

§ 9. Subject to any limitation imposed by the legislature, the state, or any county, city, town, village or public corporation, may acquire by purchase, gift, eminent domain or otherwise, such property as it may deem ultimately necessary or proper to effectuate the purposes of this article, or any of them, although temporarily not required for such purposes.

§ 10. The legislature is empowered to make all laws which it shall deem necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers. This article shall be construed as extending powers which otherwise might by limited by other articles of this constitution and shall not be construed as imposing additional limitations; but nothing in this article contained shall be deemed to authorize or empower the state, or any county, city, town, village or public corporation, to engage in any private business or enterprise other than the building and operation of low rent dwelling houses for persons of low income as defined by law, or the loaning of money to owners of existing multiple dwellings as herein provided.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendments be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER FIVE
OF THE
SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to article seventeen of the constitution, in relation to the authorization of loans for hospital construction

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article seventeen of the constitution be amended by adding thereto a new section, to be section seven, to read as follows:

§ 7. Notwithstanding any other provision of this constitution, the legislature may authorize the state, a municipality or a public corporation acting as an instrumentality of the state or municipality to lend its money or credit to or in aid of any corporation or association, regulated by law as to its charges, profits, dividends, and disposition of its property or franchises, for the purpose of providing such hospital or other facilities for the prevention, diagnosis or treatment of human disease, pain, injury, disability, deformity or physical condition, and for facilities incidental or appurtenant thereto as may be prescribed by law.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly, and in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER SIX
OF THE
SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing the enactment of a new article fourteen of the constitution, in relation to natural resources and conservation, and repealing existing article fourteen of the constitution relating thereto

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That existing article fourteen of the constitution be repealed, and that the constitution be amended by inserting therein, in lieu thereof, a new article, to be article fourteen, to read as follows:

ARTICLE XIV
NATURAL RESOURCES AND CONSERVATION

Section 1. The lands of the state, now owned or hereafter acquired, constituting the forest preserve as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as wild forest lands. They shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed.

LEGAL NOTICE

(1) The use of not more than three per cent of such lands specifically designated by the legislature, for the construction, operation and maintenance by the state, of reservoirs for municipal water supply and for the canals of the state, after the boundaries and high flow lines thereof shall have been accurately surveyed and fixed, and after public notice, hearing and determination that such lands are required for such public use, the expense thereof to be apportioned to the public and private properties and municipalities thereby benefited to the extent of the benefits received;

(2) Lands within the forest preserve counties, but outside the Adirondack and Catskill parks as now fixed by law, heretofore or hereafter acquired and dedicated by the state for forest or wildlife conservation, except that such lands shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private.

(3) The use for any state purpose, or the sale, exchange or other disposition of any lands within the forest preserve but outside the Adirondack and Catskill parks as now fixed by law, which lands consist in any case of no more than ten contiguous acres entirely separated from any other portion of the forest preserve, except that no sale, exchange or other disposition shall be made unless it has been determined by the state that such lands are not necessary or useful for conservation, parks or recreation purposes;

(4) Any other use or disposition of forest preserve lands heretofore authorized by constitutional provisions, and the use of such lands for public campsites of the kind presently constructed and maintained, and in areas similar to those in which they are presently located; and

(5) Any other use or disposition of lands hereafter authorized by concurrent resolution of the legislature adopted at two regular sessions of succeeding terms of the legislature and thereafter approved by the people.

§ 3. The policy of the state shall be to conserve and protect its natural resources and scenic beauty and encourage the development and improvement of its agricultural lands for the production of food and other agricultural products. The legislature, in implementing this policy, shall include adequate provision for the abatement of air and water pollution and of excessive and unnecessary noise, the protection of agricultural lands, wetlands and shorelines, and the development and regulation of water resources. The legislature shall further provide for the acquisition of lands and waters, including improvements thereon and any interest therein, outside the forest preserve counties, and the dedication of properties so acquired or now owned, which because of their natural beauty, wilderness character, or geological, ecological or hisotrical significance, shall be preserved and administered for the use and enjoyment of the people. Properties so dedicated shall constitute the state nature and historical preserve and they shall not be taken or otherwise disposed of except by law enacted by two successive regular sessions of the legislature.

§ 4. A violation of any of the provisions of this article may be restrained at the suit of the people or, with the consent of the supreme court in appellate division, on notice to the attorney-general at the suit of any citizen.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendments be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT
NUMBER SEVEN
OF THE
SENATE AND ASSEMBLY

Proposing an amendment to and renumbering of section seven of article ten of the constitution, in relation to authorizing the legislature to make the state liable for the payment of the principal of and interest on bonds of a public corporation created to make secured loans to non-profit corporations to finance the construction of new industrial or manufacturing plants in this state or for the acquisition, rehabilitation or improvement of former industrial or manufacturing plants in this state

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section seven of article ten of the constitution be renumbered and amended to read as follows:

[§ 7.] § 8. Notwithstanding any provision of this or any other article of this constitution, the legislature may by law, which shall take effect without submission to the people, make or authorize making the state liable for the payment of the principal of and interest on bonds of a public corporation to be created pursuant to and for the purposes specified in the last paragraph of section eight of article seven of this constitution, [in a principal amount not to exceed fifty million dollars,] maturing in not to exceed thirty years after their respective dates, and for the principal of and interest on notes of such corporation issued in anticipation of such bonds, which notes and any renewals thereof shall mature within [five] seven years after the respective dates of such notes, provided that the aggregate principal amount of such bonds with respect to which the state shall be so liable shall not at any one time exceed one hundred fifty million dollars, excluding bonds issued to refund outstanding bonds.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the first regular legislative session convening after the next succeeding general election of members of the assembly, and, in conformity with section one of article nineteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a married couple who have their MARRIAGE CERTIFICATE framed and hanging in their living room? They have been married for eight years and have eight kids. (No twins).

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: They probably want the world to know that they're not practicing without a license.

DEAR ABBY: An old acquaintance (a man) comes for coffee several times a week while my husband is working.

Since we have been married less than a year, I have mixed emotions. I really don't want to hurt his feelings since he is a former boyfriend, but I want to get rid of him.

I have talked to my minister, and he says there is nothing wrong with being open - minded, but I'm afraid my husband wouldn't like it if he knew. What do you suggest?

DEAR MIXED: There is nothing wrong with being "open - minded" — as long as you aren't so open - minded that your brains fall out. TELL the old acquaintance that you would prefer that he discontinued the coffee-klatches simply because you feel that you husband would not approve. And that should settle it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14 - year - old, fairly good looking girl and I have a few questions. Why does my mother keep telling me that it is wrong for a girl to call up boys on the telephone? And why is it "not nice" for a girl to go to a boy's house unless she has been invited there for a party or something special?

My best girl friend calls up boys all the time and they seem to like it. And she's dropped in to visit them when she happens to be in the neighborhood. I've been with her when she's done it and I really don't see anything wrong in it. I wouldn't call a boy or go to his house uninvited without my girl friend because I haven't got the nerve.

Don't you think my mother is living in the past with her old fashioned ideas? Most girls would never see a boy outside of school if she didn't go after him a little.

LIKES BOYS

DEAR LIKES: Your mother is right. It is "not nice" to call boys and go to their homes uninvited. Boys like to have girls "run after them," but when a boy wants a special girl, he likes to do the running. Listen to your mother, Honey.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO SHIRLEY: "He that cannot forgive others, breaks the bridge over which he himself must pass if he would ever reach heaven; for everyone has need to be forgiven." (Herbert.)

Horoscope

By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

Forecast for Sunday, August 4, 1968

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Get busy with any travel or vacation plans. Fine for writing, publishing, advertising. Important to take initiative. Be original, daring. Be aware of challenge, opportunity.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Money discussion appears on agenda. Question of how you handle other people's finances is spotlighted. Be a good listener. Let others make proposals. Then evaluate, analyze.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Mate or partner expresses desire for change, entertainment, break from routine. Be reasonable. Realize you also are due for excitement of discovery. Say yes.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Attention to apparent minor matters could result in major accomplishment. Know this — act accordingly. Be aware of details, subtle nuances. Neighbor asks favor in connection with trip.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Good lunar aspect today coincides with romance, chance for greater self-expression. No time to hold back; plunge into activities. Personal magnetism soars. Many are attracted.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Attention centers around home base. Stick to familiar ground. Utilize innate qualities of analysis, discrimination. Pick the best. Highlight quality. Do your entertaining at home.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Confusing reports require your patient attention. Tendency is for others to take dire view. Know this — and wait for all facts. Don't make premature judgment. Welcome visitor.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Your chance to succeed is enhanced. You attract investors, gain financial advantage. Fine day for adding to possessions. You learn of genuine bargain. Take notes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Great chance today to enlarge horizons. Key is expansion. Proper contacts can get you going in right direction. Finish projects. Leave no loose ends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Get a look behind the scenes. Today you are called up to share a confidence. Be discreet—don't tell all you know. Key is to maintain air of quiet confidence, dignity.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Many of your natural abilities come to fore. Your charm attracts allies. Don't hold back on unusual interests, ideas. Share your hobbies. One who appeared disinterested displays enthusiasm.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Co-operate in community projects. Key is expansion. Don't accept status quo. Strive for advancement, improvement. Excellent for entertaining boss, other superior. Talk about vital project.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you have executive qualities which could carry you to the top. You are now finishing a cycle. You are frank, at times overly blunt. Learn to mix your determination with diplomacy.

FORECAST FOR MONDAY, AUGUST 5, 1968

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Association with LEO individual proves productive. Day to concentrate on ambitions, advancement. Be receptive. Offer may be made which requires shift of schedule.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Don't beat around the bush. Say what you mean — mean what you say. Adhere to principles—stand tall. Emphasis on writing, publishing. Advertise your wares.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Be aware of fine print. Check details. Lunar emphasis on home base, security, domestic situation. Necessary to go directly to source. The truth can grant you greater freedom.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Accent on relations with public. Fine day to test material, products. Check contracts. Be sure you have complete understanding with mate, partner. Take nothing for granted.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Avoid extremes. Guard health by practicing moderation. In any celebration, give credit where it is due. Let others claim their share of spotlight. Then day progresses in fine manner.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Excitement of discovery marks day. Your creative resources come to forefront. If single, meaningful contact could bring romance. If married, you rediscover loved one.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Be knowledgeable about happenings on home front. Some expenses may be piling up. Ask questions—obtain answers. Important to look to future. Make judgment on this basis.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Result of call or correspondence comes to pass today. Display seriousness of purpose. Means let others know you are sincere, dedicated. Pleasant surprise seems in offing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): New contact, offer could result in additional income. Be alert. Get feel of project. Utilize your own style. Accent individuality. Lead rather than follow.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Time your moves. Contact individuals who can aid cause. Lunar cycle indicates circumstances will turn in your favor. Take special care with personal appearance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Don't cross line from knowledge to mere speculation. Check facts. Work with organization if possible. Don't permit pride to stand in way of progress.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You can gain today through friendship. Those who make promises tend to carry through on them. Realize this — and exude air of optimism. Your timing is right—and the chance for success is good.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are an individual who needs an outlet for self-expression. You write, communicate, travel. You are not likely to be satisfied with status quo. You want to challenge, to revitalize. A new era for you at present — and marriage is on horizon. If already married, an addition to family is distinct possibility.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for CAPRICORN, AQUARIUS. Special word to SAGITTARIUS: you find way of making more money—if perceptive. Lunar position good for planting.

Bridge

By Oswald and James Jacoby

Most English bridge players seem to be overbidders, but the late Kenneth Konstam combined his overbidding with an ability to bring home contracts. Here is a hand he played when his English team won the 1955 World's championship.

Most players would have settled for four hearts after North's double of three clubs, but Kenneth tried a club cue bid. His partner, Adam Meredith, could find no better call than four spades and Kenneth had to go to five hearts.

Kenneth ruffed the opening club and led a low spade to West's king. The ten of spades came back. He took his ace and played three rounds of hearts. He wasn't looking at all the cards or he would simply have tried the finesse.

His discards from dummy were a club and a diamond. East was on lead and played his jack of spades to dummy's queen.

Declarer had set up an automatic double squeeze. All he had to do was to ruff a club and run the rest of his trumps. The last four cards in dummy were the king and one diamond, seven of spades and jack of clubs. West had to go down to three cards before dummy played and was forced to throw a diamond to hold a high club.

The jack of clubs had done its work and was discarded, whereupon the seven of spades exerted pressure on East. He could not throw away the nine of spades and was forced to let go of the guard for the diamond jack. The diamonds had all become good.

The more conservative declarers in the other room played and made four hearts. Konstam's fine dummy play had picked up 30 points, but normal dummy play might have cost 720 points.

Dear Abby

Practice on the Level

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a married couple who have their MARRIAGE CERTIFICATE framed and hanging in their living room? They have been married for eight years and have eight kids. (No twins).

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: They probably want the world to know that they're not practicing without a license.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: An old acquaintance (a man) comes for coffee several times a week while my husband is working.

Since we have been married less than a year, I have mixed emotions. I really don't want to hurt his feelings since he is a former boyfriend, but I want to get rid of him.

I have talked to my minister, and he says there is nothing wrong with being open - minded, but I'm afraid my husband wouldn't like it if he knew. What do you suggest?

DEAR MIXED: There is nothing wrong with being "open - minded" — as long as you aren't so open - minded that your brains fall out. TELL the old acquaintance that you would prefer that he discontinued the coffee-klatches simply because you feel that you husband would not approve. And that should settle it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14 - year - old, fairly good looking girl and I have a few questions. Why does my mother keep telling me that it is wrong for a girl to call up boys on the telephone? And why is it "not nice" for a girl to go to a boy's house unless she has been invited there for a party or something special?

My best girl friend calls up boys all the time and they seem to like it. And she's dropped in to visit them when she happens to be in the neighborhood. I've been with her when she's done it and I really don't see anything wrong in it. I wouldn't call a boy or go to his house uninvited without my girl friend because I haven't got the nerve.

Don't you think my mother is living in the past with her old fashioned ideas? Most girls would never see a boy outside of school if she didn't go after him a little.

LIKES BOYS

DEAR LIKES: Your mother is right. It is "not nice" to call boys and go to their homes uninvited. Boys like to have girls "run after them," but when a boy wants a special girl, he likes to do the running. Listen to your mother, Honey.

Horoscope

By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

Forecast for Sunday, August 4, 1968

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Get busy with any travel or vacation plans. Fine for writing, publishing, advertising. Important to take initiative. Be original, daring. Be aware of challenge, opportunity.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Money discussion appears on agenda. Question of how you handle other people's finances is spotlighted. Be a good listener. Let others make proposals. Then evaluate, analyze.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Mate or partner expresses desire for change, entertainment, break from routine. Be reasonable. Realize you also are due for excitement of discovery. Say yes.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Attention to apparent minor matters could result in major accomplishment. Know this — act accordingly. Be aware of details, subtle nuances. Neighbor asks favor in connection with trip.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Good lunar aspect today coincides with romance, chance for greater self-expression. No time to hold back; plunge into activities. Personal magnetism soars. Many are attracted.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Attention centers around home base. Stick to familiar ground. Utilize innate qualities of analysis, discrimination. Pick the best. Highlight quality. Do your entertaining at home.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Confusing reports require your patient attention. Tendency is for others to take dire view. Know this — and wait for all facts. Don't make premature judgment. Welcome visitor.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Your chance to succeed is enhanced. You attract investors, gain financial advantage. Fine day for adding to possessions. You learn of genuine bargain. Take notes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Great chance today to enlarge horizons. Key is expansion. Proper contacts can get you going in right direction. Finish projects. Leave no loose ends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Get a look behind the scenes. Today you are called up to share a confidence. Be discreet—don't tell all you know. Key is to maintain air of quiet confidence, dignity.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Many of your natural abilities come to fore. Your charm attracts allies. Don't hold back on unusual interests, ideas. Share your hobbies. One who appeared disinterested displays enthusiasm.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Co-operate in community projects. Key is expansion. Don't accept status quo. Strive for advancement, improvement. Excellent for entertaining boss, other superior. Talk about vital project.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you have executive qualities which could carry you to the top. You are now finishing a cycle. You are frank, at times overly blunt. Learn to mix your determination with diplomacy.

FORECAST FOR MONDAY, AUGUST 5, 1968

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Association with LEO individual proves productive. Day to concentrate on ambitions, advancement. Be receptive. Offer may be made which requires shift of schedule.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Don't beat around the bush. Say what you mean — mean what you say. Adhere to principles—stand tall. Emphasis on writing, publishing. Advertise your wares.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Be aware of fine print. Check details. Lunar emphasis on home base, security, domestic situation. Necessary to go directly to source. The truth can grant you greater freedom.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Accent on relations with public. Fine day to test material, products. Check contracts. Be sure you have complete understanding with mate, partner. Take nothing for granted.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Avoid extremes. Guard health by practicing moderation. In any celebration, give credit where it is due. Let others claim their share of spotlight. Then day progresses in fine manner.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Excitement of discovery marks day. Your creative resources come to forefront. If single, meaningful contact could bring romance. If married, you rediscover loved one.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Be knowledgeable about happenings on home front. Some expenses may be piling up. Ask questions—obtain answers. Important to look to future. Make judgment on this basis.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Result of call or correspondence comes to pass today. Display seriousness of purpose. Means let others know you are sincere, dedicated. Pleasant surprise seems in offing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): New contact, offer could result in additional income. Be alert. Get feel of project. Utilize your own style. Accent individuality. Lead rather than follow.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Time your moves. Contact individuals who can aid cause. Lunar cycle indicates circumstances will turn in your favor. Take special care with personal appearance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Don't cross line from knowledge to mere speculation. Check facts. Work with organization if possible. Don't permit pride to stand in way of progress.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You can gain today through friendship. Those who make promises tend to carry through on them. Realize this — and exude air of optimism. Your timing is right—and the chance for success is good.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are an individual who needs an outlet for self-expression. You write, communicate, travel. You are not likely to be satisfied with status quo. You want to challenge, to revitalize. A new era for you at present — and marriage is on horizon. If already married, an addition to family is distinct possibility.

Bridge

By Oswald and James Jacoby

Most English bridge players seem to be overbidders, but the late Kenneth Konstam combined his overbidding with an ability to bring home contracts. Here is a hand he played when his English team won the 1955 World's championship.

Most players would have settled for four hearts after North's double of three clubs, but Kenneth tried a club cue bid. His partner, Adam Meredith, could find no better call than four spades and Kenneth had to go to five hearts.

Kenneth ruffed the opening club and led a low spade to West's king. The ten of spades came back. He took his ace and played three rounds of hearts. He wasn't looking at all the cards or he would simply have tried the finesse.

His discards from dummy were a club and a diamond. East was on lead and played his jack of spades to dummy's queen.

Declarer had set up an automatic double squeeze. All he had to do was to ruff a club and run the rest of his trumps. The last four cards in dummy were the king and one diamond, seven of spades and jack of clubs. West had to go down to three cards before dummy played and was forced to throw a diamond to hold a high club.

The jack of clubs had done its work and was discarded, whereupon the seven of spades exerted pressure on East. He could not throw away the nine of spades and was forced to let go of the guard for the diamond jack. The diamonds had all become good.

The more conservative declarers in the other room played and made four hearts. Konstam's fine dummy play had picked up 30 points, but normal dummy play might have cost 720 points.

A Look at 'The Outcasts'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Don "Red" Barry, a wrestler turned character actor, slumped in the hot midday sun behind a plaster of paris boulder on the Screen Gems backlot, rehearsing the scene in which he, a villain, gets his comeuppance. Shots were fired by a member of the technical crew.

On the sidelines in the shade, Don Murray, one of the two stars of the show, "The Outcasts," leaned back in his folding chair and talked about the new ABC series—his first regular television assignment.

"Well, yes, this one is based on personal relationships," he said, "since I play a former slave owner and Otis (Young) plays a former slave. But it's still a violent, action Western."

A couple of months ago, Murray said, "they started to cut down on the number of people killed, and cut out some of the details of blood and gore."

"But we still have lots of fights and I play the kind of guy who gets drunk and is interested in women. I've lost a lot of horses in the 11 episodes we've finished—they've been shot, broken a leg, died from thirst and, in one episode, got bitten by a rattlesnake."

All this, presumably, makes "The Outcasts" one of those so-called "adult Westerns," but with a comtemporary television switch that has a white man and a black man in prickly partnership as bounty hunters.

Murray, a stage and film star with credits such as "A Hatful of Rain" and "The Hoodlum Priest"—which he wrote, produced and in which he starred—said he had never wanted to be involved with a television series before because he thought it would be detrimental to his film career.

"I've changed my mind," he said. "Now I think it will be helpful. If you do good work and if the audience likes you and identifies with you, it will make the audience want to see more of you."

Acting in a Western is a kick, he said—"like being a kid again and getting paid for it." He added that in a Western with more action than talk, there isn't much of the dreary business of learning lines.

"I'd hate being in one of those court room series and have to study pages and pages of speeches."

In one episode, Young, whose character Jemal David has been made acting sheriff of a small town, walks into a restaurant full of empty tables and one lone diner. He asks for food and the proprietor explains that he just hasn't the room to serve him.

"I react," said Young, a TV newcomer. "I play a guy with a short fuse. As a matter of fact, I react to this series. I've waited 14 years in show business for this chance, and I don't want anything to hurt it."

NBC plans a special two-hour episode of "Ironside" on Sept. 26, pre-empting "Daniel Boone." It crowds into one program a story about surgery to see whether the sleuth can regain the use of his legs.

The show, a week after NBC premieres its new season, arrives during the debut week of both ABC and CBS, and will conflict with the season premieres of CBS' "Hawaii Five-O" and ABC's "Bewitched" and "That Girl."

OFFICE CAT

The young bride went to the grocery store to do her Christmas marketing. She was determined that the grocer should not take advantage or her youth and inexperience.

Mr. Bass (the grocer)—I know it. But that's the kind the farmer brings me. They are just fresh from the country this morning.

Mrs. Newlywed — Yes, and that's the trouble with those farmers. They are so anxious to get their eggs sold that they take them off the nest too soon!

For 30 years Harry had attended the regular weekly club meetings, but had never won the drawing. Finally, the officers decided to rig the next one so that Harry would win.

Harry was given No. 26, and the hat was filled with nothing but 26's. They asked him to draw for that week, and true to form, he reached into the hat, stirred the tickets, and pulled one out. It was 7⅞!

Slutsky, Brandow in Miami

Report Area Republicans 4 to 1 for Rockefeller

NEAL BRANDOW

By LYNN MULVANEY

Area Republicans are for Rockefeller 4 to 1, according to Ulster County Republican vice-chairman and delegate to the GOP Miami Beach convention, Ben Slutsky.

The Ellenville hotel owner flew into Miami yesetrday to join the district's other delegate, Greene County Chairman Neal Brandow, and other members of the state's 92-member delegation, all of whom are pledged to the governor with the exception of four.

Staying Until . . .

Solidly behind Rockefeller's bid for the presidential nomination and his attempt to stop former Vice-President Richard M. Nixon, the two delegates maintain they will stay with the governor until he withdraws or releases them.

The delegates and their alternates, Albert S. Callan of Old Chatham and Thomas A. Johnson Jr. of Stanfordville in Dutchess County, will be briefed on the GOP platform in meetings prior to the convention, Slutsky said. Rather than take a stand on issues at this time, they will wait and see how things develop during convention sessions. Most agree that the Vietnam War is the prime issue.

Slutsky said he determined Rockefeller's popularity in the district through a sampling of voter opinion gleaned through letters and telephone calls received rather steadily ever since he was designated a delegate.

Before leaving in a private jet yesterday morning from Orange County Airport, he told The Freeman that he personally felt Rockefeller was the most eminently qualified candidate for the Presidency.

Slutsky feels that New York State should be behind its leader and that the governor, as a member of an influential family, would be able to accomplish far more on the international scene than his opponents. "The Rockefeller's family's influence is felt throughout the world," he said.

The owner of the Nevele Country Club also based his opinion of the local voter's feeling expressed in several news media polls of district residents.

Hope for Swing

Even though the New York State delegation is shy the four delegate votes from Queens and Erie counties that are now committed to Nixon, the state committee is hopeful that the four will swing over to the governor before the first ballot.

A committeeman for about 30 years, he is chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority and has served on the advisory council of the Joint Legislative Committee on Housing and Multiple Dwellings in New York State. He has also been a member of the Citizens Expenditure Survey, a statewide tax research organization.

Brandow, a power in Republican politics in Greene County, was elected county clerk in 1952 and has headed the GOP organization there for a number of years.

City Beat

By HUGH REYNOLDS
Freeman City Hall Reporter

Mayor Garraghan is out in Cape Cod enjoying a brief vacation but before leaving managed to recreate the controversy over a new city hall which had lain dormant for quite some time.

Sometimes we wonder if Ray doesn't agitate people for agitation's sake. It was Ray that brought city hall plans to a screeching halt with statements about interest rates being too high and the city not being able to afford to build it at this time.

Suddenly (very suddenly) he decides he wants the hall and resolutions appear calling for the purchase of land and the hiring of an architect.

Ray must like those lightning moves—his passage of the sales tax in 48 hours was a classic. But perhaps he moved a bit too quickly this time, leaving some people in the dust, like the Council's finance chairman, Pete Mancuso.

Pete doesn't like to find out what his committee is planning by reading the newspapers. Especially when it happens to be something he doesn't favor.

However, Pete isn't one to hold grudges and he'll probably sign his committee report Tuesday night so the rest of the Council can take a vote on it. Of the other two members of the committee, we can't figure Joe Conlin—he doesn't say much to the press about pending city affairs, and John Naccarato has taken his stand — he's firmly against it.

John's reason's could use a bit of review. He's against everything in the two resolutions including the site. He said Broadway East was a blighted area and he had fears of the city being stuck down there if the new hall were built in that section.

It looks like John has given up on Downtown. True, things aren't very encouraging now but are we to throw up our hands and say to hell with it? It's a blighted area so leave it that way? Build anywhere but Downtown? Maybe the city boundaries should end at the top of Broadway hill.

We'd like to see the city do something for Downtown. After all, they can build parking lots uptown and run yearly street programs all over the rest of town but Downtown is the orphan.

A million dollars is a lot of money in this day and age. But so is the $40,000,000 Rondout is supposed to be worth when its rebuilt. A new city hall might just get it going. Nothing else has.

* * * *

WE'VE RECEIVED plenty of reports in recent weeks that something is rotten in Rondout Gardens. We've asked questions but the answers we got don't make much sense.

Most of the blame is being placed on inadequate test borings. Al Yosman, the man in charge, cites this as one of the reasons for why the Gardens didn't open July 19th as per schedule.

He also tells of unusually rainy weather (which it was) and union strikes (also true).

Let's take them one at a time. Test borings. We find it difficult to believe that anyone would build a $2 million complex on a questionable foundation. There's still a question of who did the borings. A spokesman from the Urban Renewal Agency says the whole affair is "very complicated." Isn't everything in urban renewal?

Bad weather. The bad weather struck us mostly in June. That was about a month before the scheduled completion date. Couldn't interior work be done on rainy days?

Strikes. We were on the construction site Tuesday when Yosman hosted the tour of people from the Rondout Community Action Committee. It was difficult to hear him with all the construction activity going around. The Teamsters may be striking but from what we observed the other trades weren't. Could a strike by one union cripple a project that winds up at least three months behind schedule?

Questions. Questions. Questions. And perhaps the most important one of all . . . . Where are they going to put those people who were moved out of Broadway East and were supposed to be moved into Rondout Gardens July 19th?

Six Americans Killed At Abandoned Base

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops, spraying tear gas, invaded a small U.S. Marine radio relay station overlooking the abandoned Khe Sanh combat base and killed six Americans and wounded 11 others, military spokesmen reported today.

It marked the third time in recent days that a small Marine unit suffered heavy losses in the northern provinces. Fourteen Marines were killed and 22 wounded in two engagements south of Da Nang Thursday.

The stepped-up enemy activity has lent support to intelligence predictions of an attack within the next month or two against Da Nang, headquarters of U.S. Marines in South Vietnam.

Marine headquarters announced in a delayed report that a North Vietnamese force of unknown size launched the attack on the Hill 950 radio relay station late Thursday night with mortars and grenades.

Early Friday morning, the enemy seized a landing zone for helicopters supplying the isolated outpost and then went on to penetrate the Marines' perimeter.

Retake Landing Zone

The Marine defenders counterattacked, driving out the North Vietnamese and retaking the helicopter landing zone. They reported killing five enemy, and capturing four rifles and four satchel charges.

Hill 950 overlooks Khe Sanh, which underwent a 77-day siege last winter and was abandoned in June in favor of a more mobile Marine force along the western flank of the demilitarized zone.

Below Khe Sanh, in the enemy stronghold of A Shau Valley, a light observation helicopter checking on enemy infiltration routes was downed by ground fire The two-man crew was rescued by another helicopter, but a third chopper, one of a number of aircraft sent in to provide cover, was hit by ground fire and exploded. Two crew members were killed and two others wounded.

Far south near the Cambodian border, U.S. jets, artillery and helicopters destroyed two oxcarts loaded with 30 to 40 big Russian-made 122mm rockets, the type used to shell Saigon in two enemy offensives earlier this year.

A U.S. spokesman said an observation helicopter spotted the oxcarts about 47 miles northwest of Saigon. The attacking aircraft zeroed in on the carts and set off a string of secondary explosions.

It was one of several reported interceptions across South Vietnam of war materiel destined for enemy troops presumably gathering strength in the long general lull in ground fighting.

Helicopter gunships reported sinking six sampans, believed to have been carrying arms, after a shootout with Viet Cong gunners aboard the craft in Long An Province, just south of Saigon.

In the northern province of Thua Thien, 101st Air Cavalry Division troops turned up a 2½-ton cache of armament, including mortars and 20,000 rounds of small arms ammunition.

Released Pilots Returning Home

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Three American Pilots released by the North Vietnamese prepared to return home today saying they had been well treated by their captors.

The three are scheduled to arrive Sunday at Kennedy International Airport in New York after commercial flights via Bangkok, the Middle East and Europe.

The three who arrived here Friday from Hanoi were Maj. James F. Low, 43, of Sausalito, Calif., a Korean war ace shot down by a missle Dec. 16, 1967; Maj. Fred Neale Thompson, 32, of Taylors, S.C., captured last March 20, and Capt. Joe Victor Carpenter, 37, of Victorville, Calif., captured last Feb. 15.

On July 18 Hanoi announced the trio had been released. But they did not arrive here on the once-a-week International Control Commission plane until Friday.

They were outfitted by the embassy today with new clothes to replace the white shirts, slacks and sandals issued by the North Vietnamese.

The three sidestepped questions about their future conduct in relation to the war. Low, asked if he was against the war as a result of his experiences, said, "That's not my bailiwick."

He refused to discuss whether he would fly more missions over North Vietnam.

Form VFW Post In Hurley Town

A Veterans of Foreign Wars post was formed in Town of Hurley Thursday night with 55 signed members, and an application for a VFW charter was forwarded to the Department of New York at New York City.

Joyce-Schrick Post 1386, VFW, Kingston sponsored 15 Hurley young men now serving overseas as charter members in the new post.

For the past three months organizers in the area have been signing charter members. The charter will be open for new members for 90 days.

The meeting was held at Mayone's Restaurant, Route 209, Hurley.

Politicking Goes On As Convention Nears

By JACK BELL

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The battle for the Republican presidential nomination is about to shift from arguments over polls and estimates of delegate strength to the personal impact of the two top contenders.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York cand former Vice President Richard M. Nixon are ready to present their individual credentials to the politicians and the impact they make could have more to do with the result than everything controversial that has gone before.

Is Nixon, who lost by an eyelash in 1960 to John F. Kennedy, sufficiently rehabilitated politically to be trusted with this year's nomination?

While the nation awaited the two major candidates' facedown with something less than the excitement attendant to pro football, a great deal of not very effectual politicking was going on behind the scenes here.

Putting on Pressure

Among these Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio remained an inscrutable holdout. Nobody could forecast where Gov. George Romney might try to lead his Michigan delegation or where, Gov. Spiro T. Agnew would take Maryland.

Backers of Reagan, who says he isn't yet a candidate, put out a brochure that rivaled the well-financed efforts in behalf of Rockefeller. If Rockerfeller led the field in preconvention spending for the elusive nomination, Reagan's people were not far behind.

The swarming pro-Rockefeller troops were adding up all of the bits and pieces they could turn up to argue that Nixon will not become the nominee Wednesday night. They pointed to breaks here and there in the Nixon armament.

Resentment Showing

A backlog of resentment against Rockefeller for not having campaigned for Barry Goldwater in 1964 was beginning to show itself. No delegate talked about it in those terms, but the resentment residue was there.

What was incumbent on Rockefeller, scheduled to make the scene tonight, was a personal salesmanship to individual delegates.

Nixon would appear later, accompanied by his wife, daughters and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's grandson, to stand for endless, sweating hours to shake hands with the faithful.

One man claiming to be state chairman has scheduled his own convention in a downtown Sacramento hotel. Another group recognized by Wallace is meeting at a motel on the outskirts of the state capital.

Final Soviet Troops Leave Czech Borders

By JAMES O. JACKSON

BRATISLAVA, Czechoslovakia (UPI)—The last of Soviet troops left over from maneuvers were reported withdrawn from Czechoslovakia today, indicating success of Czech Communist reformers' efforts to win the Soviet bloc's tolerance of Prague's liberalized brand of communism.

The Defense Ministry announced in Prague the departure of the last Soviet army units as Czech Communist leaders conferred with the Soviets and their staunchest allies in Bratislava.

The Soviet troops had been left from maneuvers of the Warsaw Pact, Eastern European communism's counterpart to NATO, in June. The troops had been left on Czech soil to try to pressure the liberalized regime to slow down its reforms.

But a rally in Bratislava intended to make the reconciliation between Soviet Russia and its allies and the administration of Alexander Dubcek was called off at the last minute.

"There will be no rally," a spokesman for the Czech Communist presidium said. No explanation was given but informed sources said East German President Walter Ulbricht and Polish Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka refused to attend such a rally.

Informed sources said it was probably that the Gomulka and Ulbricht were apprehensive that any such enthusiasm could infect their own peoples just across the Czech border. Ulbricht and Gomulka had been the most bitter critics of the new Czech regime.

Another indication that the Czechs had overcome the threat of intervention by the Soviets to crush the new Prague regime was the sudden shutoff of propaganda attacks from East bloc nations. Only East Germany kept up its attacks against the Czechs on the radio.

The Czechs conferred with the Soviets, the Poles, the East Germans, the Hungarians and Bulgarians in a workers vacation hotel called "The King's Valley" overlooking the Danube.

The parties in the meeting were expected to confer only until about noon then sign a joint communique agreeing to tolerate the Czech's liberalized government in return for Prague's continued loyalty to the Warsaw Pact and the Eastern bloc's economic cooperation plan, informed sources said.

Slutsky, Brandow in Miami

Report Area Republicans 4 to 1 for Rockefeller

NEAL BRANDOW

By LYNN MULVANEY

Area Republicans are for Rockefeller 4 to 1, according to Ulster County Republican vice-chairman and delegate to the GOP Miami Beach convention, Ben Slutsky.

The Ellenville hotel owner flew into Miami yesetrday to join the district's other delegate, Greene County Chairman Neal Brandow, and other members of the state's 92-member delegation, all of whom are pledged to the governor with the exception of four.

Staying Until . . .

Solidly behind Rockefeller's bid for the presidential nomination and his attempt to stop former Vice-President Richard M. Nixon, the two delegates maintain they will stay with the governor until he withdraws or releases them.

The delegates and their alternates, Albert S. Callan of Old Chatham and Thomas A. Johnson Jr. of Stanfordville in Dutchess County, will be briefed on the GOP platform in meetings prior to the convention, Slutsky said. Rather than take a stand on issues at this time, they will wait and see how things develop during convention sessions. Most agree that the Vietnam War is the prime issue.

Slutsky said he determined Rockefeller's popularity in the district through a sampling of voter opinion gleaned through letters and telephone calls received rather steadily ever since he was designated a delegate.

Before leaving in a private jet yesterday morning from Orange County Airport, he told The Freeman that he personally felt Rockefeller was the most eminently qualified candidate for the Presidency.

Slutsky feels that New York State should be behind its leader and that the governor, as a member of an influential family, would be able to accomplish far more on the international scene than his opponents. "The Rockefeller's family's influence is felt throughout the world," he said.

The owner of the Nevele Country Club also based his opinion of the local voter's feeling expressed in several news media polls of district residents.

Hope for Swing

Even though the New York State delegation is shy the four delegate votes from Queens and Erie counties that are now committed to Nixon, the state committee is hopeful that the four will swing over to the governor before the first ballot.

Rockefeller strategists hope to block a first ballot nomination of the former vice-president and later defeat California governor Ronald Reagan or any other candidates making a bid.

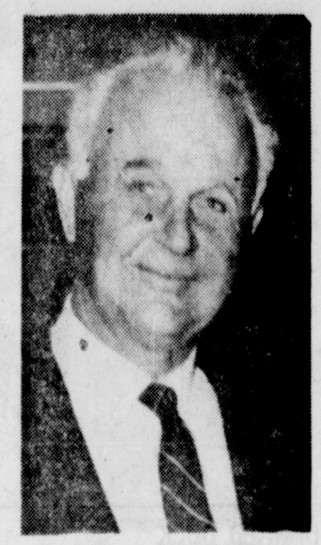

Slutsky was elected to his vice-chairman post on March 12 of this year, filling a vacancy created through the death of Jesse McHugh.

A committeeman for about 30 years, he is chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority and has served on the advisory council of the Joint Legislative Committee on Housing and Multiple Dwellings in New York State. He has also been a member of the Citizens Expenditure Survey, a statewide tax research organization.

Brandow, a power in Republican politics in Greene County, was elected county clerk in 1952 and has headed the GOP organization there for a number of years.

A former candidate for the post of Assemblyman, he was also a supervisor of Coxsackie.

City Beat

By HUGH REYNOLDS
Freeman City Hall Reporter

Mayor Garraghan is out in Cape Cod enjoying a brief vacation but before leaving managed to recreate the controversy over a new city hall which had lain dormant for quite some time.

Sometimes we wonder if Ray doesn't agitate people for agitation's sake. It was Ray that brought city hall plans to a screeching halt with statements about interest rates being too high and the city not being able to afford to build it at this time.

Suddenly (very suddenly) he decides he wants the hall and resolutions appear calling for the purchase of land and the hiring of an architect.

Ray must like those lightning moves—his passage of the sales tax in 48 hours was a classic. But perhaps he moved a bit too quickly this time, leaving some people in the dust, like the Council's finance chairman, Pete Mancuso.

DRAFT HORSES PAT AND TOM broke all previous records and won the State Lightweight Championship at the 1967 Erie County Fair in Hamburg, N. Y., as driver Harold Montgomery put them through their paces. Frank Vurckie, of Sundown's Hi V Ranch, will be bringing lightweight champs Tom and Pat, along with state heavyweight champs Doug and Rudy and other teams of his famed draft horses, to this year's Ulster County Fair. Seen at Rhinebeck last year, the horses will be competing in pulling contests at the Ulster fair for the first time under the sponsorship of Sheriff William B. Martin and his Sheriff's Posse. In the Old Days It Was Stone Boats; Now It's Done With Weight Machines

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

You say the Ulster County Fair just isn't what it used to be? That back in the beginning the "cattle show" was the lure of lures. That in those days fairs were never held in the summer, but after the summer was past and local farmers had reaped in a harvest of crisp, folding green from boarders up from the metropolis. That only after the city slickers' summer board money was safely inside the walls of the village bank did farmers begin readying that second harvest (of vegetables and grains and the finest specimens from their herds and flocks) for exhibition at the fair.

Well, you may have a point. It's true enough that those were the days when a man could take pride in winning a two dollar premium...and fair promotion was geared to encouraging improvement of stock and farm produce...and farmers and their wives drove many a buckboard mile just to compare reapers, plows and horse rakes and utensils of all descriptions.

Thousands crowded into those early fairs, attracted by the horse racing, balloon ascensions, wheelbarrow and bicycle races and other amusements no longer with us. But old timers still talk about the fair as though it was the only day in the year worth remembering at all. It was once almost a method of keeping time. We've heard octogenarians say such things as "I sold the first house I ever owned just two weeks before the 1902 fair," or "It didn't snow that winter until three months after the fair of 1898."

Day of Reunions.

Almost as important as the exhibitions and awards in those bygone days was the fact that the fair was a day of reunion for old friends and relatives. More often than not, many of them met only on fair day and it was a time for chatting, conversation and catching up on the gossip of the past year.

They came to those earlier Ulster County fairs (once in Ellenville, later in Kingston) in hordes — arriving in big wagons and carrying baskets of fried chicken, biscuits and fruit for a picnic spread. New babies were shown around and newlyweds were introduced.

An elderly gentleman of our acquaintance who was a lad of 12 at the turn of the century fondly recalls that youngsters had the best time "they ever had in their lives" at the county fair, while the old folks seemed content to observe the scene and chat away while eating from bags of peanuts.

September, he says, was the month for the fair and those who came early enough to see the exhibits being received and arranged were treated to a noisy scene. Bulls and cows and oxen bellowed away, horses neighed above the din, and droves of sheep bleated in uproarious rebellion on the way to their pens. Farm wagons arrived in a constant stream, loaded with pigs, calves, ducks, geese, turkeys and hens . . . or vegetables, grains and fruits. Housewives followed in the family carriages, bringing their bundles of patchwork, crochet and fancy needlework, and any other products of their labor that could be exhibited as useful or ornamental.

Fakirs of Every Hue.

Fakirs were popular attractions at early fairs and their stands bloomed everywhere. Their arrival on the scene was always cause for excitement as well as for pushing and shoving, as was the appearance of the judges, identifiable by their ribboned badges.

If the main crowd was not present in full force until the afternoon, boys from all over Ulster County were on hand as the sun came up. Our elderly friend remembers getting up before daybreak and walking many miles to reach the fair and go over the fence before the gates were opened and watchers demanded the 25 cents admission fee. Once inside, the main attractions for our youthful gate crasher were the popcorn man, the whip man and the races.

He remembers, too, that the fair brought a continuous line of carriages, wagons and turnouts of all descriptions along local roads. Hay-wagons and other vehicles of the fields were fitted out with temporary seats for the big day and everyone squeezed in, dressed in their "Sunday - go - to - meetin' clothes" and carrying well - stocked picnic baskets - One - horse shays, buckboards with narrow seats, high - bodied buggies with elevated seats, natty horses and sagging nags — all went to the fair. The oldsters brought along their patchwork quilts and rag carpets and young country swains in paper collars escorted their best girls, most of them attired in pretty muslin gowns trimmed with heavy layers of lace and fancy Leghorn straw hats.

Thousands crowded around the grand stand to hear the annual speech, see the marshal in full regalia astride his white horse, stare in astonishment at the largest pumpkin ever grown, and then assembled on the green for the different trials of weight - pulling.

Now there was a spectacle, you say? Weight - pulling trials were really something to see in those days when huge draft horses sank to their knees as they pulled the stone boats along? Too bad such entertainments have passed from the scene!

For those of you who have been waxing nostalgic, the 1968 version of the Ulster County Fair at New Paltz this coming week will offer memories anew in the horse pulling contest category. If the piquant smells of homemade molasses candy and gingerbread no longer perfume the air at the fair, if the four - for - a - quarter tin - type man no longer plies his trade, if the hurdy - gurdy no longer beckons youngsters to the carousel, there will at least be a horse pulling contest — thanks mostly to the efforts of Sheriff William Martin.

If the cane man (get three rings on the end of the cane and win a prize), and the African "Hoodoo' (try your skill with a baseball at the head of a fast - dodging Negro youngster), and the minstrel shows and the side show attractions of fat lady and six-legged sheep are no more, the weight-pulling trials will live again.

The Ulster County Sheriff's Posse is bringing back the big draft horses (rarely seen except in beer advertisements these days) and, if they will not be pulling stone boats as they once did, they will be pitted against machines equally as difficult to budge.

On Saturday Night. ..

During the three - day run of this year's fair at New Paltz (Aug. 9-10-11), draft horse raiser and trainer Frank Vurckio, of Sundown's Hi V Ranch, will put his championship horses through their paces in a special performance on Aug. 10 from 6-9 p.m.

Vurckio's teams are unique in this day and age and their appearance at the Ulster County Fair will mark the first such exhibition for the fair in many years. The raising and training of draft horses is an endeavor that has almost disappeared from the New York State scene and Ulster County can boast the only such establishment left in the state because of Vurckio's mountaintiop ranch at Sundown in the Ellenville - Napanoch area. His horses have won several roomfuls of trophies for world championship honors in horse pulling contests and to see them in action is a show in itself. The big animals weight in at anywhere from 1,500 to 2,500 pounds. Even so there is plenty of straining away involved when it comes to pulling a heavy truck loaded with metal weights and men. The needle on the scales atop the truck moves steadily upwards as weight after weight is added to the load. But the indomitable horses are always ready to sweat and strain anew to the task . and as an exciting crowd attraction, Vurckio's horses pulling a mountain of weights puts to shame those Anheuser-Busch teams with their paltry load of beer barrels.

For those who'll be watching the action in New Paltz next Saturday night at the Ulster County Fair, a rare treat is in store. Resurrected from out of the past, a modern day version of the horse pulling contest is on its way —20 teams strong and decked out in nostalgia.

Didn't Secede

Kentucky and Missouri did not secede from the Union. This fact accounts for the 13 stars in the Confederate flag although there were only 11 Confederate States.

Disputed Possession

The only disputed possession of the United States is three square miles of Caribbean real estate called the Swan Islands. Both the United States and Honduras claim the islands, which lie 100 miles off the Central American coast, northeast of Honduras.

Saratoga Amphitheater A 'Superb' Attraction

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

It sounded like something that shouldn't be missed (close to 300 musicians and singers on stage at the same time), so tempo journeyed up to the Saratoga Performing Arts Center Thursday night to be in on the scene. What we saw was Eugene Ormandy conducting his Philadelphia Orchestra in the North American premiere of Alberto Ginastera's Psalm 150, for Chorus and Orchestra.

And the 107 musicians of The Philadelphia Orchestra had joined forces with 110 singers from the Capitol Hill Choral Society and the 55 choristers of the Berkshire Boy Choir for a gala opening program that was well worth the one-and-a-half hour drive.

Most Tempo readers must know by now that the Saratoga Performing Arts Center is the summer home of the New York City Ballet and The Philadelphia Orchestra. But what those who have never been there may not know is that the center is located in the beautiful 1,500-acre Saratoga Spa State Park, world-famous for its health pavilions and mineral baths. Just south of historic Saratoga Springs and only 30 miles from Albany, the Center is apple pie easy to reach from Kingston via the New York Thruway and Adirondack Northway.

Perfect for Families

It's a perfect place for a family to spend a weekend. Three swimming pools, two golf courses, tennis courts too numerous to count, and other recreational facilities are available to visitors. Picnic facilities abound and, nearby, one can enjoy the sport of kings at the famed Saratoga Race Track and Raceway.

But, first and foremost, there's the performing arts in wide and varied array. The New York City Ballet has just finished presenting 24 performances of 10 different programs from "The Nutcracker" and "Swan Lake" to "Jewels" and "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue." The Philadelphia Orchestra is currently in the process of giving 16 concerts of masterworks featuring out-

THOUSANDS ARE ATTRACTED daily or nightly to the Saratoga Performing Arts Center, summer home of the New York City Ballet and The Philadelphia Orchestra. Now in its third season this year in its magnificent aamphitheater, the upstate center offers 3,500 orchestra seats, 1,600 balcony seats and some 10,000 general admissions on the surrounding lawns. For Tempo's money, it's one of the most successful buildings ever constructed for the performing arts, provides superb stage facilities, the most advanced technical equipment and excellent acoustics and sightlines.

Gottschalk Show: Not Stylized

A champagne - style opening will pave the way for a month-long exhibit of recent paintings by Woodstock artist Dan Gottschalk. And the public is invited to the gala opening party this Sunday, Aug. 4, from 3 to 5 p.m., at the Parnassus Square Gallery, Lower Byrdcliffe Road, Woodstock.

Any new showing by Gottschalk can be counted on to illustrate his love of life, people, nature and the very act of painting itself. An artist who does not believe in a stylized show, he is noted for painting that which interests him and for using the style of painting most suited to his subject matter. He is attracted to the use of texture and his recent works utilize plastic, tissue, oils and sand.

The art colony of Rockport, Mass. will be highlighted in some of the still life paintings on view at Parnassus Square. These were executed during a two month visit to Cape Ann last spring. This year, too, the artist has returned to reinterpret his feelings of his visit last year to the Middle East. His most ambitious canvas in the new show is "Journey to the Middle East," exhibited recently at the Woodstock Artists Association and which elicited much comment.

And Portraits, Too

Gottschalk came to this country in 1939 from Germany to study in Florida, Colorado, New York City and Woodstock. His work has been exhibited in group shows in New Orleans, Florida, Provincetown and Woodstock, and has won top awards twice from Albany's Institute of History and Art. One man shows of his paintings have been seen in New York City, Quebec, Puerto Rico, New Orleans, Miami and Woodstock. In addition to winning the 1967 Herminie E. Kleinert Memorial Award, he was also named guest artist at the Ossabaw Island Project.

Following its opening Sunday, the Gottschalk exhibition will remain on view at Parnassus Square through Sept. 2.

Modern Latin Art at Storm King

The famous Nancy Sayles Day Collection of modern Latin art is now on public exhibition at the Storm King Art Center, Cornwall.

The collection has been loaned to the Center by the Museum of Art, Rhode Island School of Design, Providence, R. I. The Rhode Island museum, founded in 1877, is considered one of the best small museums in the U.S. and has a most comprehensive collection of fine arts.

The Nancy Sayles Day exhibition will continue through October and area patrons may visit the Storm King galleries daily from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m. Admission is free.

In the last decade, 20th Century Latin-American art began to claim international attention. It has been strongly debated whether or not it forms a distinct school, a definable entity apart from international modernism. One thing has become certain, however; many individual artists of this group are producing works of the highest quality.

The Day Media

Nancy Sayles Day derived much stimulation and inspiration from the Spanish and pre-Columbian cultures for her own lifetime of personal art in a wide range of media, including painting, woodcarving, textiles, glass, metal-working, and ceramics.

Among the outstanding works at the Storm King exhibition are three paintings by Joaquin Torres-Garcia of Uruguay — "Adam and Eve," "Composition 548," and "1943 America"; a painting entitled "Familia Pinzon" by Fernando Botero of Colombia; a painting, "Head," by David Alfano Siqueiros; and a work entitled "The Conquest of Air" by Diego Rivera of Mexico.

The Gifford Beal exhibition of paintings, water colors, drawings and etchings, which has been on exhibition during the past month at the Art Center, will continue until Aug. 25.

Arnold Stang At Berkshire

Arnold Stang and Will Lee will star in Woody Allen's play, "Death Knocks," third attraction of the season on the Berkshire Theatre Festival's 1968 roster at Stockbridge, Mass.

Older readers of Tempo will remember Arnold Stang for his famous portrayals of Gerard on the Henry Morgan radio show, and as Francis, the stagehand, on Milton Berle's television show. Stang comes to the nearby Stockbridge Festival from Michigan, where he has just completed a run in "Tobacco Road" at the Houghton Lake Playhouse. Area residents who saw the Broadway production of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" will know he was in that one, too.

Will Lee has been seen at Stockbridge in "The Merchant of Venice" and "Waiting for Godot." His most recent stage credit was in "Awake and Sing" in Boston at the Charles Playhouse.

A Triple Bill

Humorist Woody Allen's "Death Knocks" will make up the first part of a production titled "Next" at the Berkshire Theatre. Also on the triple bill which opens Wednesday, Aug. 7 for a two week run, are "Next" by Terrence McNally, and "Adaptation" by Elaine May

Humorist Allen has subtitled his play as "an existential vaudeville sketch for two comedians" and says it concerns the hilarious confrontation between and old man who plays the horses and his double, thinly disguised as "Death." Needless to say, famous funnyman Allen has used the Don Juan convention with the kind of humor that marks his numerous movie, TV and theatrical performances.

David Margulies, of the American Conservatory Theatre, will direct the Allen and McNally plays and Elaine May will direct her own "Adaptation."

Buckley Injured

Buckley was described as in "fairly good condition" in Stamford Hospital. His wife Patricia and a guest, Princess Jean Lichtenstein, also suffered minor injuries but were treated on the boat.

DIANAN ROSS AND THE SUPREMES, Motown recording artists who zoomed to fame via albums and TV appearances, will be a special, one night attraction at the Saratoga Performing Arts Center next Monday evening, Aug. 5. The rock 'n' rolling trio will also delve into a bit of soul music during a concert which begins at 8:30 p. m. Nancy Sayles Day derived much stimulation and inspiration from the Spanish and pre-Columbian cultures for her own lifetime of personal art in a wide range of media, including painting, woodcarving, textiles, glass, metal-working, and ceramics.

Among the outstanding works at the Storm King exhibition are three paintings by Joaquin Torres-Garcia of Uruguay — "Adam and Eve," "Composition 548," and "1943 America"; a painting entitled "Familia Pinzon" by Fernando Botero of Colombia; a painting, "Head," by David Alfano Siqueiros; and a work entitled "The Conquest of Air" by Diego Rivera of Mexico.

The Gifford Beal exhibition of paintings, water colors, drawings and etchings, which has been on exhibition during the past month at the Art Center, will continue until Aug. 25.

Arnold Stang At Berkshire

Arnold Stang and Will Lee will star in Woody Allen's play, "Death Knocks," third attraction of the season on the Berkshire Theatre Festival's 1968 roster at Stockbridge, Mass.

Older readers of Tempo will remember Arnold Stang for his famous portrayals of Gerard on the Henry Morgan radio show, and as Francis, the stagehand, on Milton Berle's television show. Stang comes to the nearby Stockbridge Festival from Michigan, where he has just completed a run in "Tobacco Road" at the Houghton Lake Playhouse. Area residents who saw the Broadway production of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" will know he was in that one, too.

Will Lee has been seen at Stockbridge in "The Merchant of Venice" and "Waiting for Godot." His most recent stage credit was in "Awake and Sing" in Boston at the Charles Playhouse.

A Triple Bill

Humorist Woody Allen's "Death Knocks" will make up the first part of a production titled "Next" at the Berkshire Theatre. Also on the triple bill which opens Wednesday, Aug. 7 for a two week run, are "Next" by Terrence McNally, and "Adaptation" by Elaine May

Humorist Allen has subtitled his play as "an existential vaudeville sketch for two comedians" and says it concerns the hilarious confrontation between and old man who plays the horses and his double, thinly disguised as "Death." Needless to say, famous funnyman Allen has used the Don Juan convention with the kind of humor that marks his numerous movie, TV and theatrical performances.

David Margulies, of the American Conservatory Theatre, will direct the Allen and McNally plays and Elaine May will direct her own "Adaptation.

Buckley Injured

Buckley was described as in "fairly good condition" in Stamford Hospital. His wife Patricia and a guest, Princess Jean Lichtenstein, also suffered minor injuries but were treated on the boat.

Television

THE ELEPHANT AND THE DONKEY dominate home screens this month during the national nominating conventions. NBC, CBS and ABC are all tackling the Goliath-size job of bringing personalized, close-up coverage of the political convention to home audiences. And, as most of you will already know, the Republicans air from Miami beginning this Monday evening, and the Democrats take over videoland the final week of August.

High above the convention floor in Miami, and again at Chicago Walter Cronkite will be the anchor man on which a 25-man-team of CBS newsmen will swing to the sway and surge of convention events. Chet Huntley and David Brinkley are anchormen for NBC's all-out convention effort. "Unconventional" is the word for ABC's plans for the conventions. The gavel-to-gavel viewing concept is out—coverage is to be wrapped up each evening in a 9:30-11 p.m. edited colorcast of the day's doings, including action on the floor, major speeches and what goes on behind-the-scenes in conference rooms.

Tremendous organization and planning by the three networks have gone into trying to make coverage of the conventions more interesting this time around. And, as an American institution, the conventions will be interesting. If they often drone on for hours in dull platform discussions and duller delegate caucuses, there is something special about being right on hand during every minute of the most exciting parts of an historic happening.

On Shoo-Ins

And if you think there's no point in watching because both parties already appear to have sure winners, just remember that political conventions and elections are notorious for upsetting the shoo-ins. You don't have to think too hard to come up with a good list of candidates who 'could lose' before they lost . . . and we just might very well have a similar situation this year.

Jumping from the "new politics" to the old classics, it's nice to know that those memorable youngsters of the Mississippi Valley of the 1840s will appear on TV this fall. Huck Finn, Tom Sawyer and Becky Thatcher come to NBC in an updated version of Mark Twain's ageless story of childhood, Huckleberry Finn.

"The New Adventures of Huck Finn" will air Sunday evenings, beginning Sept. 15 at 7 p.m. and it'll be the first weekly video series to combine animation with live-action. The children remain "live" in each episode, but Injun Joe, as the animated caricature of his "old, ugly self," is the always-changing villain in each segment.

And jumping back from this fall to last week, we found some exceptionally fine programming offered for mid-summer viewing. Along with the youngsters around our house, we've started tuning in the series being carried by Channel 5 on the Harlem Cultural Festival. Last Sunday night's segment was a joy. Originating from Harlem's Mount Morris Park, it featured gospel singer Mahalia Jackson, the Angelic Choir, the Faith Temple Choir and the Children's Choir from Nutley, N. J.

Candid By-Play

Time for Americans is another summer show that intriques and last Monday night's exploration of New Rochelle, a typical suburban community, in a segment called "Can White Suburbia Think Black?" was a candid by-play through which participants, both white and black, learned what it means to be white and black.

Then there was the complete ballet version of "Carmina Burana," choreographed by John Butler and performed by the Nederlans Dans Theatre, on Wednesday night. A fascinating history surrounds this dramatic work, which was adapted in 1935 by Carl Orff from a group of secular songs discovered over a century ago in a German monstery. To preserve the essence of the work, it was filmed on the grounds and in the halls of a medieval castle in Holland.

BEST VIEWING BETS for the near future would seem to be:

Tonight, Sat., Aug. 3

Sunday, Aug. 4

THE TALK SHOWS: Meet the Press on NBC at 12:30 p.m. has a special hour-long session with GOP presidential hopeful, Nelson Rockefeller, from Miami Beach and only one day prior to the opening there of the GOP convention; Face the Nation (CBS, 12:30) talks to Ronald Reagan; Issues and Answers on ABC at 1 p.m. also comes from Miami Beach and has Sen. Everett Dirkson, chairman of the GOP platform committee, and Gov. Daniel Evans of Washington, convention keynote speaker.

THE CAMPAIGN AND THE CANDIDATES (NBC, 6:30 p.m.). A pre-convention preview of what will be in store for viewers later in the week with David Brinkley and Chet Huntley showing us Convention Hall in Miami Beach and other sites there.

PRE - CONVENTION COVERAGE (CBS, 10 p.m.). Walter Cronkite previews the men and methods to be used during the GOP gathering in Miami.

Monday, Aug. 5

THE POLITICAL INFIGHTING BEGINS among GOP presidential hopefuls today and, as reported above, all three networks will be there to supply blow-by-blow accounts through Thursday's session. CBS News will cover the opening session from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and the evening session throughout the week from 7:30 p.m. to conclusion. NBC covers opening-day sessions from 9:30 a.m. to end of daytime action and 7:30 p.m. to conclusion. ABC limits its coverage to a 90-minute summary from 9:30 - 11 p.m. each day on each day's events. Wednesday night should produce a GOP presidential candidate via roll call nominations.

NET JOURNAL (Channel 17, 8 p.m.). Barry Goldwater and William Miller, his GOP running-mate in the 1964 Presidential election, provide a wealth of anecdotes and a blend of political gossip and wicked wit on "That Was the Election That Was."

Tuesday, Aug. 8

Wednesday, Aug. 7

NET FESTIVAL (Channel 17, 9 p.m.). "The Rise and Fall of Mozart" evaluates the tragic decline in the composer's fortunes during the last 10 years of his life.

Thursday, Aug. 8

MIKE AND LIBERACE (Channel 9, 10 p.m.). Liberace heads Mike Douglas's guest list for this impromptu hour of song, dance and comedy. (T.G.)

THIN OR BROAD

For deep set eyes use white or bone shadow from lashline to brow, then add the thinnest thread of eyeliner. For prominent eyelids make the lid recede by smoothing on brown shadow from lashline to the crease and play up the area above with white highlighter and draw on a wide band of eyeliner.

Hacker & Beethoven

This past Thursday evening, William Penny Hacker presented an All-Beethoven Piano Concert at Aquinas Theatre, Mount Saint Mary College, Newburgh. The concert, which was given exclusively for the Sisters of the Mount and their guests, included such favorites as the Moonlight Sonata, the "Waldstein" Sonata, and the Appassionate Sonata.

He is also the conductor for the Virginia and New York State Symphony Orchestras and refers to the theatre at Mount Saint Mary as his favorite "musical rendezvous."

Presentation Show

Currently on view at the Woodstock Artists Association gallery is a combined exhibition featuring the Presentation Show and a memorial show of the paintings of Sally Jacobs. There are seven artists included in the Presentation Show — Frances Basch, Gladys Brodsky, Grace Greenwood, Cornelia Hartmann, Florence Keveson, Ann Roberts, and Roman Wachtel — whose work represents a cross-section of contemporary attitudes and styles of artistic presentation.

Frances Basch creates what might be called human landscapes, in which the figure is surrounded, but never subordinated, by the elements of his environment. It is strong work with a verbal as well as a visual message—the artist makes extensive use of both collage and calligraphy. Especially provocative is "Tamari To Marry—Or—Maternal Hebrew Voices."

Gladys Brodsky is the most visually direct artist in the show. The abstract outline of human form cuts into the stark white background, while the form itself is a field on which the artist creates dynamics of internal stress and resolution through her manipulation of color and texture.

'Stone' Colors

In Grace Greenwood's work one sees a unique sculptural quality that is created not only by the artist's use of "stone" colors, but also by her rounding of form and the building of the composition by combining complementary visual-textural elements. There is an inner peace and calm in the simplicity of the work, a directness that is not blunt, a clarity that is atmospherically distilled.

Cornelia Hartmann depicts the world of childhood in a manner that is psychologically revealing of the bittersweet essence of this segment of [illegible] that cannot survive itself. Her children stand in a clear light, and catch and reflect it, giving their figures an aura of separation from the reality of their environment. It is as if these children were somehow not real, but only memories of reality and a physical existence.

Ann Roberts' paintings are personal statements, composed images of psychological-emotional ideas. And yet, although the paintings are technically direct in their confrontation of the viewer, the artist's reluctance to label her work would seem to indicate that there can be no intellectual definition of each painting other than the immediate reaction of the viewers as he sees the work. But nothing should be taken at face value alone, not even color, if one wants to penetrate beneath the painted surface of each work.

The arilographs of Roman Wachtel are abstractions of the female form whose flowing curves and textural variation convey a sculptural quality. Rather than being directly confronted by "stone" the viewer is given the impression of pigment that has been transferred through stone onto the surface of each work. There is harmony and clarity in Wachtel's use of a single color to describe his form.

Also at the gallery is a memorial show in honor of Sally Jacobs, a unique and charming painter who worked and lived in Woodstock from 1949 until shortly before her death last year. Although a self-taught painter, her work is neither primitive nor naive. If one must classify her style, it could be called elegant folk art. Her love of life and of people is reflected in her paintings. Her manipulation of pigment was skillful and direct.

Both shows continue through Aug. 7.

'New Look' Art In an Old Town

Sculptors, there are many, watercolorists abound and a panorama of fine arts is waiting for all who visit the 11th Annual Mystic Outdoor Art Festival, Aug. 10 and 11 in neighboring Connecticut.

Three hundred artists, both professional and amateur, from Canada to Florida, will contend for the attention of the browser and collector alike along the streets of this friendly Connecticut village. Talented young artists vie with hoary sea-dogs turned painters for the judges' eyes and public approval. The atmosphere is casual but the high caliber of talent reflects the show's wide reputation as the best on the summer circuit.

The happy thousands milling throughout the streets of this old sea-faring community turned art gallery for the weekend arrive by car, train, plane and, often, by boat. Excellent docking facilities have greatly increased the latter mode of transportation in the past few years.

Whether tastes are way out or way in, provincial or urbane, the Mystic show offers the broadest possible variety of art framed by a unique background that over 400,000 people have enjoyed in the show's ten-year history.

Beatles Chuck Apple

By LARRY HEINZERLING

LONDON (AP) — The Beatles were cleaned out Wednesday. More than 500 fans of the mop-topped foursome stormed their psychedelic boutique for free clothes and other Beatle gear like beads and highly colored posters.

The Beatles were tired of being "just shopkeepers." So, in their own headquarters of hippie outfits—a place they called "Apple"—they gave away $48,000 worth of stock.

Shoving, shouting and elbowing marked the second day of the shop's giveaway. Gasping patrons emerged clutching mod dresses, beads, posters and other psychedelic paraphernalia.

The shop opened as usual Tuesday. Customers were told they could take what they wanted. By noon, when the shop closed, about $24,000 worth of jackets, overcoats and trousers had been handed out.

Screams, grunts and groans went up as police barricaded the door on Baker Street Wednesday and pushed the crowds back, letting in a few customers at a time.

"It's rather tight in there," he complained. "It's hard to breathe and there are a lot of elbows."

The Beatles went into the business earlier this year under what they punningly call Applecore (Apple Corp.). They went into clothes, music publishing and records, films and electronics in a big way.

A Beatles spokesman explained: "They were all tired of the business of being shopkeepers. All four decided to close the shop."

Rumors have circulated, however, that "Apple" was a failing business.

STEVE McQUEEN and FAYE DUNAWAY, the Bonnie of "Bonnie and Clyde," are the stars of "The Thomas Crown Affair," an exciting film about a big bank heist. In Deluxe Color, the movie is now on screen at both the Mayfair Theatre and the Sunset Drive-In. It's doing a solo at the Mayfair; is on a double bill with "8 on the Lam" at the Sunset.

DEAN MARTIN sits down for a game of poker with the girls from the local saloon in scene from "5 Card Stud." The suspenseful western, now playing at the 9W Drive-In, also stars Robert Mitchum. On the 9W's double bill is still another western, "The Sons of Katie Elder," with John Wayne.

MOVIES

THE THOMAS CROWN AFFAIR. Ever since she took the country by storm in "Bonnie and Clyde," Faye Dunaway has been the darling of the fashion magazines. Now "The Thomas Crown Affair" puts the fetching Miss Dunaway in a million dollar wardrobe and, if you want to count 'em, you'll find she makes more than 30 costume changes. Her co-star, the equally fetching Steve McQueen, is not to be outdone; plays a millionaire bank robber in expensive suits and masculine jewelry, worth a fortune.

McQueen is cast as Thomas Crown, a Boston tycoon with a brilliant criminal mind. Boared with Beacon Hill and the Establishment, he masterminds a flawless robbery of staggering proportions that leaves the police without a clue. With more than $2 - million in loot missing in the big bank heist, enter Faye Dunaway as a girl insurance investigator on the right side of the law.

In no time flat, Faye singles out McQueen as the guilty party. But what's this? The chic, beautiful, career crime fighter finds herself falling in love with the rich, urbane, handsone Bostonian who gets his kicks by robbing banks.

With the cop and the robber in love, Thomas Crown plans a second crime. He says it'll be his last before reforming and figures that if the gal really loves him, she won't tip off the police. What she does in the face of this cruel dilemma is an unsuspected surprise but we won't give away the ending and spoil all your fun. You can find out yourself by seeing "Crown" at either the Mayfair Theatre or Sunset Drive - In currently.

THE DETECTIVE. Frank Sinatra is back as a cool and tough detective in a film that is not for those whose sheltered way of life is easily upset by factual, hard-hitting shockers. The language tossed around when a nude male corpse is found minces no words.

If the language would make a gentle soul freeze in his tracks, so would the bizarre plot. For the corpse in question is that of a homosexual scion of a big-city big shot and, to find his unknown roommate, Detective Joe Leland (Sinatra) takes the action into all the known gay bars in town. As Sinatra meets up with queens and scores of pretty boys, the audience gets a look at a world which has remained virtually closed to the screen. A number of picturesque New York locations serve as a background for the film—the Wall Street heliport, Columbia University, the docks of New York and many of Sinatra's own favorite haunts, such as Jilly's, Mike Manucci's and Gatsby's.

"The Detective" certainly pulls no verbal punches in revealing the corrupution, vice and sexual deviation found in today's society. It's an almost too adult look at a police detective and a behind-the-scenes revelation of a big city police department. All the slow, dirty work of finding a murderer is there. But so, too, is a lot of bisexuality and shocking scenes that seem aimed at sensationalizing.

If you can manage things like nymphomania along with all that other, you will at least see an excellent dramatic performance by Sinatra and another by Tony Musante, who does some rare emoting as a brawny "queen." It's now playing at the Community Theatre.

Law and Order At 212 Tonight

"Law and order," a mixed-media - music - theatre event incorporating electronic music, dance, live music, slides, films and projections, is being presented by Group 212 Intermedia Workshop. Dr. Franklin Morris, Syracuse University School of Music faculty member, is returning to 212 for the second year in a row to present the program.

Last year Dr. Morris premiered "All Others Will Be Towed Away" at Group 212. This work was similar in nature to the new one and toured several universities. It was also presented last winter at Donnel Library, New York City.

"Law and Order" will be performed only one time, that being toright, Saturday, Aug. 3 at 9 p.m. with a nominal donation asked to the artists.

Group 212 is located on Route 212 between Woodstock and Saugerties.

AS PRETTY A MARIA as any actress who has ever been cast in the role, pert performer Janet Davidson is playing the part of the Puerto Rican sweetheart at Playhouse-on-the-Hudson. Maria, of course, is the heroine of Leonard Bernstein's "West Side Story," and the Playhouse's production of the bittersweet musical is currently on-stage there through Aug. 10. Performances are scheduled Wednesdays through Saturdays and reservations may be made through the theatre box office at Cornwall-on-Hudson.

Performances are scheduled Wednesdays through Saturdays and reservations may be made through the theatre box office at Cornwall-on-Hudson.

Ever Durable 'Guys and Dolls' Back Again

Currently dazzling and delighting local theatre - goers at the Woodstock Playhouse is "The Apple Tree," a glittering musical with emphasis on high camp. This charming romp, following performances tonight and tomorrow night, will be followed on Aug. 7 by "Guys and Dolls," still one of the freshest and most entertaining musicals around after almost two decades of exposure.

"Guys and Dolls" is that perennial favorite that transports audiences to the world of the Broadway scene. Boasting one of the best books and some of the finest lyrics ever written, the show swept audiences off their feet when it first took to the stage. The original production ran for 1,200 performances and was revived five years later with no loss of energy. Critics have been fondly uncritical of' 'Guys and Dolls" over the years — often outdoing each other in lavishing superlatives on this musical based on a story and characters by the one and only Damon Runyon.

Pure entertainment all the way, the durable musical boasts two love stories, each equally wacky and each complicated by the choice necessitated between rolling the dice and settling down to love and marriage. Runyon's own Broadway, of course, is the setting and the plot is peopled with colorful underworld characters, such as Nathan Detroit, Sky Masterson, Harry the Horse, Benny Southstreet, and Nicely - Nicely Johnson.

The Flavor's There

All the color, kookiness and flavor that Runyon gave to his people in his role of humorist humanist has been captured in the play.

First, there's Nathan Detroit, proprietor of "The Oldest Established Permanent Floating Crap Game in New York," whose irregular and erractic star of the high-stepping Hat Box Girls, is responsible for most of the laughs. In the Woodstock Playhouse production, Nathan will be played by R. Mack Miller and Miss Adelaide, the most gorgeous of all Broadway bomb - shells, by Marion Brash. Playhouse patrons will remember Miss Brash attired in Mae West decolletage gown and singing "I'll Make a Man of Anyone of You!" in last fall's "Oh What a Lovely War" at the art colony theatre.

The second romance revolves around night - hawk Sky Masterson, played by William Granell, and Salvation Army lass Sarah Brown, created by the multi - talented Tanny McDonald. Nico Boccio is Nicely - Nicely, Gene Nye is Rusty Charlie, Gary Miller is Benny Southstreet, Michael Bradshaw will cavort as Arvide Abernathy, George Pollock undertakes the part of Harry the Horse, and Trent Knepper is cast as Lt. Brannigan. Others in the cast will include Clyde Herlitz as Angie the Ox, Eugene Blythe as Society Max, Clint Almon as Liver - Lips Louie, and Allen Garfield as Big Jule. Harold Baldridge is directing and Harry Moss is designer.

Running Two Weeks

This Runyonesque world of swagger, absurdity, toughness, tenderness, laughter and song, acclaimed for making audiences lighter of heart, will run two weeks at the Playhouse. Final performances of "The Apple Tree" are slated tonight at 8:40 and Sunday at 7:30. Following its Aug. 7 opening, "Guys and Dolls" will run through Aug. 18 with shows Wednesday through Saturday at 8:40 and Sundays at 7:30. Matinees are scheduled Saturday afternoons and reservations may be made by calling the box office.

TANNY McDONALD and GENE NYE play the title roles in Mark Twain's "Adam and Eve," one of the three sequences in "The Apple Tree," the musical that accents camp. "Tree" is now playing at The Woodstock Playhouse through Aug. 4; will be followed by "Guys and Dolls" from Aug. 7 to 18.

In Place of Munch

An event of major musical proportions is in store for those who might be planning a drive to the Berkshire Festival at Tanglewood on Saturday, Aug. 17. That's the date the Boston Symphony Orchestra will play a program under the direction of Karel Ancerl.

The date had originally been set aside for an appearance by Charles Munch. When the ailing Munch was forced to bow out, Ancerl agreed to conduct the concert.

The Tanglewood program at the Lenox, Mass. music center by Ancerl will include: Gluck's "Overture to Iphigenia in Aulis," Symphony No. 1 by Shostakovich, and Dvorak's "Symphony No. 8 in G (old No. 4)."

The 60 - year - old Ancerl, conductor since 1950 of the Czech Philharmonic Orchestra, was born in Bohemia and educated at the Prague Conservatory. He is widely known through his recordings, his tours with the Czech orchestra, and his appearances throughout the world as a guest conductor. This will be his debut with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and he has revised his plans and come to the U.S. early for his first conducting appearance of the season.

Munch, former music director of the Boston Symphony, was to have conducted Berlioz' "Romeo and Juliet" until illness required the cancellation of his U.S. engagements this summer.

There Once Was A Special Place

Where Waltons and Thoreaus Sought Refuge

Elizabeth McGuire, of Main Street, Saugerties, submitted this nostalgic salute to the new "Sawyer-kill" Club in Saugerties on Route 9-W north of the old Knaust property—a haven that was once a special haunt of hers and others during childhood and even in later years. TEMPO prints it with pleasure in recognition of the fact that few places such as this once was (close to town but safe and secure) are left today — places where Isaac Waltons or Thoreaus of all ages could seek refuge.

Perhaps it is because the memories of childhood tend to make an object or a place more precious. Tend to surround it with a rosy aura all its own. Or perhaps it is because all of us need a special thing or a private place to cling to when we seek solace from our troubles. Then is the time to search out the quiet and the familiar.

I had such a place. A place where one could go with pockets empty and leave with a full soul. It was a place with a muddy, meandering creek . . . not too deep, not too shallow. But fine for "noddin' fishin'," and full of the sweetest little bullheads ever to sputter gently in an iron skillet.

There were hundreds of birds of every specie, including both the local residents and those passing through as southbound tourists. They careened over the water, rocked in the cradle of the tall grass, and sang their original operatic arias for the benefit of the quiet intruder.

There were industrious beavers, sometimes petulant woodchucks, and the always childlike deer to be seen and savoured in somewhat the same manner as your last licorice gum-drop.

It was a place that offered up an endless abundance of treasures. This was particularly true in the winter, when these were displayed on an altar of the purest, whitest snow. The ice in the sleeping creek in my place was always the slickest to a sharp skate runner . . . and the winter menagerie was often more bold and charming than that of the summer. It was a perfect place for a world-seeking child or a world-weary adult.

Yet why do I say I "had" such a place? (And I am sure there were many others who "had" it, too.)

The creek is still there but the grassy banks are so slickly manicured they are hardly recognizable. Some of the birds must still be doing their "loop-the-loop" over the water since birds are very nervy by necessity. The animals? Who knows? If they are there at all, I'm sure they are mostly nocturnal now. For the "specialness" is gone.

Man in his plunging pursuit of happiness has devised innumerable ways to occupy his leisure. For fear perchance that he might have time to just sit and think?

My special place has bowed its innocent and lovely head to man's slashing sceptor.

Tom Paxton:

A Name That Speaks for Itself

Readers of Tempo will remember the very candid interview with modern day troubadour Tom Paxton that appeared in these pages early last fall. More than just another talented folk singer, Paxton is a gifted songwriter who casts a wry but sympathetic eye on the contemporary scene.

Now he's returning to the Woodstock Playhouse after yet another highly acclaimed foreign tour — this time to England, Sweden and the capitols of other European countries — a trek accomplished during the past year.

Few who have seen a Paxton concert will deny that he is one of the most exciting folk singers and composers on the current horizon. Paxton is so "with - it" that any announcement of an appearance by him results in a full house show. His Carnegie Hall solo concert in Manhattan was a sell - out. His Albert Hall appearance in London was a sell - out. In fact, with the inimitable Paxton, sell - out concerts are the rule.. and Woodstock is no exception. He's always been an extremely popular performer there and an evening spent with Paxton is guaranteed to be an evening of entertainment.

Says the New York Times of Paxton: "Music is the key word for this young Oklahoma - born minstrel, for his material is flooding out with great immediacy. He exhibits wit, verve and a fine sense of the sardonic.. his drive and energy great!" And since Paxton's point toward another area where our pop and folk music is speaking viably to and for a generation."

Says Tempo: "He's name speaks for itself, you'll be the loser if you aren't on hand for his concert at the Woodstock playhouse on the evening of Tuesday, Aug. 6.

MODERN MINSTREL TOM PAXTON

The Last Do-It-Yourself Fair

They call it the Little World's Fair and this year marks its 89th outing. Durable as well as interesting, it boasts a tradition more unique and appealing than many of the similar but larger events around the area.

This year the fair (whether one prefers to call it the Grahamsville Fair or the Little World's Fair) is being held Saturday, Aug. 17 at the Grahamsville Fair Grounds. As sponsored by the Neversink Agricultural Society, it can boast of being the only do-it-yourself, independent agricultural fair left in New York State—a distinction indeed for neighboring Sullivan County.

In colorful array exhibitors will be showing home crafts, produce, livestock and pets. And if modern day concessions have been made to the popularity of pizza pie, cotton candy and soda pop, there will be much emphasis on the past.

Authentic costumes of the years before 1920 will be worn and shown by local residents at the fair—news that has sent men and women alike scurrying to their attics to guarantee that the dress parade will be an unqualified success.

Long ago fair days will be recalled in such regular events as horse pulling contests, horse shoe pitching and a talent show. And where else could one find prizes being offered to the oldest and youngest person attending, the couples longest married and newest married, and the person who has traveled the farthest to attend?

Old fashioned enthusiasm at the Grahamsville Fair also calls for admitting all children under 12 free (an 80-year-old tradition) and for refunding the entrance fee of all persons over 80. Extra emphasis on youth is apparent in the fact that the Sullivan County Youth Fair is also included in the schedule of events. The Youth Fair, while separate, is held in connection with the Grahamsville Fair; begins on Friday and is held over through Saturday. Youngsters will be participating in a horse show, a tractor operators contest, dairy cattle showmanship and judging, competing to send exhibits to the N. Y. State Fair, a county rose championship, and a 4-H clothing revue.

Adults will concentrate on winning prizes for farm animals, vegetables and fruits, canned goods, flowers, fancy goods and domestic work, and arts and hobbies.

What more could any fairgoer ask? If it is no longer possible to go to the fair by lumber wagon, buckboard or fancy rig, one may at least recall those good old days of long ago at this unique little fair.

"Whereas mankind owes to the child the best it has to give . . ." is a tenet of both the United Nations and The Committee of Responsibility to Save War-Burned and War-Injured Vietnamese Children. To benefit The Committee of Responsibility, which seeks to bring child napalm victims to the U.S. for treatment, the Huguenot Dance Workshop will give a performance at Woodstock's Little Theatre next Saturday, Aug. 10, at 8:30 p. m. The dance concert is being sponsored by Performing Arts of Woodstock and all proceeds will go toward the rehabilitation of war-injured children who cannot be adequately cared for in Vietnam. Dancers performing next weekend are (l-r) Judy Lipgar, Betty Beard and Pat Iacobson.

Landscape Show

The August exhibition at Woodstock's Gardner Gallery opens this sunday with an outdoor concert by the Mid - Hudson Madrigal Singers. Tomorrow's program begins at 4 p.m. when the madrigalists, a group of 20 skilled performers who have appeared at the Maverick Hall and the Music Festival, demonstrate the disciplined technique that has delighted other audiences.

Inside the gallery will be an exhibit entitled "Landscape Composites," featuring all phases of landscape with and without figures and animals. Some of the work in the new show will be completely abstract with stress on the structure and contour of the emphasis to the atmospheric land. Other paintings give side of landscapes. Only Woodstock artists are exhibiting in the August show of paintings, prints and drawings.

Then there's the Connoisseur Series of chamber music concerts on Monday evenings with major artists from around the world such as Robert Irving, Frank Wakefield and the Cardiff Polyphonic Choir. Wealth enough for any lover of music and the arts!

But SPAC also places emphasis on the contemporary trends and in a galaxy of special attractions the Center features many of the nations's top entertainers in diversified programs for all ages and tastes. Already come and gone: Al Hirt, Peter, Paul and Mary, folk-rockers such as The Fifth Dimension and The American Breed, Ray Charles, Dinah Shore, Victor Borge and folk singers Judy Collins and Arle Guthrie. Still to be seen: Diana Ross and the Supremes, Ravi Shanker, Simon and Garfunkel, The Bee Gees and Rowan and Martin with a touring production of "Laff-In."

There's also a nightly Film Festival with film classics both foreign and American, and educational seminars that run the gamut from choreography workshops and classical riding to Congress of Strings concerts. And still more if you're interested in museums and an American Revolution battlefield.

. . . But geeting back to Tempo's Thursday night trip to Saratoga, suffice it to say that the Philadelphia Orchestra excelled in Beethoven's "Leonore" Overture No. 3 and Symphony No. 5 by Shostakovich. But the truly gala event was the North American premiere of Alberto Ginastera's "Psalm 150," which proved why he is generally regarded today as Latin America's most advanced and outstanding creative composer.

We also responded to an exhibit of the painted fabrics of Symyoung Yook, in the art show currently on view at the Spa Summer Theater during its film festival. Miss Yook, a petite Korean, took one look at the theater lobby brilliantly swathed in the vibrant colors of her work and said: "Doesn't it look nice? Like dressed in costume!" . . . And so it did.

If you're of a mind to try Saratoga for yourself, tonight brings a Russian program of Rimsky-Korsakov and Stravinsky as conducted by Eugene Ormandy and featuring the Philadelphia orchestra. Sunday afternoon will see the Orchestra being conducted by Arthur Fielder and Richard Rodgers in a program of Rodgers and Hammerstein with selections from The King and I Carousel, South Pacific, The Sound of Music and Oklahoma.

In a change of pace, Diana Ross and the Supremes will appear Monday evening, and Ravi Shanker and his Festival from India take over for Aug. 6 and 7.

The Philadelphia Orchestra returns Aug. 8 with Charles Munch conducting a French program of Franck, Faure and Debussy. Van Cliburn is the guest pianist with the orchestra and Ormandy on Aug. 9 in a program of Mozart, Greig and Rachmanioff.

And so it goes. A lot for your money and plenty of family funfare at Saratoga. We highly recommend a visit to SPAC for those who have yet to sample and enjoy its wares.

Trio by Hitchcock

The first of two weeks dedicated to the work of famous directors will begin on Sunday, August 4, at the Spa Summer Theater Film Festival in Saratoga Springs with the showing of Alfred Hitchcock's "The Lady Vanishes." During the week three Hitchcock films will be shown.

"The Lady Vanishes," to be seen from August 4 to 6, featuring Dame May Whitty and Michael Redgrave, is an early Hitchcock masterpiece. A train thriller, its plot revolves around the abduction of an old lady from a continental train by a spy ring, and the suspense is Hitchcock at his best.

"Notorious," starring Cary Grant and Ingrid Bergman, is middle-period Hitchcock, an exciting tale of the perilous exploits of a pair of American agents in a post-war Rio de Janeiro where they discover a German underground plot. It will play at the theater on Aug. 7 and 8.

On August 9 and 10 the film is "Dial M For Murder," a more recent Hitchcock puzzler. Ray Milland and Grace Kelly star in the domestic mystery of a lovely lady who commits a murder in self defense and learns gradually how close her own would-be murderer is.

BABY OIL LEAVES HAIR SHINY

In the winter, your hair suffers from excessive dryness caused by artificial heat and from perspiration from wearing those pretty hats. This creates the dual problem of dry hair that needs more frequent shampooing. The solution to the hair problem is to shampoo and condition all in one step. Add a capful of baby oil to your regular shampoo and the fixture will condition the hair and the right amount will be obsorbed to preserve shine, softness and manageability.

Landscape Show

The August exhibition at Woodstock's Gardner Gallery opens this sunday with an outdoor concert by the Mid - Hudson Madrigal Singers. Tomorrow's program begins at 4 p.m. when the madrigalists, a group of 20 skilled performers who have appeared at the Maverick Hall and the Music Festival, demonstrate the disciplined technique that has delighted other audiences.

Inside the gallery will be an exhibit entitled "Landscape Composites," featuring all phases of landscape with and without figures and animals. Some of the work in the new show will be completely abstract with stress on the structure and contour of the emphasis to the atmospheric land. Other paintings give side of landscapes. Only Woodstock artists are exhibiting in the August show of paintings, prints and drawings.

That's right! Quality Dutch Boy House Paint actually saves you money. It covers more surface area because it has superior hiding power. It looks better, too! Its tough, brilliant finish wears slowly and evenly. Resists cracking and peeling. Keeps costly maintenance way down. So get the most for your money! Get quality! Get Dutch Boy House Paint!

Saratoga Amphitheater

Then there's the Connoisseur Series of chamber music concerts on Monday evenings with major artists from around the world such as Robert Irving, Frank Wakefield and the Cardiff Polyphonic Choir. Wealth enough for any lover of music and the arts!

But SPAC also places emphasis on the contemporary trends and in a galaxy of special attractions the Center features many of the nations's top entertainers in diversified programs for all ages and tastes. Already come and gone: Al Hirt, Peter, Paul and Mary, folk-rockers such as The Fifth Dimension and The American Breed, Ray Charles, Dinah Shore, Victor Borge and folk singers Judy Collins and Arle Guthrie. Still to be seen: Diana Ross and the Supremes, Ravi Shanker, Simon and Garfunkel, The Bee Gees and Rowan and Martin with a touring production of "Laff-In."

There's also a nightly Film Festival with film classics both foreign and American, and educational seminars that run the gamut from choreography workshops and classical riding to Congress of Strings concerts. And still more if you're interested in museums and an American Revolution battlefield. . . . But geeting back to Tempo's Thursday night trip to Saratoga, suffice it to say that the Philadelphia Orchestra excelled in Beethoven's "Leonore" Overture No. 3 and Symphony No. 5 by Shostakovich. But the truly gala event was the North American premiere of Alberto Ginastera's "Psalm 150," which proved why he is generally regarded today as Latin America's most advanced and outstanding creative composer.

We also responded to an exhibit of the painted fabrics of Symyoung Yook, in the art show currently on view at the Spa Summer Theater during its film festival. Miss Yook, a petite Korean, took one look at the theater lobby brilliantly swathed in the vibrant colors of her work and said: "Doesn't it look nice? Like dressed in costume!" . . . And so it did.

If you're of a mind to try Saratoga for yourself, tonight brings a Russian program of Rimsky-Korsakov and Stravinsky as conducted by Eugene Ormandy and featuring the Philadelphia orchestra. Sunday afternoon will see the Orchestra being conducted by Arthur Fielder and Richard Rodgers in a program of Rodgers and Hammerstein with selections from The King and I Carousel, South Pacific, The Sound of Music and Oklahoma.

In a change of pace, Diana Ross and the Supremes will appear Monday evening, and Ravi Shanker and his Festival from India take over for Aug. 6 and 7.

The Philadelphia Orchestra returns Aug. 8 with Charles Munch conducting a French program of Franck, Faure and Debussy. Van Cliburn is the guest pianist with the orchestra and Ormandy on Aug. 9 in a program of Mozart, Greig and Rachmanioff.

And so it goes. A lot for your money and plenty of family funfare at Saratoga. We highly recommend a visit to SPAC for those who have yet to sample and enjoy its wares.

Trio by Hitchcock

The first of two weeks dedicated to the work of famous directors will begin on Sunday, August 4, at the Spa Summer Theater Film Festival in Saratoga Springs with the showing of Alfred Hitchcock's "The Lady Vanishes." During the week three Hitchcock films will be shown.

"The Lady Vanishes," to be seen from August 4 to 6, featuring Dame May Whitty and Michael Redgrave, is an early Hitchcock masterpiece. A train thriller, its plot revolves around the abduction of an old lady from a continental train by a spy ring, and the suspense is Hitchcock at his best.

"Notorious," starring Cary Grant and Ingrid Bergman, is middle-period Hitchcock, an exciting tale of the perilous exploits of a pair of American agents in a post-war Rio de Janeiro where they discover a German underground plot. It will play at the theater on Aug. 7 and 8.

On August 9 and 10 the film is "Dial M For Murder," a more recent Hitchcock puzzler. Ray Milland and Grace Kelly star in the domestic mystery of a lovely lady who commits a murder in self defense and learns gradually how close her own would-be murderer is.
